The hunters now get in line. Their turn will soon be here; And every cow will wear a sign, "Don't shoot me, I'm no deer!"
—Cincinnati Enquirer.
Indeed our beef will be so high This warning will be heard. As cows go sailing through the sky, "Don't shoot me, I'm no bird!"
—New York Mail.
Food prices may go soaring high. And reach the other side of the moon. With flaring signs, "Don't shoot me, I am not a Zeppelin!"

Once again the amateur strategist writes to inquire if the disappearing batteries are the ones the enemy has captured.

The allies seem bent on turning the wings of the enemy in order to give it to them in the neck.
I'm fond of melodrama, Where the villain vily capers. But I'm quite disgusted with the one That has no missing papers.

Some women can keep a secret, even at the registration office. Ask the clerk!

Columbus discovered America Oct. 12, 1492. Doubtless there were many geographical societies for him to face!

"Seek light on liquor measure," says a headline. Yet brewers declare light hits the quality of their goods.

How to dispose of bill collectors—take them to one side, chatter confidentially and then pay them.

Japs have mounted siege guns on hills around Kiau Chow. The defenders can't look to the hills for help.

The thermometer may be dense, but after numerous complaints the mercury finally tumbled.

All Set.
First motorist—Have you a crash suit?
Second motorist—Got one coming! That farmer I bumped into back there is going to sue.

What a glorious victory would crown the armies' efforts if they could enlist the wise heads around the local bulletin boards.

Bear meat is a delicacy at a local market. Even around a newspaper office roasting a cub is a popular pastime.

The Russians have occupied Przemysl. For the love of Mike, Nicholas change its name to something we can pronounce.

Some of the so-called minute men in the battle of the Aisne have fought steadily for two weeks.
