Real Leaders in the Churches United in Condemnation of Prohibition

Prelates, Priests and Pastors Raise Their Voices in the Cause of Temperance, Not for "Reform by Law"

Read What National Thinkers Say:

"To drink is no sin. Jesus Christ drank. To keep a saloon is no sin. Any policy that claims in the name of Christ, or does not claim His name, that deals with the well-nigh universal taste of man for alcohol ON THE BASIS OF LAW AND ORDER ALONE, cannot commend itself to the best intelligence, and is doomed to fail."
REV. DR. RAINSFORD,
St. George's Episcopal Church, New York City.

"Is it right to drink wine and beer? It is right for each individual to decide that question for himself, and for the community to put such regulations on the sale of wine and beer, AND ONLY SUCH, as are necessary to prevent popular excesses and public disorder."
REV. LYMAN ABBOTT.

"The church of God has never declared the moderate use of alcohol to be a sin; this seems to be left, with other things, as open matters of Christian Liberty."
THE REV. CANON WEST, D. D.

"As for those who endeavor to enlist Scripture on their side by maintaining that the wine mentioned in Scripture was not an intoxicating liquor, they must either be themselves very ignorant and silly if they really believe it or must be fostering a pious fraud in the hope of detaining the simple . . . under false pretenses."
ARCHBISHOP WHATELY.

"All true Americans, it seems to me, ought to strive to maintain and perpetuate American principles. State-wide prohibition violates and least of all supports this principle, therefore I am opposed to state-wide prohibition and in favor of local option."
BISHOP DANIEL S. TUTTLE,
Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States.

"I am opposed to prohibition by statute. I would rather see America free, free, and then have its citizens use its freedom for moral ends."
REV. S. PARKS CASHAN,
Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Under the present law county prohibitions, the saloon, where the traffic could be regulated, was given way to the drugstore, where minors and undesirable obtain all the whisky they want. The liquor traffic should be completely open and above board, and not over the bars of secret dens."
REV. FATHER T. J. RYAN, Pontiac, Mich.

"I cannot see the benefits to be derived from compulsory abstinence."
BISHOP GRAPTON, of Wisconsin.

"Absolute prohibition has proven impracticable, if not a dismal failure."
THE RIGHT REV. THOMAS P. LILLIS,
Bishop of Leavenworth, Kansas.

"The use of alcoholic liquors is and always has been considered not only legitimate as a beverage, but it is considered and has been in the most solemn and weighty rites of the Christian Church. You cannot, by mere law, eradicate a sentiment and destroy an institution that has stood for ages and that is so deeply rooted in our social life."
REV. W. A. WASSON, New York.

"Everyone knows that there are many saloons that are perfectly orderly and law-abiding. Have I, as a minister, any more right to interfere with the business of such a place than the saloonkeeper would have to disturb the peace of my congregation while at worship?"
VERY REV. D. J. HARTLEY, Little Rock, Ark.

"I consider prohibition wrong because it is destructive."
BISHOP CHARLES D. WILLIAMS, Michigan.

"The establishment of prohibition would be impractical and would put a premium on the sale of intoxicating drinks."
CARDINAL GIBBONS.

"Prohibition drives underground the mischief which it seeks to cure."
BISHOP HALL, Vermont.

"Prohibition has been disastrous to the cause of temperance."
BISHOP CLARK, Rhode Island.

"It is a rude interference with the personal liberty for the law to tell me what I shall eat or how much I shall eat. It is just as rude an interference for it to describe what I shall or shall not drink, and how much."
REV. DR. CLAU PARISHURST, New York.

"My eyes were opened in the great evils of prohibition in a very few years. The evils produced by such a law, the selling of vile drinks by women and children, the hypocrisy and corruption produced by prohibition."
REV. DR. CLAU PARISHURST, New York.

"Many people thought state-wide prohibition to be the ideal remedy. It is regarded as such by the vast majority of voters and drinkers, and is the product of a narrow and shortsighted view."
REV. DR. CLAU PARISHURST, New York.
