Tennyson or Longfellow could take a worthless sheet of paper write a poem on it and make it worth $95,000—that's genius. There are some who can write a few words on a sheet of paper and make it worth $5,000,000—that's capital. The United States can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an "eagle bird" and make it worth $20—that's money. A mechanic can take material worth $5 and make into watch springs worth $1,000—that's skill. A merchant can take an article worth 75c and sell it for $1—that's business. A woman can purchase a 75c hat, but prefers one that costs $27—that's foolishness. A ditch digger works 10 hours a day and handles several tons of earth for $1.50—that's labor. The writer of this can make out a check for $50,000,000, but it wouldn't be worth a dime—that's rough. There are lumber and hardware men in the country who will tell you that they can serve you as well as our company—that's nerve. Everybody who is posted and wants the best, deals with our company—that's common sense.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FAIR HERE MONDAY

Preceding the Eighth Annual School Children's Industrial fair for Wasco county which will be held in The Dalles in connection with the county fair September 28 to October 1 inclusive, a local fair will be held in Mosier on Monday, September 20. It will be an all day session, and tables for the exhibits will be placed in the old bank building where the fair will be held. This is the first time that a local fair has been held here, and it is to be hoped that the exhibits will be of sufficient number to justify making it an annual event. Superintendent Clyde T. Bonney and Dr. David Robinson, who is the leader of the local industrial clubs, are urging all school children to do their part.
Many of the pupils have already been planning and thinking about their exhibits, and the enthusiasm with which they are going about it promises some keen competition. Little Miss Ora Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Evans, has canned this year 512 quarts of fruit, preserves, fish and vegetables, besides putting up 120 glasses of jelly. Last year on account of her prize winning exhibits at the county fair, she was given a trip to the state fair with all expenses paid.
N. C. Maris, state field worker, will be the judge in these contests. Other local fairs will be held next week at Antelope, Tygh Valley and DuFur.
The prizes for the local fairs are just one half as large as for the county fair.
Under the rules governing exhibits, every pupil must do the work in preparing his or her exhibit, must plant his own seed, cultivate his own plants, harvest his own crops, and make with no other help than advice, his own mechanical, art, needlework and cooking exhibits. In gardening, the ground may be plowed by someone else if desired.

O. W. R. & N. GRADING STREET AND ROADWAY

From the north end of Main street to the railroad crossing, the O. W. R. & N. company is grading and surfacing their right-of-way. The many protruding rocks were first taken out, then four ballast carloads of No. 1 clean rock screenings followed by the finer screenings were spread upon the road. These screenings were secured from the local rock crushing plant. Two carloads will be placed on the roadway in front of the depot. Gutters have been dug out on each side of the 40-foot roadway, and the walk will be repaired from the telephone office to the depot.
The surfacing will be oiled and rolled. T. W. Saul, division engineer, who was here yesterday, told Jas. Piercey, section foreman in charge of the work, that a concrete roller would be sent up for this purpose.
Sometime ago the city repaired and graded their streets and the railroad company agreed to fix up their property. Several times efforts have been made to have them begin this work, and after the meeting of the Commercial club the first of the month when the query was asked what could be done to urge the company to commence the street work, R. J. Taylor, inspector for the railroad company, wrote to the officials, estimating the cost and advising what was necessary. Action has been taken at once.
This much needed improvement marks the passing of an eyesore to the public, and will make a good accessible roadway to the depot for teams and automobiles.
ELLIOTT IS NOW MAKING SURVEY
With a crew of 14 men, J. A. Elliott, engineer for the State Highway Commission, who has been in charge of the construction of the Mitchells Point tunnel and viaduct, which were opened to traffic on Labor Day, is now stationed at Rowena making a preliminary survey of the route of the Columbia river highway between The Dalles and Mosier. As soon as the survey is completed for the Columbia river highway in Wasco county, Mr. Elliott and his men will complete the survey through Hood River county, running a line from this city to Mosier.
"Although there has been no definite or formal action on the part of the Commission," said Engineer Elliott when in this city last week, "it is generally understood that the Columbia river highway from Hood River will take an intermediate route. That is, it will neither go directly up the river, nor will it pass out through the Hood River valley, and over the range between here and the Mosier district. The road will leave the county road, as at present laid out, a little over a mile from the city on the East Side of Hood River. At this point the traveller will be given a magnificent view of the Hood River valley orchards.
"This road will gradually lead back to the top of the Columbia gorge, which it will follow pretty closely all the way to Mosier."

HOOD RIVER STOCK SHOW BEGINS TODAY

With C. C. Carpenter superintendent of the stock show, the big tent for the first exhibition of Hood River's live stock, which begins today, has been stretched on the Hartley block. The stranger in town is made to believe that a circus is here.

MITCHELLS POINT SUR-PASSES AXENSTRASSE
Globe trotters who have seen the noted Axenstrasse tunnel of the Swiss Alps and other scenic highways in different parts of the world and who have recently passed through the Mitchells Point tunnel of the Columbia river highway, have found in the new construction a new love.
"I always thought the Axenstrasse could not be surpassed," says Geo. W. Tillson, city engineer of Brooklyn, N. Y., in a letter to J. A. Elliott, who had charge of the construction of the Mitchells Point work. Mr. Tillson, accompanied by E. L. Powers, editor of a good roads publication, made a trip over the Columbia river highway last week.
"Both Mr. Powers and I, both of us having seen the Axenstrasse, want to emphatically state that the Mitchells Point work outclasses anything we have ever seen," says Mr. Tillson in his special arrangement. H. W. Mitchell, president of the Mitchell Motor Car Co., was permitted to drive the first automobile through the tunnel.
"The Mitchell people," says Engineer Elliott, "will use four or five photographs of their car, taken in the tunnel and on the viaduct, on their 1915 calendar."
"No sooner had we thrown down the barriers last Monday morning than an Overland car passed through."
Engineer Elliott thinks that at least 2,000 automobiles passed over the tortuous passage of the old State road over Mitchells Point before the new construction was completed. A record kept by Warren Miller, Hood River county road supervisor, shows a number slightly in excess of 1600.
"However," says Mr. Elliott, "we saw a large number of machines pass over the Point before the county's watchman, who was stationed at the Point to prevent accidents, reached his work. A large number passed over in the night, and were not seen."
Request Further Survey
At a meeting of the recently elected directors of the Wasco County Good Roads association on Monday night in The Dalles, a resolution was passed requesting the county court to hold the surveyors, now at work between Rowena and the Hood River county line, in service. It is then planned to have a survey made to Tygh and also from The Dalles to Miller's bridge.
