STATION'S SPRAY RECOMMENDATIONS

Spray Again

The time for making the "ten day" application is approaching, the omission of which should not be considered by any grower who is desirous of growing clean fruit. If the weather of the past few days is any criterion, ideal scab infection conditions are liable to continue for some time to come and the result will be a general infection of the developing crop.

We are getting infection from two sources at the present time; spores are being thrown off from the old leaves on the ground and also large numbers from the olive green scab spots which have developed on the leaves this season. Countless thousands of these spores are thrown from each spot and with damp, windy weather an infection cannot be avoided unless the trees are covered with spray. During the growing season development of both fruit and foliage is rapid and an application of spray is not effective, generally speaking, longer than ten days or two weeks. The timing of the calyx spray has not been uniform throughout the valley this year; this will effect the timing of the ten day spray. Its application in all cases should not be longer than 12 days following the calyx application.

The most effective fungicide that can be used at this time is lime-sulphur. Cool weather prevailing this can be used with perfect safety at the rate of 1-35. If the weather is hot a dilution of 1-40 is suggested. In orchards where atomic sulphur has been used in the calyx this can be used at the rate of 12 pounds to 100 gallons of water. In three years of experimental work carried on at the Hood River experiment station the use of lime-sulphur, though causing some loss on account of burning has given the better results, producing a greater percentage of scab free fruit.

In orchards where the calyx spray was applied very early it would be well to add arsenate of lead owing to the fact that in many cases all of the calyx cups were not exposed, and were, therefore, not killed with the poison. The poison should also be used in orchards lately infested with the codling moth last year and in orchards infested with leaf roller. Five pounds of the paste or 2 1/2 pounds of the powder should be used in 100 gallons of water.

Attend to the Woolly Aphis

A day or two now spent in orchards infested with woolly aphis will do more good than five or six days later on and with much less expense in materials to combat them. At the present time most of the insects will be found about the old scars on the larger limbs and branches; these are the ones that have over-wintered there. In a week or two they will be producing young which immediately migrate to the smaller branches and twigs and thus infest the entire tree. Control measures of two sorts are suggested; hand painting of the scars and places infested with the lice with kerosene emulsion or a Black Leaf soap spray.

If the spraying is done soon and not combined with the scab spray it will not be necessary to cover the entire tree and a great saving of material and labor will result. A driving spray should be used with at least 200 pounds pressure. The following formula is suggested: Black leaf or nicotine sulphate, one to 1000 parts of water plus two pounds of soap. The soap should be used by all means, as it will greatly increase the efficiency of the tobacco.

Kerosene emulsion is made as follows: Soap 1/2 pound, kerosene one gallon, water (hot) one gallon. After mixing the materials together agitate vigorously for several minutes or until it becomes uniformly creamy white. This mixture should be applied to the insects with a brush. If it is desired to apply in the form of a spray use at the rate of one gallon of the emulsion to 15 gallons of water.

Spray Roses for the Leaf Hopper

The most serious insect of the roses in the northwest is the rose leaf hopper. The hopper is a small, white insect which will be found feeding on the under surfaces of the leaves in large numbers. The injury is more noticeable than the insects. The leaves at first appear mottled with yellow spots and as the insects continue their feeding the leaves become uniformly yellow and finally fall. In many cases the bushes become so debilitated that they fail to bloom and often die. The trouble is often called mildew by people who are not familiar with the habits of the insect, and for this reason the wrong spray is recommended to relieve the situation as the mildew spray will have very little effect upon the insects.

Owing to the fact that the insects confine their attack to the under surfaces of the foliage spray must be directed from below in order that the desired results be obtained. The following formulae are suggested: Black leaf 1-1000 plus soap at the rate of one pound to 50 gallons of water, or one pound of soap to five gallons of water. Either of these mixtures will kill all of the insects that are hit with the spray.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Cure that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Twenty nine head of hogs owned jointly by Tom Henningsen and Fred

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McGregor left Saturday for Prineville and other eastern Oregon points where they will motor. They expect to visit with relatives and intend to be absent for several weeks, often camping out along the way.

Miss Florence Bauer, sister of Mrs. T. H. Gordon and Henry Bauer, who has been taking a training course in The Dalles hospital for nurses, came Wednesday from The Dalles for a visit at the home of her brother and sister. Miss Bauer has been graduated recently as a trained nurse.

Twenty eight young ladies and their teacher from The Dalles M. E. Sunday school passed through this city Sunday morning in automobiles on their way to Hood River where they were entertained by the young ladies of the M. E. Sunday school in that city. They returned to their homes in The Dalles that evening.

The Mosier baseball team lost Sunday to the Lyle team on the visitors' grounds. The game, which was played on wet grounds, was wierd in many respects, the final outcome resulting in a victory for Lyle by the score of 19-7. Several fans accompanied the team in automobiles to Rowena where they were ferried across the river.

J. P. Carroll, who has been making daily trips to Hood River to see his wife, who has been confined there for several weeks in the Cottage hospital, states that she is slowly recovering from the effects of her operation. It will be two weeks in all probability before Mrs. Carroll will be sufficiently convalescent to return to her home.

Next Sunday the song service at the Immanuel church will be conducted by L. A. Mathews. The topic will be, "Boys of the Bible." Readings and discussions will be made by the young members of the church. Owing to the absence of Mr. Husbands the quartet was unable to render their usual offering but will be on hand next Sunday.

Miss Ruth Littlepage and Miss Ruth Clement went to Sonny last Sunday morning on the train. They were met at the depot in Hood River by Miss Ruth Phillips and Miss Marie Bartness who accompanied them. The party of four then hiked back to Hood River. The two young ladies returned to Mosier in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Ross entertained the seventh and eighth grade classes of the city school at The Terrace, their home west of town. Their children, Blanche and Robert also assisted in making the evening an enjoyable one. The 15 boys and girls present participated in games of various kinds, which were followed by refreshments. Mr. Ross is principal of the local school.

H. M. Seearce left last Friday afternoon after a stay of several days here, on his return from a trip through Idaho and Washington, for Eugene, where he will remain for a time with his family. Mr. Seearce stated that Mrs. Seearce and children, Robert, Richard and Alice expect to remain in Eugene. The two young men this year finished their first term as freshmen at the University of Oregon.

A. D. Moe, Forrest Moe, D. McDonald, Kent Shoemaker, J. K. Carson and W. H. Davis motored over from Hood River Sunday morning to visit with their Masonic brother, Hans Kollanderud, who is laid up with a broken leg. The wooden splints have been taken off from the injured member and the leg placed in a plaster cast by Dr. Robinson. Mr. Kollanderud will be compelled to remain in bed with the cast on his leg for at least six weeks.

Last Monday night the ladies of the Royal Neighbors and the wives of the members of the Woodman camp sprung a very agreeable surprise by breaking into the meeting and serving the party with a very fine assortment of good things to eat. There were about twenty five people in the gathering and every one had all that they could eat, and it is understood that at this writing there were several who have failed to recover from the effects of a small dish of ice cream. It is to be hoped that they will be able to get out in time for the picnic which will be held on the Fourth of July, arrangements for which are now under way. Full notice will be given the public in a short time.

Twenty nine head of hogs owned jointly by Tom Henningsen and Fred

W. Wilson, of The Dalles, were driven on to the Tum-A-Lum seals Wednesday, weighed and shipped to Portland. Ed. Kurtz, buyer at the Union Stock yards purchased them here. The average weight was 140 pounds, total 4052 pounds. These hogs were raised by Mr. Henningsen on Mr. Wilson's ranch south of the city. Early this spring a shipment was bought by Mr. Kurtz from the same parties.

W. E. Chown returned Tuesday from a trip to Portland and Newberg. With Mrs. Chown and son, Roger, they left here Sunday morning in their Ford. An accident that morning near Latour-elle, was caused when a ton and a half truck rounding a sharp curve ran into the Ford tearing off a front tire and demolishing the wheel. The blame was placed by a traffic officer entirely upon the truck driver. It was necessary to wait from 10:30 in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon before a new wheel reached them from Portland. The journey was then made to Newberg, the home of Mrs. Chown's parents, which they reached early in the evening. On account of the rains of the past week, Mr. Chown deemed it advisable to leave the car in Portland at the home of his brother. Mrs. Chown and Roger will visit in Newberg and Portland until next week when he will go to Portland, as soon as the roads are in better condition, returning with them in the car.

Farwell for Mr. and Mrs. Amsden

A farwell party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Amsden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Cole, by the Parent-Teacher association Wednesday evening. About forty people were present. During the evening there were short speeches, songs by the male quartet, recitation by Thomas Lelitt, piano duet by Miss Emily Husbands and Miss Blanche Ross and by Mrs. J. P. Ross and daughter, Blanche. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Besides the host and hostess and children those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Amsden, daughter, Mary, and her mother, Mrs. Todd, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Shogren, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Strauss, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lelitt, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ross, and children, Blanche and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Husbands, and daughter, Emily, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Nichol, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Allington, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Dutterfield, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Evans and son, Darrell, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Joy, Dr. and Mrs. David Robinson, Miss Bishop, Miss Irma Phillips, Mrs. Amos Root, Mrs. V. C. Young, C. T. Bennett and J. N. Mosier.

Mr. and Mrs. Amsden, who have been teaching in the school of the city, Mr. Amsden for two years as superintendent and Mrs. Amsden the past year as teacher in the intermediate grades, expect to leave soon for Hillsboro, Oregon, where Mr. Amsden has accepted the position of superintendent of schools.
