Not Likely.

Beatrice Amelia, the maid of all work attached to the domicile of Billkins, decided to link her fate with a member of the opposite sex.

After the tying-up ceremony she approached her late mistress with all her worldly wealth and requested that it should be kept in her custody until called for.

"I'll keep it for you," said the lady in astonishment, "but won't you be needing the money to spend on your honeymoon?"

Amelia eyed her mistress with scorn as she displayed her superior knowledge of the world.

"What, mum?" she exclaimed. "Dye think I'd trust myself with a strange man and all that money on me?"—London Ideas.

Thought on Marriage.

Senator Burton said at a wedding breakfast:

"It is a cheerful sight to see a good, well-balanced marriage, such as this one. What a sad thing it is, on the other hand, to see one of those marriages where the groom has a lot of bad habits that we know, for all the bride's devotion, he will never be able to break away from.

"When I hear of a girl who is contemplating such a marriage I always feel like saying to her:

AMERICANISM DEMANDED

Charles E. Hughes' Acceptance Speech Sets Forth Campaign Issues and Asserts American Rights.

Charles E. Hughes outlined in his speech of acceptance in New York, Monday night, the issues upon which he will conduct his campaign for the presidency.

Mr. Hughes assailed the administration for the course it has pursued with reference to Mexico, maintenance of American rights during the European war, preparedness and other great questions of the day. He declared for a new policy of "firmness and consistency" toward Mexico, for "the unflinching maintenance of all American rights on land and seas," and for adequate National defense; adequate protection on both our Western and Eastern coasts.

"We denounce all plots and conspiracies in the interest of any foreign nation," said Mr. Hughes. "Utterly intolerable is the use of our soil for alien intrigues. Every American must unreservedly condemn them and support every effort for their suppression."

The nominee assailed the administration for its "direction of diplomatic intercourse" from the beginning, declaring that where there should have been conspicuous strength and expertness there had been weakness and ineptness. He cited Santo Domingo as an instance where appointments had gone to "deserving Democrats" and to the failure to continue Ambassador Herrick at his post in Paris after the war had started as "a lamentable sacrifice of international regard."

"I increase the declaration in the platform in favor of woman suffrage," Mr. Hughes declared, and he added: "Opposition may delay, but in my judgment cannot defeat, this movement. I favor the vote for women."

One-fourth of the speech was devoted to Mexico. Step after step taken by the administration with reference to Mexico was assailed, from the days of Huerta to the note sent the de facto government by the State department June 20 last, part of which was quoted in the speech. The seizure of Vera Cruz, the nominee said, was "war, of course."

"Later we retired from Vera Cruz," he continued, "giving up this noble warfare. Recently the naked truth was admitted by a Cabinet officer. We are now informed that we did not go to Vera Cruz to force Huerta to salute the flag. We are told that we went there to 'show Mexico that we were in earnest in our demand that Huerta must go.'"

"America," Mr. Hughes continued, "has no policy of aggression toward Mexico, no desire for any part of her territory, but wishes her to have peace, stability and prosperity.

"The conduct of the administration has created difficulties we shall have to surmount," he said. "We demand from Mexico the protection of the lives and property of our citizens and the security of our border from depredateurs."

Safeguarding American rights abroad had not been accomplished by the administration, he said. There had been "brave words in a series of notes," but "what does it avail to use some of the strongest words known to diplomacy if ambassadors can receive the impression that the words are not to be taken seriously."

The nominee reiterated his declaration that had this government left no doubt that it meant to hold Germany "to strict accountability," there would have been no loss of life on the Lusitania.

Discussing preparedness, Mr. Hughes said it was apparent that the United States was "shockingly unprepared."

"The administration has failed to discharge its responsibilities," Mr. Hughes continued. "Apparently it is now seeking to meet political exigencies by its naval program. But it has imposed upon the country an incompetent naval administration.

"We demand adequate protection on both our Western and Eastern coasts. We demand thoroughness and efficiency in both arms of the service. It seems to be plain that our regular army is too small. We are too great a country to require of our citizens who are engaged in peaceful vocations the sort of military service to which they are now called."

Of the present prosperity, Mr. Hughes said:

"We are living in a fool's paradise. 'It is' he said, "a prosperity brought about by the abnormal conditions of war. For the protection of the industries and workmen of the United States against the competition of 'an energized Europe.'"

Mr. Hughes said it was plain that we must have protection, up-building policies. Other measures, too, should be applied, he said, notably the up-building of a merchant marine.

To make peace lasting and effective when the present war shall end, Mr. Hughes advocated the formation of an international tribunal to dispose of controversies of a justiciable sort, backed by the co-operation of the nations to prevent war before peaceful methods of adjustment end.

Mr. Hughes also declared for "conservation of the just interests of labor," for conservation of natural resources and for a national budget.

"Our opponents promised economy, but they have shown a reckless extravagance. It is time we had fiscal reform."

Mr. Hughes closed with an endorsement of the Republican platform adopted by the national convention and a formal acceptance of the nomination.

Senator Harding, in his notification speech said:

"Mr. Hughes: The committee here assembled, representing all of the United States and territories, chosen by the Republican National convention, which met in Chicago on last June 7, is directed by that convention formally to notify you of its action in selecting you as its nominee for the Presidency of the Republic."

"Speaking for the committee, it is my pleasure to say directly what was conveyed to you by telegraph, while the convention was yet in session—that you are unanimous choice of the Republican National convention, for the party standard-bearer.

"That convention uttered the principles of a confident, determined reunited and enthusiastic Republican party, which turns to you, in highest respect and trust, as a nominee best typifying the party's purposes and the people's desires.

"Inasmuch as the unusual circumstance inspired an informal notice at the time of the convention's action and you then made an informal acceptance of the call to patriotic duty, which won the plaudits of our people, I shall not refer in detail to the actions of the convention or the declared principles to which the Republican party is committed. But it is fitting that I should speak the congratulations of this committee on your most extraordinary nomination.

"It has no parallel in the history of the Republican party. As the whole people have approvingly witnessed, you have been chosen for leadership by a convention which comprised the best thought, the highest intention and deepest consecration of a great and historic party, when you were not only an aspirant, but discouraged all endeavors in your behalf.

"Notwithstanding your holding aloof from all conferences and participation, that unflinching understanding which directs popular sentiment to highest victory called you to the service of the party and the nation. Your record of public service, your well known and courageous views on public questions when in executive position, your abiding devotion to Republicanism, your possession of a confidence which has united all believers in Republican policies under our party banner, your unalterable and abiding Americanism, your high personal character and well-known capacity—all these have fixed you in the American mind as the best exponent of Republicanism, and the wisest leader to restore American prestige and efficient government.

"We bring you now the commission to that leadership. We bring it in full confidence that the people will gladly acclaim the Republican restoration under your trusted leadership. We bring it in the highest appreciation of that peace of right and justice which your unwavering Americanism will hold secure rather than endanger. We bring it in the strong belief that American material good fortune, under Republican industrial preparedness, will be the glad reflex of our own peace and the world's peace and be held permanent under Republican protection. We bring it in firm conviction that you, sir, will hold that platform promises constitute a sacred party covenant and the expressed will of the people at the polls must find response in capable and efficient administration.

"Aye, sir, we bring it believing you will add to our self-respect, confidence and good fortune at home, and to that respect and good opinion abroad which meets our higher American aspirations."

Indianapolis—James Whitcomb Riley left no will disposing of his property of an estimated value of $200,000, according to Henry Eitel, his brother-in-law, and W. C. Bobbs, a close business associate. The heirs are a sister, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Payne, of Kentucky, a nephew and a niece, Edmund H. and Elizabeth Whitcomb Eitel, of Indianapolis. Mr. Riley gave the city of Indianapolis two years ago real estate valued at $100,000, which now forms a part of the site for the new public library building.

Texas Wets Still Behind.

Dallas, Tex.—Fate of the proposal to submit to a constitutional amendment for state-wide prohibition to Texas voters from last Saturday's Democratic primaries still was in doubt Thursday night. Latest returns gave for submission 155,555, and against 153,351, a lead for submission of 2204. Counties yet to be heard from may change these figures. It is probable the exact count will not be known until Saturday, when county executive committees meet and canvass the returns.

184 Dead in Forest Fires.

Toronto, Ont.—With one town wiped out, another almost in ruins and a score of small settlements obliterated, Premier Hearst announced Tuesday night that 184 persons lost their lives in the forest fires in Northern Ontario. Only a heavy rainfall early Tuesday saved a great part of the province from destruction. Hundreds are homeless and the Dominion government has taken extraordinary measures to provide for refugees. Where the town of Matheson once stood there are only smoldering ruins and ashes.

"Letters Home" Probed.

El Paso—Correspondents attached to the various militia units in this district were made uneasy Tuesday by the news that copies of their articles to home papers dealing with the treatment of the men have been submitted to the various commanding officers for investigation. It is learned that at the orders of the War department, these officers have been instructed to get at the truth of the charges of mismanagement, incompetence and neglect made in these articles. If it is proved in any case the blame will be fixed.

Rate on Crabs Delayed.

Salem—Wells, Fargo & Co. has agreed that, pending a hearing by the Public Service commission set for July 31 at Portland, it would transport crabs from Newport, Or., to Portland, charging on the basis of 22 pounds a dozen, instead of by actual weight, as heretofore. This charge in on the same basis as the rate on crabs from Puget Sound points to Portland.

George Flanchich, of Portland, complained to the commission that the Wells-Fargo rate on crabs discriminated in favor of Puget Sound dealers.

Chehalis Seeks Commission House.

Chehalis—A. F. Scherer, Chehalis grocerman, was toastmaster at the club luncheon Wednesday, and the subject of handling the local green produce, fruits, vegetables, potatoes, etc., was discussed, Mr. Scherer suggesting that it would be a very profitable thing for some large commission house to place a branch house in Chehalis. Owing to the situation of Chehalis and its proximity to the markets of Willapa harbor, Gray's harbor, etc., it was thought that a house like this would be of great advantage.

Gone for Good.

The man who globe-trots for a living met an old pal from his native village.

"How do they all go at home?" he inquired.

"What's happened to Bill Smith and Joe Perkins? I suppose they've joined up?"

"Yes, they be gone," said his companion sadly.

"Well, and how's old Mrs. Brown? I'd like to see her again," remarked the traveler.

His friend started to sob.

"You'll never see poor Mrs. Brown again!" he wailed.

"Come, come! I suppose you mean she's dead. But remember, you all meet after death."

"Yes, said the friend; "but you'll never see her again. Mrs. Brown's gone to heaven."

And the air grew decidedly chilly.—London Ideas.

Early High Prices Paid for Prunes Not Repeated Now

Portland—The prune crop outlook in the Northwest is entirely satisfactory and a record crop now seems assured. One of the leading packers estimates the yield at 40,000,000 pounds. The largest crop heretofore was about 30,000,000 pounds, produced eight or nine years ago. Since that time many new orchards have come in. Because of the increase in acreage, even if the crop were on a parity with last year's, the above estimate, it is believed, would be realized.

The market at the present time is weak and the future for values is not so bright. There was considerable early contracting, packers paying the growers 6 1/2 to 7 cents for 30-35s, with a quarter-cent drop for each count of 5s. These were the highest prices paid for many years, and between 25 and 30 per cent of the crop was signed up, but the quotations are not obtainable now. In fact the leading packers are out of the market as buyers for the reason that they are unable to get orders from the East. Jobbers in the Eastern states bought only limited quantities, owing to the high prices, and they declare they have enough prunes engaged for the present, and are satisfied there are more prunes to be had later on the Coast than are required for United States consumption. Furthermore, they assert there will be no export business done in the article this year.

The high prices prevailing early in the season were ascribed to the uncertainty as to the Northwestern tonnage, and the fact that the California market was then ruling high. This enabled Northwestern packers to do a fair amount of business at a very good figure.

Dehyphenizing.

"I just think it should be stopped by law," said the good wife, looking up from her paper.

"What should be stopped by law, my angel?" asked the kind husband.

"This practice of people hyphenating their nationalities. There should be no German-Americans or French-Americans or Italian-Americans. They should all be just plain Americans."

"But if such a law were passed, my angel," meekly suggested the kind husband, "would that affect your practice of signing your name 'Mrs. Elizabeth Hicks Mugley'?"

But her only reply was a hyphenated sniff.—Judge.

One Salesman and Another

Mrs. Autoun wanted new shoes, so she went into a shop, where an obliging assistant brought out a selection for her to try on.

"That's strange, madam," said he, after many vain attempts to fit her. "One of your feet is larger than the other."

Irritating with rage the lady left that shop and sought another. Here, again, the assistant failed to find a pair that would fit.

"How curious, madam," he said, "one of your feet is smaller than the other."

And with a beaming smile Mrs. Autoun bought two pairs.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Defend Himself.

The charge was assault and battery.

"Have you any one to defend you?" asked the judge.

"Defend me!" exclaimed the prisoner indignantly. "I don't want anybody. I'll defend myself. Come on, any half dozen of you."

HOT WATER AND "ANURIC" BEFORE MEALS—AND HEALTH

All people in America and especially those who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and in consequence deposit lime-salts in their arteries, veins and joints. They often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. Such people are not always able to exercise sufficiently in the outdoor air or drink enough pure water in order to sweat freely and excrete impurities thru the skin. Dr. Pierce has conducted experiments and thoroughly tested a uric acid solvent in his Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute which he is convinced is many times more potent than lithia—this he named "Anuric." It can be had at almost all drug stores by simply asking for Dr. Pierce's Anuric for kidney or backache. It will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant need of getting out of bed at night.

Our grandmothers have told our mothers and our mothers have in turn instructed us that in case of sickness, resort to Dr. Pierce's dependable household prescriptions. These medicines as put up for sale by druggists have never been recommended as "cure-alls," but only as superior remedies for certain common and easily-recognized diseases. Had these medicines been adapted to all classes and forms of chronic diseases there would have been no necessity for organizing a competent staff of expert physicians and surgeons, to act in the treatment of difficult, obscure and complicated cases of chronic diseases. As Dr. Pierce maintains in his Invalid's Hotel and Surgical Institute. Of his home remedies the most widely known are his "Favorite Prescription" for womanly troubles and run-down conditions peculiar to the womanly sex; his "Golden Medical Discovery," the greatest of all herbal system tonics
