With the exception of Mrs. Kemp, the party, after a short visit here with relatives, J. T. Davenport and Mrs. J. S. Cherry and families, returned to the Dalles last evening, returning Saturday. The party returned to their homes in Odell and Portland Saturday afternoon. So successful has been the passenger business of the Mount Hood Railroad (M. H. R.) since the start of the summer, that the schedule for the rail motor car will be continued throughout the winter unless heavy snows block the line. The rail auto has been temporarily taken off its daily runs while it is being fitted with curtains and a heater apparatus supplied from the exhaust of the motor. "We will continue service throughout the year," says Superintendent Wilson, and we may put on a second rail auto next summer. The machine, which has a capacity of 30 passengers, has been crowded on most of its trips the past season. My Trip to the Fair We started from Mosier Monday morning, October 4, 1916, arriving in Portland about 1:30. When we got off of the train we went to the Meier & Frank store and ascended to the top of the building where we could see over the whole city of Portland, which was a most beautiful sight. We then went to the St. Nicholas cafeteria and had our dinner, going from there to the train. Leaving Portland at 2 o'clock, we arrived in the fair grounds two hours later where we were given our fair tickets by Miss Cowgill who met us at the train. The next morning we girls from Mosier, Ruth Higley, Lyle Cole, Ora Evans, Leona Nelson and myself gave a canning demonstration from 10 until 12 o'clock. Ora and myself were allowed to remain all week. We were permitted to go through the pavilions at will. We attended the concerts, the horse show and the races. Before returning to the fair grounds we girls took a motor car to the St. Nicholas cafeteria and had our dinner, going from there to the train.
