OREGONIAN IS SLAPPED ON WRIST

Residents of Grand Valley, Colorado, Object to Weather Report.

GRAND JUNCTION, Col., Nov. 3.—The present week is the climax of the western slope apple movement and the shipments are exceeding all previous records. It is likely that the total for the week from all western slope points will be 1000 cars. In this connection it must be remembered that this entire fruit district is practically minus all storage facilities and the fruit must be moved as rapidly as picked and regardless of sales or eastern demand the shipments correspond pretty closely to the volume of picking as closely as shipping facilities will permit.

This week, citing the Grand valley as an example of the whole territory within a radius of ten miles of Grand Junction, 10,000 men, women and children are at work in the orchards harvesting the crop. Many of the outlying schools have been closed for a period of two weeks. The government Indian school is closed this week and pupils and teachers have flocked into the orchards to help. All those who wish to who are in the local schools are excused to pick fruit and it is probable that a thousand school children are now thus occupied. The demand for pickers is still greater than the supply as it is necessary at this time to strip the trees of their fruit as rapidly as possible while it is just prime for its long journey in refrigerator cars. The output from nearly every orchard is exceeding the estimate and this also upset calculations of the amount of help required.

In the matter of cars Grand Junction is far... pretty well in comparison to what might have been. There is still a scarcity of refrigerator cars, but as long as the weather continue mild ordinary box cars are being pressed into service to carry the fruit to the storage houses in Kansas. Last week was unusually mild, but this week has been colder with gentle warnings that real heavy frosts will soon be at hand. In passing it is noteworthy that last Saturday a prominent grower picked about 50 crates of peaches from some trees in his orchard which were in prime condition. An affidavit of this fact has been prepared and forwarded to the Portland Oregonian, which a week ago published a dispatch that there was three feet of snow in the Grand valley, thereby causing a wave of indignation here at what was termed an unwarranted "knock."

Delta is still complaining of a car shortage and angrily demanding more cars. Delta, Montrose, Paonia and all of the North fork country are at a disadvantage from a shipping viewpoint because they are located on what is really a branch line and in non-competitive territory. In defense of the railroads it is urged that with the insufficient rolling stock at their command they are doing the best they can to cope with the situation. Last week's shipments from the valley were above 200 cars and the total shipments to date for the season are past the 2000 car mark. Prices remain about the same.
