GILLETTE DENIES REPORT OF FRAUD

Says Neither He Nor Mrs. Gillette Have Had Anything to Do With Coal Land Deals.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 22.—Governor Gillette, today denied he and Mrs. Gillette were connected with the "manipulation of coal lands," an implied charge made in advance sheets of a McClure magazine article on the Cunningham claims in Alaska. The article purports to give the history of the transactions preceding the delivery of the lands into the hands of the present claimants, among whom are California's chief executive and his wife.

"The interests of myself and Mrs. Gillette in the coal lands in Alaska are purely personal ones," declared Governor Gillette. "I have 160 acres and Mrs. Gillette 120 acres near Kallala on Carlin mountains, about ten miles from Cunningham's land. We purchased these pieces a year or so ago from the original owner. Others who have claims near there are Oxnard, Alisky, Congressman McLachlan and Congressman McKimley and we have been grouping together, as the law permits, a total of 2500 acres.

"As far as any attempted legislation in congress on the part of Cunningham is concerned, I certainly have taken no action. In the first place I am not familiar with any legislation sought by Cunningham and, secondly, have not been to congress and taken no interest in anything he may have been doing there, either personally or through an agent."

Four hundred and eighteen acres first-class ranch, four miles from railroad station, 40 acres alfalfa, irrigation for 100 acres, first-class orchard, 3 good barns, 2 good houses, school, daily mail. A snip for $50 per acre; one-fourth cash, 3 to 5 years for balance. See J. W. Dressler Agency, West Main. 238*

HOW HOOD RIVER IS ASSESSED

Seven and Eight-Year-Old Orchards Valued at $700 and Younger Orchards for Some Less.

In Hood River the assessor of that county valued the seven and eight year old orchards at $700 per acre for first-class and $600 per acre for second-class. Just how these classes are determined is left to the discretion of the assessor. Six and seven-year orchards are assessed at $600 and $500; four and five at $400 and $300; one and two at $150.

The board thought this basis was possibly too high. The assessor from Curry county in speaking before the convention said that "Jackson county is favored by the warm breezes of prosperity, and the hot air of promotion, which we in Curry must be content with the natural wind from the Pacific, blowing upon a county still in its infancy in development, but containing great possibilities. Some day and soon we will get some of those balmy breezes and then watch Curry grow."

Curry is one of the counties which will form a part of the state of Siskiyou, and when the state is organized Curry county will find the cold ocean breezes which she now gets from "hot air" of prosperity tempered by the flow over the mountains from the hustling state of Siskiyou.

Assessor W. T. Grieve is feeling pretty good over the record that Jackson county's assessment made at the meeting of the state board of tax examiners, held at Salem last week, inasmuch as Jackson county stood among the leaders in the matter of cash valuation—that is, this county was assessed more nearly on real values than a majority of the others.

The state tax commission is comprised of the governor and secretary of state Benson, State Treasurer Steel, Charles Galloway and J. B. Eaton. Mr. Galloway is chairman, and under the law which will go into effect in March, 1910, the state tax commission will have full control over the valuation of the property of corporations doing business in two or more counties in the state with a view to making assessments more equitable. This law will save the county boards of equalization and the county assessors much time and work, as they will not be required to personally assess these corporations.
