NEW SCHOOL FOR THE EAST SIDE

Directors Failed to Secure Tract First Bargained for, But Get Another Almost as Good—Attendance Growing Fast.

The board of school directors took time by the forelock when they purchased a block in the Queen Anne addition for school purposes, as they secured the property at a much lower price than it would have cost a few months later.

The board had another site under consideration, but they were "beaten to it" by somebody with a speculative turn of mind, and as a consequence negotiations were called off and the present site purchased.

The land lies high upon the hillside and is as slightly a location as could possibly be secured. The size of the tract—12 full lots—gives ample room for the necessary buildings and recreation grounds. The building, when constructed, will overlook the city and will be visible from nearly every portion thereof.

In commencing negotiations for a site for a school building the board at first thought to buy and hold the property until the school was needed on the east side of Bear creek, but that section of the city has grown so fast that the building will probably be constructed next year.

About the time this building is under way the residents of the northwestern portion of the city will begin to call for a school and they should have it as soon as conditions warrant it.

Even now, with all the improvements made in school facilities during the past two years, every school and every department is overcrowded. It will keep the district busy to keep pace with the increase in population.
