CHRISTMAS THE WORLD OVER.

not this year. The usual committee were formed on the various exchanges to solicit funds for distribution to the employers on Christmas, and the brokers responded with their customary generosity.

Christmas in the South. NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 25.—Although it lacks the rigorous climate usually associated with Christmas, the Southland was none the less enthusiastic in its observance of the day, and the celebration was fully up to the joyous standard set by past holidays in Dixie. The Christmas trade in this city has been very satisfactory and will far surpass in volume that of last year.

Greeks Celebrate. ATHENS, Dec. 25.—Festivities on a large scale marked the celebration yesterday of the 64th anniversary of the birth of King George I, and the celebration extended over today.

Dinner for 250,000. NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—According to officials of the Salvation Army, no less than a quarter million people partook today of the bounty of the Salvation Army at Christmas dinners held today in every large city and town in the country.

In New York today's dinner was more liberal than ever before, and no hungry man, woman or child was refused a square meal. The collections this year were very large.

London Deserted. LONDON, Dec. 25.—Britain's metropolis presents the appearance usual on Christmas. King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales and the members of the court having gone to the country. Emulating the royal example, the aristocratic families, as well as the week-end "trippers" and all sorts and conditions of people, left for country homes, where Christmas was celebrated in the old-fashioned English style.

In all great homes in England the yule log is burning. From Sandringham to the humblest residence, relatives are scattered throughout the rest of the year, gathered to spend the English Dinner. It is estimated that a million and a half persons poured out of London yesterday. To those who witnessed the tremendous rushes at every station the wonder was that any persons could be left to people London.

But the exodus left no appreciable mark in the streets, which are thronged with other millions of Christmas sightseers.

Host of the cabinet officers and diplomats left London. King Edward and Queen Alexandra, with the immediate royal family, gathered at Sandringham palace, where Christmas was celebrated in the usual manner. Their majesties closely observed all of the Christmas customs.

There was a Christmas tree for the royal children, around which three generations met, as privately as royalty ever meets, to enjoy a typical home Christmas. At the same time none of the dependants were forgotten. The king and the queen distributed their largest among the tenantry of Sandringham and throughout the United Kingdom where there are most deserving charities.

Good Times on Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 25.—If any vestige of a financial stringency was left over for this, it is not in evidence in this part of the country. A tremendous volume of Christmas business has been transacted in all the coast cities, and today finds San Francisco making the enthusiastic celebration of Christmas since the big fire.

Big Trade in St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 25.—St. Louis retail and wholesale merchants report that their Christmas trade was exceptionally good and the total may break all previous records. Throughout the southwest, of which St. Louis is the jobbing center, prosperity is prevalent to an unprecedented degree.

Boston Prosperous.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 25.—Last night marked the end of the most successful four-day business period in Boston's history. Citizens of the Hub have been spending Christmas money more freely than ever, resulting in a season of unexampled prosperity for the merchants.

Chicago is Gay.

CHICAGO, Dec. 25.—The Christmas spirit is fairly sizzling in the Windy City. At the close of business last night the stores and shops had more money in their tills than they have known for many a day. More than 60,000 Christmas trees were sold and were loaded with a greater burden of gifts than have been purchased by Chicagoans in recent years. The Salvation Army fed hundreds of poor people. Banks, corporations and brokerage houses made an exceptionally lavish distribution of money among their employees.

Christmas in Rome.

ROME, Dec. 25.—Pope Pius kept a quiet Christmas. The usual religious ceremonies were held, after which his holiness received the felicitations of the cardinals and other dignitaries of the church. Hundreds of handsome and costly gifts from all over the world were received at the vatican today, but the pope found greater pleasure in the inexpensive presents of the poor.

At the Quirinal palace the king held a lavish celebration of the annual holiday. A Christmas tree party will be held tonight for the children of everyone connected with the court and the royal household. The ladies and gentlemen of the court today received handsome presents from the king and queen.

Kaiser, Broke, is Liberal.

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—With his annual income of $10,000,000 so exhausted by extravagance that he is on the verge of bankruptcy, Emperor William did not allow his poverty to interfere with his annual Christmas distributions. Mounted on a big horse, the kaiser yesterday dashed through the grand park at Sans Souci, distributing freshly minted ten and twenty mark pieces among all the poor people he met.

Although his magnificent scale of living has led the emperor to dispose of lands, castles and the Dusseldorf royal palace, and even caused the crown princess to sell some of her most valuable diamonds, the German imperial family celebrated Christmas with all the fervor of former years.

Thousands upon thousands of dollars were spent by the gaiser in preparing for Christmas, and all the royal families of Europe received costly presents with his compliments. The distribution to members of his own family will place in the evening, when the emperor and empress and their children will gather about the 14 tapers in Potsdam palace. All the servants were remembered, as were the soldiers of William's palace guard.

Gay Paris Celebrates.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—With all the characteristic gaiety which accompanies a Parisian holiday, Christmas was celebrated today. Great throngs gathered in the streets and boulevards, which were lined with booths last night. All stores were crowded yesterday and the merchants of Paris enjoyed the greatest trade they have known in years. Special performances were held last night at all the prominent theaters and opera houses, and the restaurants and cafes remained open all night.

At the Madeleine and other churches midnight masses were celebrated. President Fallieres gave out gifts to all the functionaries at the presidential mansion.

An unusual number of Americans are here for the holidays, and steamship agents say the Christmas travel from both North and South America has been the heaviest in history.

Orchardists Take Subscription and Give Pathologist Gold Watch as Token of Esteem.

One of the incidents of the horticultural meeting last week was the circulation of a subscription paper to purchase Prof. O'Gara a watch as a Christmas present and also as a token of the appreciation the people of Southern Oregon have of his work.

The watch appropriately engraved was presented to Prof. O'Gara Christmas evening.

The society showed its appreciation of Mrs. O'Gara's work by presenting her with a new Oliver typewriter.

How One Doctor Successfully Treats Pneumonia.

"In treating pneumonia," says Dr. W. J. Smith of Sanders, Ala., "the only remedy I use for the lungs is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. While, of course, I would treat other symptoms with different medicines, I have used this remedy many times in my medical practice and have yet failed to find a case where it has not controlled the trouble. I have used it myself, as has also my wife, for coughs and colds repeatedly, and I most willingly and cheerfully recommend it as superior to any other cough remedy to my knowledge." LABORING MEN ARE BUNCOED

Klamath Falls People Are Aroused Over Continued Shipment of Men to Work on Road.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Dec. 25.—The people of this city are thoroughly aroused over the charges being daily made by laborers sent to Erickson & Petersen's railroad construction camps by C. R. Hansen & Co., of Portland, and Murray & Ready of San Francisco and Sacramento.

Bodies of men arrive every day and bodies of men are discharged. They pay $2 apiece for the promise of work. They arrive here after dark, the train is due at Klamath Falls at 5:35 p. m., and the nearest railroad camp is five miles from the city. Their bedding, if they have any, has not accompanied them, but is detained at Weed for a day, so on the night of their arrival they have to find a place to sleep. The kind-hearted people have helped many, others have sought a night's lodging in the jail.

From others they hear of the practices of the contractors, but, having no resources, are forced to walk out to the camp, and usually are obliged to tramp from one camp to another seeking work, the last camp being fifteen miles from the first. If employed, they are allowed to worry one or two days, when another body of men arrives and they are discharged to give the contractors a chance to employ the newcomers. They get their time, and after being charged for board and hospital fees, find as a rule that they have 25 cents coming, for which they receive a time check.

They have paid $2 cash, traveled hundreds of miles, worked two days, and receive therefore the meager sum of 25 cents. There is no other work for them, this is the coldest winter known here for years, and they are turned adrift in a strange, undeveloped country, without money, friends, bedding or hope. It speaks well for these victims of human rapacity that, so far, not one of them has committed any depredation in Klamath Falls.

Many are positively refused work, although their receipts from the employment agencies guarantee them employment or return transportation in case they are not needed. So far no case has transpired in which one of these buncoed men has been given return transportation. The grand jury, which has not yet been discharged, will take up the matter and endeavor to probe to the bottom of it.
