PROSPECT ITEMS.

Seeing that no one has taken the trouble of informing the world as to our beautiful town for some time, we will endeavor to let the fact be known that there are yet a few residents here who are very much alive.

The Medford Mail Tribune is a very welcome visitor in our town for it is a wide awake newspaper, fearless and fair.

Sylvester Hill and wife have just returned from Medford, whither they went for the benefit of the latter's health.

We are informed that an elopement took place in our midst recently. The young men are complaining because they haven't been wearing spectacles, too, that they may have deceived their competitors also.

John Bania has the distinction of being a very successful teamster. He having hauled one ton of freight from Central Point to Prospect, over the present bad roads. However, his team is better than the average team.

Messrs. Larson and Kider have been making some very material improvements on the big Ray ditch which was quite severely damaged by the recent freshet.

One of our local citizens recently received a letter from our old friend, Mr. Donald Pardoo, who left here a few months ago, and is now enjoying the best of health in the soldiers' home in California.

It is rumored that a second-hand store is to begin in our midst, or elsewhere soon, under the firm name of Aiken and Henry. Success to you, gentlemen.

Mr. W. E. Mooney, of Wyoming, who purchased the Red Blanket farm near here, is making some very noticeable improvements on his property in the way of grubbing out some of the timbered portions of the farm. Mr. S. S. Aiken, our mayor, postmaster, notary public, etc., is the busiest man in town. Mr. Aiken is the youngest man of his age we chance to know.

Quite a number of our local sports attended the dance given at Peyton recently. They express themselves as having had an excellent time.

J. L. Grieve, more familiarly known as "Alfonzo," is spending a few days in the valley for the purpose of attending to business matters and to consult a physician regarding his physical condition.

Geo. Daniel whose movements are being closely watched nowadays on account of his famous arguments against married life, has been cutting and hauling some very choice board, or shake timber to the sawmill, that he may be ready for business, should the weather become cloudy or in any manner inclement. Some people talk reverse of their thoughts.

Herbert Henry, who is a Californian by birth, finds Prospect quite reverse from his native state, especially does he think so regarding the winter season.

Trapping seems to be quite a paying industry here during the winter season of the year. The woods seem to be alive with deer, bear, foxes, wildcats, wolves and cougars.

We have had considerable snow during the past six weeks, and on account of the shaded portions the snow remains longer than we wish.

We are all sitting on snow balls up here, looking westward across our left shoulders for the proposed railroad. May we not look in vain.

Mrs. Martha Hollenbeck and daughter, Miss Pearl, spent the holidays with friends and relatives at Gold Hill, Central Point and Medford. The former received medical aid while at Gold Hill, and returned much improved in health we are pleased to note.

Prof. Geo. A. Crane, of Roseburg, who began a term of school in this district last fall, closed a very successful term on the 31st ult. but owing to the universal satisfaction of his services he was immediately re-employed with an increased salary, and so the school moves smoothly along without a vacation. Prospect can boast of having one of the finest district school houses in Jackson county. Congressman Hawley sent the district a fine map of the United States, together with his compliments. Come and investigate our condition. OUTLAW

PINE NURSERY IN THE SHASTA NATIONAL FOREST

SISSON, Cal., Jan. 8.—The forest service has planned to establish a coniferous work on the Shasta national Forest, the capacity of which is designed to be 500,000 transplants per year. The stock produced here is to be used in experimental planting on the timber forests of the north.

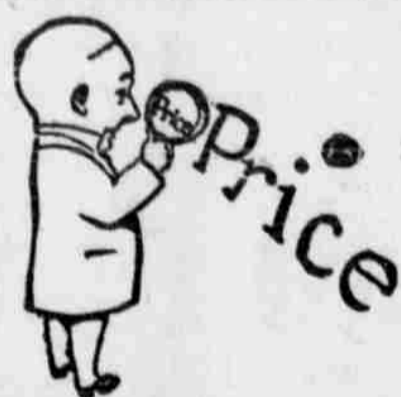

Approximately 5,000 pounds of sugar pine and yellow pine seed have been collected the past season for conducting sowing experiments. The great problem on the timber forests lies in the replacement of chaparral, which has taken possession of immense areas of potential timber land following fire.

In connection with the experiment at work on the Shasta National Forest, experiments will be made with many of the broad-leaved species of the east for the purpose of ascertaining whether some of them can be successfully grown on certain favorable situations.
