

"MARY JANE'S PA" SATURDAY

HELEN LACKAYE, WITH MAX FIGMAN IN "MARY JANE'S PA," COMING TO THE MEDFORD THEATER, SATURDAY, JAN. 15.

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

E. A. C. Howlett

Mr. Austin of Dudley, who had been in Medford looking after his interests there, came out last Sunday on the P. & E. train, stopped at the Sunnyside over night and left here on Monday. He was talking of looking at some land above here on the creek, and one would infer that he would like to purchase a tract of good orchard land. He has a place near Dudley on what was formerly called the unsurveyed, and has quite a nice orchard planted there. He is one of our progressive men and is firm in the opinion that Southern Oregon is the proper place to live.

One of the Whitley boys, who has been in California for some time, running a donkey engine, dropped in on us Sunday evening, remaining over night. He was on his way to their ranch near Prospect.

The many friends of John Ashpole are glad to see him on our streets again. He has been confined to his room for some time with a kidney trouble.

During the recent storm Little Butte creek got rampant and tore about 20 feet of the dam, that turns the water into the Snowy Butte mill-race, and S. B. Holmes has had the breach repaired. The Smith boys did the work.

Edwin C. Dohl of Minnesota, formerly an assistant in one of the banks, whose health has failed, has come to the Sunnyside to remain during the winter to recuperate. He thinks that this is a grand country.

J. Hartman, the bridge contractor, stopped for dinner last Monday.

Jud Edsall, the general hustler between the railroad camps near Butte Falls and Eagle Point, Medford, etc., came out Monday, and leaving his team here, went on to Medford the same day, returning Tuesday and went on up home the same night. While Mr. Hartman was here he was looking after some of the bridge work on the right of way on the P. & E. route.

Jerry Bishop and another gentleman came out from Medford last Monday, procured horses here and went on up into the tall timber.

About two weeks ago Ed Walker, who has charge of the Iowa Lumber company's interest on Big Butte, and his family came out to spend the holidays with Mr. Walker's mother, Mrs. Loan, of Medford, last Monday and returned to their home Tuesday.

The King Brothers, George and Charles, came out from the Big Butte country last Monday, took dinner at the Sunnyside, taking the train for Medford the same evening. Deputy Sheriff William Ulrich went to Big Butte creek last Saturday and arrested a man by the name of Wilks and brought him through town Sunday morning on their way to Jacksonville, charged with threatening the life of Z. Meeker, and Sunday night Z. Meeker, the prosecuting witness, and two of the Colby boys, John and Ray, stayed here on their way to Jacksonville to appear as witnesses in the case, returning Monday night on their way home, as there was a flaw in the indictment and the man was turned loose.

The last time I wrote I expressed the opinion that the steam shovel that parties have been trying to move to the right of way on the P. & E. would be at its destination by the time that the letter was in print, but in that I was mistaken, as they have had an amount of trouble since and have progressed slowly. They only had eight steel rails when they started, and about the time they got opposite F. J. Ayres' residence, where they had to climb a steep hill, they broke two of the rails, that leaving them only six, and as they have to have two of them under the machine all the time, leaving only four to use, it necessitates going very slowly, and having a very steep hill to climb, it takes longer than I expected.

Last Tuesday I had the pleasure of visiting our school, in the principal's room, at least Professor Daley has proved to be the right man in the right place. He had at the time I visited the school 43 children in his room and 34 in his wife's room, for Mrs. Daley is our primary teacher, and Mr. Daley informed me that if he had room to take them in there would be six more come from outside of the district. But the school—well, you have seen ants or bees at work; well, the children all seemed to vie with each other to see who could do the best, and the recitations were fully up to the standard. I promised Mrs. Daley that I would visit her department next time, and I anticipate a good time there. We are planning to add another teacher next year, if not two of them.

A company of surveyors are here at this time surveying off the land bought of William Hart Hamilton of William Ulrich, and cutting it up into small tracts. Mr. Hamilton is also having a large number of fruit trees planted this winter.

to come before the second day's session of the convention signifies probably the attitude of the labor world of Washington and not only was it passed unanimously but was followed by wild cheering and applause.

Mrs. Luoma G. Johnson, president of the Women's Trade Union League of Tacoma together with Mrs. F. W. Cotterill of the Seattle Clerks, spoke in behalf of suffrage and their addresses were constantly interrupted by wild applause.

WASHINGTON LABOR OUT FOR WOMEN SUFFRAGE

HOOQUAM, Wash., Jan. 13.—"We, the delegates to the ninth annual convention of the Washington State Federation of Labor, do pledge ourselves to renew our efforts for the enfranchisement of women by urging it in our unions and by putting forth our heartiest efforts toward carrying the proposed constitutional amendments at the coming elections."

"MARY JANE'S PA" A POPULAR PLAY

One of the Best Products of American Dramatic Literature Seen in the Past Twenty Years.

Max Figman's new comedy, "Mary Jane's Pa," by Edith Ellis, is one of the best products of American dramatic literature for the last twenty years. New York and Chicago thought so and between them packed the theaters for nearly a year, and since then many other cities have endorsed this sentiment. The play relates an appealing heart story that teems with laughter and amusing comedy situations. The lines are bright, full of wit and worldly wisdom. The leading role reveals all of Max Figman's finest artistic qualities—there is abundant opportunity for good acting by the company and the scene pictures please the eye at every moment. Manager John Cort displayed great business sagacity when he acquired this play for Mr. Figman. The date of the engagement in this city will be Saturday, January 15, and the curtain will be held until 9 o'clock.

INVESTIGATION PROBABLE OF ELOPING HEIRESS

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—It was announced today that a thorough investigation of the Chicago end of the alleged elopement of Roberta De Janon, the $10,000,000 heiress, 17 years old, and Frederick Cohen, the water, will be made. The police intimated that they are in possession of information that may throw further light upon the case.

Miss De Janon's relatives probably will take the girl from the train on which she returns to her home before Philadelphia is reached. It is believed they plan to keep her in hiding for a time and later may place her in a school.

Roberta today reiterated her statement that her father must agree not to prosecute Cohen if she consents to return to Philadelphia. She declared that unless he agrees to her demand, she will make further trouble.

HOTEL MAID RESTORES FIFTY THOUSAND FOUND

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—But for the honesty of a hotel maid, eastern betting on the Jeffries-Johnson fight would have been quited to the extent of $50,000, according to Edward Healy, chief of police of San Jose, Calif.

Healy landed here recently with $50,000 in five gold certificates given him by H. T. Mills, a California manufacturer, and Mat Larkin, a sportsman to bet on the big fight.

The sheriff decided that he was better able to care for the money than a any bank and hid it under a sheet on his bed at the Hotel Albany.

The morning after his arrival he told a friend about the size of the bank roll and was laughed at by the easterner who demanded to be "shown."

Then it was that the officer remembered that he left the certificates in bed. He raced to the hotel and arrived just as Mary O'Neill, a chambermaid, handed the roll of notes to the manager of the hotel.

Healy presented the maid with $100 as a reward for her honesty, and marched to a bank where he deposited the remainder.

THREW A BLAZING BED AND GIRL OUT WINDOW

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Jan. 13.—A red-hot flatiron user as a foot-warmer set fire to the bed of Miss Josephine O'Connor, burned her feet and almost resulted in her death here. The firemen were called, and in their excitement threw bed, blankets, sheets, bolster, pillows, flatiron and Miss O'Connor out of a window. Luckily for Miss O'Connor she and the outfit landed on a piazza roof. There Miss O'Connor recovered from her swoon, and her cries from the center of the pile of bedding brought aid. She was carried into the house and the blazing bed was pushed off into the snow and extinguished. Miss O'Connor lives with her brother in River street. She was not feeling well and had retired in the middle of the afternoon.

BARTLETT STREET WANTS PAVEMENT

Petition for Paving Block on Bartlett and Alley Between Riverside and Central—Many Signers.

Petitions are being circulated and have already been signed by the majority of the property owners affected by the paving of Bartlett street with hard-surface paving from Sixth street to Main, and also for a similar pavement in the alley between Sixth and Main running from Riverside avenue to Central avenue.

The petition is being signed by nearly all the property owners and will come before the council at the February meeting.

The paving of the alley, should it be ordered, will be another step in advance for Medford. The alleys through the business district should all be paved and it only needs one alley paved to bring about the same result in others.

FOUR HUNDRED CONCERNS DISSOLVED BY GOVERNOR

In an executive order dated January 4, Governor Frank W. Benson has dissolved about 400 incorporated concerns doing business in the state of Oregon because these corporations had not made the reports to the secretary of state that are required by law and had not paid their license fees for the past two years. The action was taken under authority of chapter 172 of the laws of 1905; and the concerns so affected are now without legal right to do business in this state. Their articles of incorporation are revoked and repealed by the order, and all powers conferred upon them by law are declared inoperative and void.

GRANTS PASS MASONS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

GRANTS PASS, Or., Jan. 13.—Yesterday Grants Pass lodge No. 84, A. F. & A. M., was 25 years old and the event was celebrated in proper style. Of the original 18 charter members only six are alive: F. W. Van Dyke, John W. Howard, Daniel S. Holton Arthur Porter, Jos. L. Scott and T. P. Lee. Some degree work was given yesterday afternoon and between the hours of 5 and 8 a banquet was served to over four hundred members and guests. The program in the evening was held in the opera house and consisted of addresses interspersed with music. The first was an address by Grand Master Norris B. Cox on "Secrets and Symbol of Masonry;" "The Day We Celebrate," by Dr. W. T. Williamson; "The Pioneer Period," by Dr. F. W. Van Dyke; "The Intermediate Period," by Dr. W. H. Flanagan, and "The Present" by R. W. Burke. All the lodges of southern Oregon sent large delegations.

ASTOR MAKES BLUFF TO AID CONSERVATIVES

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Waldorf Astor, Conservative parliamentary candidate from Plymouth, created a sensation here today when he decided to give $500 to charity in the event of a Conservative success in the coming election, if food prices increase during the first year following the adoption of the proposed protective tariff.

Charles Bayer, a wealthy manufacturer of Bath, followed Astor's lead with a similar offer to be paid if he does not hire an additional thousand employees within two years after the adoption of the tariff.

Astor's move was a new departure in the campaign methods of the Conservatives in their efforts to convince the country that a protective tariff will benefit industrial England. The result of his unusual offer among the voters of his district is being watched with interest.

ACCUSED WOMAN, BUT REALLY KILLED HIMSELF

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 13.—That William Helman, a Terre Haute, Indiana, jeweler who died in that city after accusing Effie H. Sallisbury of poisoning him, really committed suicide was the declaration of the New Orleans authorities today.

Helman's dying statement blamed the woman for his death but the local police who placed her under arrest said today that the jeweler poisoned himself and then attempted to fasten the crime on her because she refused to return his love.

The authorities have received a letter written by Helman a short time before his death in which he intimated that the Sallisbury woman was a white slave agent, and asked for her arrest. The letter made no mention of Helman's illness.

HILL PURCHASES COOS BAY COAL

Northern Pacific Secures Oregon Coal & Navigation Holdings Contiguous to Marshfield.

PORTLAND, Or., Jan. 13.—Within sixty days the Northern Pacific railroad company will have completed the purchase of the holdings of the Oregon Coal and Navigation company on Coos Bay, contiguous to Marshfield.

The Oregon Coal and Navigation company owns 31,000 acres on Coos Bay and the steamer plant, which runs between Coos Bay and San Francisco. The company's property consists principally of coal lands. The company also owns valuable water frontage at Marshfield.

By its purchase the Northern Pacific (James J. Hill) acquires entry into Marshfield over what is termed the Boise-Roseburg survey. This survey, engineers claim, does not exceed three per cent grade between Roseburg and Marshfield. Senator Perkins of California is president of the Oregon Coal and Navigation company.

CAPTAIN WASHED OVERBOARD FROM THE ROBERT LEWERS

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Jan. 11.—Captain Alexander Anderson of the schooner Robert Lewers, which is in port today, after a voyage of 23 days from Honolulu, reports that Captain E. R. Underwood was washed overboard and drowned while the vessel was outward bound for the Hawaiian port. Captain Anderson was mate of the Lewers at the time. The death of Captain Underwood occurred five days after the Lewers passed out of the straits and was off the Columbia river. According to Captain Anderson, Captain Underwood was just leaving the cabin when a great wave came aboard with such force that the man at the wheel was thrown to the deck, but managed to hold to something, which saved him from being washed overboard.

All the lifeboats were torn from the davits, the cabin and skylights were broken and the cabin flooded. Captain Underwood was not missed until 10 or 15 minutes afterward. His body was not recovered.
