THE THREE ORDERS.

Three kinds and degrees of men there be in the world, according to Oriental Wisdom—those who Advance, those who Stand Still, and those who Fall Behind. In their order the first are the Gainers, the second the Nonentities (or Non-Doers) and the third are the Losers.

The Gainers are governed by Active Intelligence; the Nonentities by Hesitation and Doubt; the Losers by Folly.

The Gainers see, decide and undertake; the Nonentities look, grow fearful and wait; the Losers see not, consider not, and are overwhelmed.

The Gainers know that one cannot reap if one will not sow; the Nonentities know that also, but dare not decide when to sow; the Losers neither reap nor sow, but scatter to the winds.

The Gainers seek for opportunities and make use of them; the Nonentities hear opportunity knocking at the door, but fear to bid it enter; the Losers are embraced by opportunity, but are not conscious of it.

The Gainers know that they must risk to win; the Nonentities would like to win, but have not the courage to risk; the Losers, beguiled by Folly, fancy they win when they lose.

The Gainers see merit afar and make haste to overtake it; the Nonentities are in dread of the worth of their elbows; the Losers trample on benefits in their purblind chase after phantoms.

The Gainers are they who unfold the power of a Nation; the Nonentities are they who do nothing to help the unfolding; the Losers are the muck in the highway of Progress.

The Gainers cast their nets in the chance to find fish in the waters; the Nonentities fear to make cast lest their meshes be broken by fish they see swimming; the Losers make mock both of nets and of fishes.

The Gainers adventure some part of their thrift in things to produce further riches; the Nonentities pine for increase of possession, yet tremble to put forth a farthing; the Losers scramble for moonbeams in sand heaps.

The Gainers are the children of Wisdom; the Nonentities the children of Fear; the Losers the children of Death.

Three kinds and degrees of men there be in the world—the Daring, the Fearful, the Foolish—and the heavens were made for the first, purgatory for the second and hell for the third.

THE MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION.

The annual report of the Merchants' association shows a saving during the past six months of approximately $5000 to merchants of Medford as the result of concerted action in cutting out worthless advertising grafts.

The merchant is always a prey to the advertising fakir. Ne'er-do-wells and fly-by-nights fill from town to town, pay no rent and support no payroll, but by smooth talk induce the merchant to squander his advertising appropriation in worthless schemes that bring him no results. As a result, money that should be left in town or go to build up legitimate business is carried away by the grafter and the community as well as the merchant is that much poorer.

This year the association has taken another commendable step by cutting out the calendar graft. Heretofore from $8000 to $15,000 a year has been spent by business men in calendars, fancy and otherwise, but always costly, which brought them no returns.

Such steps are to be commended. It leaves the merchants free to spend advertising appropriations in a legitimate way, where results are forthcoming, and if they do not spend it, at least the money remains in the city.

In various other ways the Merchants' association has proved beneficial, not only to the members, but to the community, and it is hoped the coming year will see it increase in membership and in power.

MEDFORD SETS THE PACE.

For a city of 8000 souls to petition for the paving of ten additional miles of streets is indeed a splendid record, and it is doubtful if any other city in the world, certainly not in the northwest, can equal it. Ten miles of streets equals 176 blocks and represents an outlay of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

No other city would attempt it, let alone carry it to a successful termination, but Medford will, for such is Medford.

This winter has demonstrated the value of pavement. The three miles of hard surface streets have proved an object lesson of far-reaching influence, and people who were at first skeptical are now most enthusiastic for extending them. By 1911 Medford will have at least fifteen miles of paved streets. Again has Medford led the way.

At 6 o'clock last evening there were four hundred and seventy-nine members on the roll of the Medford Commercial club. You have until Tuesday night to make it six hundred. Get into the band wagon and ride.

HEINZE FREE BY RULING OF JUDGE

Second Indictment is Quashed—Prosecutor Will Present Another Case to the Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Judge Hough in the United States circuit court today quashed a second indictment against F. Augustus Heinze, charging him with manipulation of the funds of the Mercantile National bank.

Prosecutor Wise said that he will present another case to the grand jury.

The Heinze case is one of those which grew out of the panic of 1907, which followed the collapse of the Knickerbocker Trust company and shattered many imposing financial structures.

The federal authorities alleged at the time that they had ground for many different complaints against Heinze, and the statement of Wise is taken to indicate that the government will proceed now with some case that was superseded by the one in which the indictment quashed today was found.

SPLIT COMES IN RANKS OF MINERS

Does Not Lend Strength to Move to Amalgamation With Western Federation—Charges of Fraud.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 22.—A division of the United Mineworkers of America resulting from bitter recriminations over the re-election of President Thomas L. Lewis, is not expected today to lend strength to the organization's project for amalgamation with the Western Federation of Miners.

William Green of Ohio, who was defeated by Lewis for the presidency of the Mineworkers, questioned the vote given Lewis. Lewis came back with a countercharge that there had been fraudulent voting for Green. This divided the convention in two bitter factions and brought out the animosity that has been latent since the election of Lewis.

Lewis' committee of mineworkers is to meet a committee from the Western Federation of Miners, of which President Moyer of the federation is chairman.

TACOMA LIMITS HEIGHT OF ADVERTISING BILLBOARDS

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 22.—Billboards in Tacoma must be limited to six feet in height.

The validity of this ordinance has been sustained by Superior Judge Shaskellford, who denied the petition of a local firm for a writ of mandamus to compel the city building inspector to grant a permit for the occupation of a high billboard on Puyallup avenue.

It was argued by the petitioners that if the new ordinance was enforced that it would put billboards out of business. This is exactly what the city council is aiming to do.

is upon their testimony that Sims expects to secure indictments of leading packers.

Sims and company, Armour and company, Nelson Morris and company—names standing for nearly everything in the packing world—are designated as concerns which must undergo a federal probing. The National Packing company, reputed to be the incorporated name for the "beef trust," will also be investigated.

As to Connections.

The meat barons connected with the foregoing companies will be required to show the connection, if any, of their companies with the National Packing company, and will also be required to show whether or not any combination has been formed among themselves for the purpose of maintaining extortionate prices.

The Old Investigation.

At that time many were haled before the inquisitorial body and questioned loosely regarding their reported connection with a so-called "meat trust." Later at their trials many claimed immunity on the ground that they had been forced in the grand jury rooms to testify against themselves. To avoid this it is said that the government will disclose only enough of its case to the grand jury to warrant the bringing of indictments. Heavy hoards of evidence will be reserved for the trials proper that are expected to follow the grand jury's action.

KNOX SPRINGS RESERVE CARD

Still Has Way to Bring About Neutralization of Manchurian Railways—China Lets America Build.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 22.—Almost simultaneously with the rejection by Japan and Russia of Secretary Knox's plan for the neutralization of the Manchurian railroad, the Chinese government issued an imperial order granting permission for the construction of an American-British railroad from Chien Poo to the port of Aigun. It was learned today, according to a dispatch from Henry F. Fletcher, secretary of the American legation at Peking.

The granting of this official permission is said to be the result of much diplomatic interchange between China and the United States. The road probably will be effective in securing practical neutralization of railways in Manchuria, although Knox's proposals were rejected by Russia and Japan, and furnish the opportunity for a commercial foothold in Manchuria, which was considered one of the principal objects of the neutralization.

The new road, it is stated, will be built with British and American capital, but in view of the administration's commitment to railway neutralization, it is thought all other powers will be offered an opportunity to subscribe to the necessary bonds.

China's action in issuing the imperial receipt may change the status of her relations with Japan because she has come dangerously near overstepping the terms of her treaty of September 24, 1909, with Japan, in which it was provided that she must consult Japan whenever she proposed making a railway or mining concession in Manchuria.

It is predicted that her action may result in a realignment of powers in Oriental affairs, with the United States, Great Britain and China and Germany on one side and Japan, Russia and France on the other.

Says Japan is Sincere.

TOKIO, Jan. 22.—The sincerity of Japan's declaration of an open door and "equal opportunity" policy in Manchuria was the subject of an address by Premier Katsura before the imperial Japanese diet today.

Katsura declared that Japan's announced attitude is directly in line with the policy of the present cabinet. He said he believes the powers will recognize the sincerity of Japan's intentions to maintain the open door.
