COLONEL STANDS STAUNCHLY BY DOG

In Spite of Protests by Brother Officers, Deems Deems It Foolish to Desert Canine.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Colonel Clarence Deems of Fort Hancock, N. J., who has been a problem for the war department for some time because, among other things, of the devotion he has for his dog, has been ordered away from his station at that place and sent all the way out to the Presidio at San Francisco. And the little wagle-tailed canine was one of the remote causes for the change.

Some time ago Colonel Deems was in command of the artillery district of Fort Howard, Md. While at that post his constant companion was a little dog—so constant a companion, in fact, that his brother officers said that it toddled at his heels in the daytime and slept at his feet at night.

The dog became such a source of discomfort to the other officers and men at the post that protest was made to the war department against Colonel Deems on this ground. Other objections were filed, but the dog occupied the center of the arena in the quiet investigation that followed. It was after this that the department decided that Colonel Deems, who didn't seem to give temperamentally with the officers under his command and insisted on standing by the dog, should not be placed at the head of a district. Accordingly he was relieved from command at Fort Howard and sent to Fort Hancock under Colonel Walter Howe.

Now President Taft has decided to make Howe a brigadier-general and to place Colonel John V. White in command at Fort Hancock. As Colonel White is junior to Colonel Deems, it was necessary to transfer the latter. The troubles of Colonel Deems have never reached so acute a stage as to necessitate his banishment to Arizona to command an abandoned post, which was the method adopted by the war department to induce Colonel Stewart to retire, but there is no telling what may happen if the department persists in refusing him a command.

DESPERATE CRIMINAL GAINS SHORT REPRIEVE

FOLSOM, Cal., Jan. 27.—"Jake" Oppenheimer, one of the most desperate prisoners ever held here, learned today that he had been temporarily reprieved from the gallows. Oppenheimer was sentenced recently to be hanged on February 4 for a murderous attack upon a fellow prisoner.

The supreme court of California late yesterday granted Oppenheimer a writ of error to the United States supreme court. This probably means that Oppenheimer will face another trial and possible sentence. The writ is based on the question of whether the law is constitutional that condemns to death a prisoner, even if the assault does not result in death.

Oppenheimer has made several attempts to escape. His desperate actions have aroused a question in the minds of the authorities as to whether the prisoner is not criminally insane.

UNCLE SAM BUYS FAMOUS PROPERTY

Site of Federal Building in Plymouth, Mass., Is Spot Made Renowned in History.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—More than usual interest attaches to the selection recently made by the treasury department of the site for the Federal building at Plymouth. For this purpose the property of the Baptist church at Leyden and Main streets has been acquired.

It happens that these are the two oldest streets in the United States, having been laid out in 1620. The lot selected is the one originally assigned to William Brewster, the "ruling elder" of the Pilgrim church. On this spot Brewster lived and disseminated that religious liberty which distinguishes the United States among the nations.

Governor Bradford's house was on the opposite corner, hardly 100 feet away, and at the head of the street is Town Square, overlooked by his toric Burial Hill.

The government house of the colony, which gave way in 1749 to the courthouse in 1820, became the Town house. The latter is still in use as the municipal office center, and is only 200 feet distant from the post-office site. The price paid for the site was $22,000.

Haven't You a Job of Work For a Want Ad to Do?

One Cent a Word---Six Insertions For the Price of Five.

It needn't be some task so easy that it will almost do itself. You can entrust it with some errand that is difficult—that a want ad can do WELL AND INEXPENSIVELY.

The person who finds jobs for want ads. to do is the sort of a chap who looks at you rather quizzically when you try to tell him that business is dull, or that you can't rent that apartment, or store, or office, or house, or that you can't find a position. For you see, he has gotten into the habit of accomplishing things—which is a habit within the reach of any person with half a will or three quarters of a purpose.
