The work now being done by the large chorus choir of the Methodist Episcopal church would do credit to a much larger city than Medford. Friday night they began rehearsing on Gault's sacred cantata, "The Holy City," which they will give in February. This is an elaborate musical production, being sometimes classed as an oratorio. For several years it has maintained its position as being one of the most popular cantatas being performed by the best choirs of the larger cities throughout the country.

The matter of civic improvement, which is engrossing the attention of many, owes a debt to the enterprise of women that cannot be easily estimated. In many cities east and west, the movement toward municipal betterment originated in the women's club, and while the beginnings were in all cases small, yet the success of the work and its effectiveness through intelligent organization were such that it has been extended to make social conditions better and lessen the suffering of the laboring classes. The awakening of sentiment leads out into wider activities and each undertaking, though modest in scope and inception, has made it possible to dare a related work. It is a matter of general information that the creation of the juvenile court and the enactment of more enlightened and humane laws governing child labor, both of which are splendid achievements, are unquestionably placed to the credit of the woman's club movement? Much has also been done for the establishment of day nurseries, free classes for worthy girls in schools and colleges, while the protection and planting of trees, the distribution of straws, rosebushes, seeds and bulbs seems to appeal in a special way to that instinctive taste that most women have to some degree for landscape gardening. The work undertaken by the ladies of the Greater Medford club in agitating the public drinking troughs for horses, the placing of a public drinking fountain on a prominent corner, the improvement and maintaining of the city park, the securing of more lands for park purposes, the establishment of the far-reaching work in the community of the public library, its extension and the efforts being put forth to secure a 120,000 Carnegie library, are all in direct line with the club work being done throughout the land by the half million women's club workers. At this time, when the public mind is being forcibly turned to a more general consideration of the question of equal suffrage, and when views differ widely as to the more advanced position of woman, and all that sort of thing, it would seem that the sphere of activity outlined by civic betterment and the improvement of social conditions closely allied with state and municipal problems, offers woman a most practical opportunity for the exercise of her highest ability and scope for the gratification of a worthy personal ambition, as well as a field in which woman is peculiarly adapted to work; her human sympathies, her sense of the artistic and her capacity for detail give her initiative, and she may legitimately devote herself to this endeavor without necessarily sacrificing any of those natural duties and responsibilities, which are the discharge of which, less her chiefest charm as well as her greatest usefulness.

At the morning service Sunday they will give West's "The Lord is Bountiful," and at the union temperance service in the evening will sing "The Radiant Morn Hath Passed Away," by Woodward.

Also several piano numbers rendered by Miss Durnham. About sixty were present, among whom were Archdeacon Chambers and Pfister, Bishop Scadding's financial secretary.

Miss Hazel Elyart, who has been visiting relatives in Chicago since the first of the year, on her way home from New York, is now in Ball Lake City and will bring from the Logansport (Ind.) paper a description of an accident in which Miss Elyart narrowly escaped serious injury. "A large coasting sled coming down College hill yesterday afternoon at a rapid rate became unmanageable when part way down and, veering to one side, struck a tree along the sidewalk with fearful force. Several passengers were on the sled and several were injured, who were steering, was thought at first to be seriously hurt. His head struck the tree, his nose was mashed and he received other bruises about the head that rendered him unconscious. Three girls on the sled were hurt also, Ruth Fogarty, Marie Kessling and Edith Burns. Miss Fogarty had an ugly gash in her leg and was rendered unconscious by the shock. Miss Kessling had her arm and two fingers hurt and the ligaments in her ankle torn so badly that she may be laid up for several weeks. Miss Burns was slightly hurt, but Hazel Elyart escaped without any injury of consequence. Nearly a dozen were turned into temporary hospitals and the disabled young people were given relief that enabled them to later get to their homes. Several hundred people were on the hill yesterday enjoying the sport all day, but this distressing accident caused many to abandon the hill and return to their homes.

The reception given by the ladies of the Greater Medford club to the ladies of the Medford tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock is an effort to bring the ladies who are not members of the club into closer sympathy with the civic improvement work, and through the addition of new members to the roll, increase the working force of the organization and add to its influence as a factor in the upbuilding of woman's work in the city. The club activity for the immediate future is being taken up under three heads: (1) Park work, (2) library work and (3) rose culture and tree planting. Any lady who is interested in any phase of the work is invited to attend this reception and give of her talent for the support of the work. A brief business session will precede the reception and the rendition of an elaborate and interesting musical program, which is given below. Light refreshments will be served and the sum of ten cents charged. The general committee having charge of the arrangements will serve as hostesses and are: Miss Emily Janny, chairman; Mesdames Porter Noff, A. H. Miller, O. Kidd, W. C. Reenan, C. D. Haselrigg, J. M. Hoop, Kirby Miller, U. G. Smith, F. W. Streets, H. C. Kentner, F. W. Hollis. Program Greater Medford club:

Piano solo, "Tournament" (Nevin), Miss Flora Gray; tenor solo, (a) "A Dream" (Bartlett), (b) "Two Little Maids," Fletcher Fish; violin solo, Selected, Miss Ethel Crowell, Miss Dretchen Crawford; reading selected, Miss Grace Andrews; soprano solo, recited, Mrs. E. A. Kentner; piano solo, "Valse" (Schurt), Mrs. W. F. Tausch; duet, "I Feel Thy Angel Spirit" (Graham-Hoffman), H. M. Whetzel and J. C. Edmonds.

One of the most enjoyable affairs in church circles this week was the social and reception to new members given at the Presbyterian church Friday evening by the Ladies' Aid society. An hour of informal sociability was enjoyed, when every one was made acquainted with the recent arrivals in the church, after which the following musical program was rendered to the entertainment of all: Piano duet, "Stitch Belts Galop," Misses Harmon and Gray; piano solo, "Day Dreams of Youth," Miss Lucile York; violin solo, selected, Miss Ina Goodale; piano accompanist, piano solo, "Waltz Rubato," "The Chase," Miss Mary Stevenson; reading, Miss Alice Elder; piano solo, "Over Blooming Meadows" (Rive-King), Miss Flora Gray; vocal solo, "The Rosary," Henri Gunson.

Miss Alice Elder always pleases with her character recitation, and Mr. Gunson, a professional singer, with talents of an extremely high order, sang "The Rosary," by Nevin, with artistic skill and sincere expression. Two young piano players, Miss Lucile York and Miss Mary Stevenson, rendered difficult selections with accuracy, skill and true musical feeling. After the program a delightful lunch, consisting of assorted sandwiches, olives, doughnuts and coffee, were served.

Miss Ina Goodale, assistant book-keeper in the mercantile store of the Hutchison company, entertained her fellow-workers Tuesday evening at her home on West Eleventh street.

E. N. Warner, president of the Warner, Wortman & Gore corporation, has been in Eugene this week in attendance at the State Retail Grocers' association.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Heard entertained the Right Reverend Charles Scadding, bishop of the diocese of Oregon, during his official stay of Friday and Saturday.
