

"KEEP OFF THIS AIR" SIGN TELLS AVIATORS

Jersey Squire Erects Ten-Foot-by-Five Notice Threatening Trespassers with Jail.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Justice of the Peace Merris H. Kammelhör, who has announced to the public that he will attempt to stop all flying machines from passing over his home.

Recently the justice heard that Oscar Pfannebecker, a young aviator of Paterson, had completed a monoplane which he intended to try in the vicinity of the Kammelhör home. The justice donned his fur overcoat and visited a sign painter in Paterson, who prepared a sign ten feet long and five wide, which reads:

NOTICE!

All Aviators Are Hereby Warned Not to Fly Their Machines Over This House Under Penalty of Imprisonment. MORRIS KAMMELHÖR.

The sign as fastened to the flag-staff of the squire's house.

He intends to run a string of lanterns around the sign so that it can be seen at night.

Squire Kammelhör insists that he owns to the heavens above his premises and to the center of the earth the other way.

Mr. Pfannebecker went over the ground—on foot—yesterday and laughed when he saw the sign.

"Well, I guess there will be some fun soon, for I am going to attempt a flight, and if the judge isn't careful I'll drop my anchor and hook off his chimney or a corner off his roof," he said.

Price Raised.

SALEM, Or., Feb. 8.—Peter Applegate, state land agent, has announced that the price of base for indemnity selections has advanced from $10 to $13 an acre.

An attack of the grip is often followed by a persistent cough, which to many proves a great annoyance. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been extensively used and with good success for the relief and cure of this cough. Many cases have been cured after all other remedies have failed. Sold by all druggists.

MUCH INTERESTED IN CITY BOOKLET

Publisher of Wisconsin Paper Writes of His Interest in Pamphlet and How He Read and Reread It.

C. N. Johnson of Merrill, Wis., was recently the recipient of a Medford booklet sent out by Mayor W. H. Cannon. Mr. Johnson is the publisher of the Merrill Daily Herald. He writes as follows of the pamphlet:

"You certainly have one of the most progressive communities in the natural resources to back your world. With that kind of work and city up, it will not be many years before Medford will be one of the biggest and best cities in your state."

"I feel like taking my hat off to the author of that pamphlet. He is certainly a boomer from Boomerville. I got so interested in his narrative that I read it clear through. I started to read it in the hope of being able to see if I could not do some stunt like that for this country, but had to stop on the table completely done."

That beats anything that I have ever read. I am indeed glad to know that you are located in an enterprising city, fully knowing that you will contribute more than your share in making Medford one of the great cities of the Pacific coast."

FOUND WITH THE GOODS ON HIM

G. W. Jones has been arrested at Falls City, Or., on a warrant sworn out by Sam Sandry, deputy game warden, and has been caught with the goods on.

He will be brought back to Grants Pass for trial on a charge of having stolen a fieldglass and a watch in that city a few weeks ago. After the above-mentioned robbery Jones came to Medford, but skipped later. In the meantime Game Warden Gay and Sandry had discovered that he had some beaver hides in his possession, all of which is contrary to the laws of Oregon, but before power could be attached to the machinery of the law Mr. Jones and his hides had departed.

He was caught, however, at Falls City, as aforesaid, and not only the hides, but the watch and field glass were found in his possession.

HANFORD HERE SATURDAY

Miss Marie Dronah

"The American Lord" will be the play offered by Charles B. Hanford as the star, with a brilliant company of the highest quality has been engaged for the presentation of this exceedingly novel and interesting Hanford offering. It is a play of our own period presented with the same sincerity and human intensity that have attached to the eminent tragedians' portrayals of the great classic roles.

A want ad having found a situation for her with "easier hours," the young stenographer who lives down the street and who used to run for her car at half past six in the morning now leaves for the office at 8.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 8.—The condition of King Gustave is reported as satisfactory today following an operation last night upon the sovereign to relieve appendicitis. The king's condition that he will have a speedy recovery.

The Swedish monarch had been ill only thirty-six hours before a midnight operation was performed. The court physicians had difficulty in determining the nature of the disease. When it was diagnosed as appendicitis an immediate operation was decided upon and carried out.

NO CLEW YET TO THE IDENTITY OF SKELETON

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 8.—Ten feet from the spot where the skeleton of the victim of the Mt. Tamalpais murder lay was found the left forearm which had been missing, but a close examination today adds only slight additional clues to the identity of the girl.

It was seen that she wore black gloves at the time of the murder. They were so rotted, however, that it was impossible to tell their size or make. The buttons were gone and only small portions of the glove remained on the clenched fingers of the left hand. The glove, which was probably on the right hand, had been eaten away.

There was no ring on the newly found portion of the skeleton and no bracelet or other jewelry. Near the arm was found a faceted head of a hatpin.

Search for the missing arm had been going on for some time and the ground in the vicinity of the skeleton had been searched by hundreds seeking clues.
