TO MAKE TENEMENTS OF CHURCH BIULDINGS

Socialist Member of Italian Chamber of Deputies Would Change All Churches Into Lodgings.

ROME. Feb. 9 .- Pietro Chiera, a socialist member of the Italian chamber of deputies, announced today that he has secured the endorsement of 23 other deputies of his party to his plan for transforming one-half of the churches owned by the state into tenements for the use of the poor at moderate rentals.

The deatrh of living accommodations for the poorer classes in Rome has long been cause for perplexity among the national legislators.

Chiera's plan, which he already has T.C. DEVLIN SUFFERS presented to the speaker of the chamber, is the first practical step taken to relieve the stress.

ROOMMATE SAYS GORE'S ILLNESS WAS NOT DUE

EUGENE, Or., Feb. 9. To the Editor: A news story appeared in your issue of the 7th inst, which demands an answer reflecting as it does upon the University of Oregon, and putting the students as well as C. Devlin, receiver for the defunct the government in a very bad light before the state.

presume that you believe the story complete nervous breakdown and is true or you would not have printed it now confined in a California sanitarbut the fact remains that the opening ium. Just where he is is not knokn FOR SALE New, strictly modern 5statement is untrue.

When I came back to the university last fall I met Mr. Gore and had but it is known that he is being kept POR SALE Oak, fir and pine cordthe pleasure of rooming with him in absolute seclusion. His critical ofr a short time.

found several of the boys waiting of the Oregon Trust and the stewfor him. He was taken out for about ardship of the German-American an hour and returned laughing over the nieident. # There's a New Procession of Want Ad Readers Today!

There are a good many separate and distinct ads printed in this paper today. And it would be vastly interesting if one could know just how many people read each one. It's safe to assume that some people read every ad in the paper. It's safe to assume that a greater number read but one or two ads each.

The law of averages works pretty surely in the cases of store ads, however. The people who buy at stores read the ads of stores as a matter of common sense policy. Every day the store sales are governed and gauged by the ad-readers.

With the classified ads the case is different. The man woman who want work today are feverishly interested in the Help Wanteds Ads. Finding work, temorrow's help wanted ads have no interest for them. But tomorrow's ads appeal with the same urgency to an entirely different set of people. So it is with every classification—there's a procession of readers and answerers every day the little ads reflecting the intimate business and social affairs of the people of the city.
