PARLIAMENT IS AGAIN CONVENED

After Bitter Election Third Parliament of King Edward's Reign Assembles in Westminster.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—After the hardest-fought election England has ever known, the third parliament of King Edward's reign assembled at Westminster for the session's business at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Business thus far has been purely formal and four days will be occupied in no more sensational way than swearing in the members and effecting the usual organization.

Doors Opened at Midnight.

Though the houses did not convene until 2 o'clock, the doors were opened as usual at midnight, and all through the early hours of the forenoon there was the customary rush of the 670 members of the commons for the best, or, in fact, for any at all of the 500 seats in their chamber. This stamped over the yeoman of the guard, in their gorgeous scarlet and gold Elizabethan uniforms, went through the venerable facade of searching the parliament house vaults for explosives. The official police had, of course, previously conducted a real search. Even they found nothing dangerous, nor expected to.

Enormous Crowd on Hand.

As 2 o'clock approached an enormous crowd began to gather in the streets of Westminster to watch the members' arrival. Notable politicians were eagerly looked for. Chancellor of the exchequer Lloyd-George was so enthusiastically greeted that it took a strong squad of policemen to get him in safety from his official residence at 11 Downing street to the house. Prime Minister Asquith, more apprehensive concerning suffragettes, who were pretty prominently in evidence in the throng, took no such risks as the chancellor, but went across from his official residence by way of the underground passage provided for such emergencies.

Swearing in Members.

Inside the house of commons confusion prevailed when the tedious business of swearing in began. One by one the new members marched up to Speaker Lowther's table to be introduced by more experienced friends to the presiding officer. Today's swearing in was interrupted, as it always is, by the arrival of the gentleman usher of the Black Rod, otherwise Admiral Sir H. Stephenson, to summon the commons to the bar of the house of lords to hear "his majesty's commission" read.

Listen to King.

In the upper chamber the lord chancellor, Lord Roseberry, and his fellow commissioners, in full state robes and cocked hats, stood waiting on the steps of the throne, while the rest of the lords sat around them, hunched. Everyone being present, the lord chancellor, in official tones, read the "commission," briefly commanding the "faithful commons" in the king's name to elect "a fit and proper person to the office of speaker to preside over their deliberations."

Speaker Elected.

The commons immediately returned to their own chamber, where John Ellis, a Liberal, formally arose and proposed that James Lowther be elected speaker—a mere form, inasmuch as the same speaker is elected session after session, regardless of politics, as usually happens, he refuses to accept a peerage and a seat in the house of lords. Speaker Lowther himself is now starting on his third term, having been elected under the conservative administration of Premier Balfour, which ended four years ago. Stuart Wortley, a conservative, succeeded Ellis' nomination and the proposition was unanimously carried. The house of lords was informed of what had been done and the swearing-in proceeded.

Rob Bank of $10,000.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Feb. 15.—Five masked bandits dynamited the vault of the Citizens' bank at Chatsworth, Ill., early today and escaped with a large sum of money. According to the officers of the bank, the amount they stole was about $10,000. A sheriff's posse immediately took up the pursuit.

LITTLE CONSERVATION LEGISLATION IN VIEN

Supporters of Reclamation Bond Issue Will Have Hard Time Getting Measure Through.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The only conservation legislation that will be passed at this session of congress, according to the members of the house today, will be a general classification bill, a bill for the withdrawal of certain lands and the reclamation bond issue act.

It will be necessary for supporters of the reclamation bond issue to fight hard to get the bill through the house, according to a representative. The indications at the present time are that these three measures will be the limit on which the leaders can agree in connection with President Taft's conservation plan. There is a possibility also that one of these may fall of passage.

The dangers confronting the conservation program in congress are such that there is slight belief that more than three measures will be passed. This will leave to the president the task of preventing any coal land or water power site grabs.

Some of the Want Ads "Were Written for You"

In the course of a year a certain number of want ads are WRITTEN FOR YOU. That is, they have a greater interest for YOU than for anyone else in the city—hence are, in effect, "written for you."

Here's the tantalizing part of it: You can't possibly know when they are to be printed unless you pay the price. The price is intelligent vigilance in reading the classified ads. No one can do it for you—and find the ads that were "written for you." You must do it yourself—or miss them.

And to keep missing the ads that were "written for you" is to keep aloof from the atmosphere of success—to keep your self out of touch with the prospering people, the winning people, the worth-while people.

After you find a few of the ads that were "written for you," you'll begin to find some of the chances and opportunities to prosper which daily life in this city hold FOR YOU! One cent a word. Six insertions for the price of five.
