ELKS' MINSTREL DATES ARE CHANGED TO MONDAY AND TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, MARCH 1.

This is Art Burgess as Pat Gillfillon, officer of the court, in "The Great Kidnaping and Breach of Promise Case."

On account of so many members of the lodge being unable to get away from business, the minstrel committee thought it advisable to change the dates of the show to Monday and Tuesday evenings, February 28 and March 1. Seat reservations will open at Haskins' drug store, Saturday morning, February 26.

"The Minstrel show given by the Elks of Pullman Monday and Tuesday nights under the direction of George T. Wilson was a success from every standpoint.

"Both performances were attended by large crowds, there being many visitors from Moscow present Tuesday night. Local and college people patronized the minstrels liberally and all felt that they had received full value for their money.

"The program was replete with pleasing numbers and there was a laugh every minute. There was not a dull place in the program and the audience was kept in good humor. Throughout all of the jokes were new and some had local application, making great hits with the audience."—Pullman Herald.

STAND IN LINE FOR DAYS TO GET FARMS

Land-Seekers Line Up Before Land Office to Await Coming of March First.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 21.—Despite the order of Secretary of the Interior Ballinger to the effect that all applications for lands on the Yuma irrigation project, would be considered "simultaneously" on the morning of March 1, the 150 persons who have been in line for five days waiting for the distribution of the 40-acre farms have decided to hold their positions in the line and not chance a "grand rush" with later arrivals.

The local land office, in a circular that is in the hands of the land-seekers today, said in part:

"The agents of the building in which the land office is situated will not permit anyone to remain in the building at night. As a consequence, any line which may be formed prior to the date of the opening will be formed on the street and will be under the supervision of the police department. The head of the line will be allowed to enter the building at an early hour on the morning of March 1, and the line formation will be maintained in the hall of the building until the last farm has been disposed of, the rule of "first come, first served," being strictly enforced."

As a result of the announcement, the land-seekers took up their stations in the line early in the week, and, despite the rains, have held them day and night.

WILL SHOW APPLES IN EAST.

will set forth the advantages of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana as fruit states.

Committee Report Soon.

The committee which investigated conditions in the east will present to the trustees Wednesday alternative plans for holding the prize-winning exhibit in Chicago or New York. It is believed the committee's recommendation will favor Chicago, because more people in the middle east are interested in the northwest than in the far east.

"I feel confident that the Chicago project can be carried out," said Mr. Van Dissel. "We looked into the situation carefully and will have much information to submit to the board at the meeting Wednesday. I believe that, with the assistance of the orchard land companies, we will be able to give the eastern exhibition after the show in Spokane. The railroad companies take such a broad view of the situation and have extended such a helping hand that we feel encouraged to go ahead with our plans to make the third show a greater success than the second and to broaden its scope in so doing.

"An instance of the interest in the apple show occurred while we were in Chicago. The committee called upon the Chicago Association of Commerce to consult with the officers on the advisability of making a display, and at a meeting of the executive committee of the association the same evening Chairman H. A. Wheeler, voluntarily took up our proposed plan, and in a strong speech advocated that the Chicago Association of Commerce go on record in favor of the project. Without a dissenting voice, the executive committee endorsed the movement and gave instructions to Mr. Wheeler to take such actions as he might think advisable in the premises.

"To receive such an unqualified indorsement before we had more than tentatively submitted our scheme was indeed flattering, and it indicates the general desire of Chicago people to further this movement."

FANS SAY JEFF IS IN BETTER CONDITION

Frisco Fistic Fiends Find Favorite Fellow Fully Fulfilling Fond-est Faiths.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 21.—Public opinion here today seems to have it that James J. Jeffries is in 100 per cent better condition than he was when he appeared at a local theater a year ago when he began his tour.

A good-sized crowd watched the big boiler-maker at Jack Gleason's show at Recreation park yesterday. Jeffries hopped the rope as nimbly as of old, and the way he danced around for ten minutes of fast shadow boxing filled his admirers with glee.

The big fellow boxed three rounds with Sam Berger. He showed that his theatrical tour at least has polished him off a bit in the more showy side of the ring art, but wise fans hinted that Jeff and Berger have done the stunt together so many times that each apparently knows what lead was coming next. However, his work made an excellent impression upon the crowd.

Nelson and Wolgast, who fight for the lightweight title at Point Richmond tomorrow, each boxed several rounds at the park. Moran and Harlem Tommy Murphy, who will fight late this month, also appeared.

ROGUE RIVER VALLEY CHOICE OF ALL COAST

Colorado Man Finds Ideal Spot in Rogue River Valley for Future Home—Much Mud in Coos.

After looking over nearly the whole coast country, H. A. Conrad, formerly of Grand Junction, Col., has found no climate so much to his liking as that of the Rogue River valley, and has purchased the Coffee property near Gold Hill, as a starter for future investments.

Mr. Conrad investigated California pretty thoroughly and when he arrived here in January had heard a great deal of the Coos Bay section as a dairying country. As that business was the one in which he wished to engage, he made a trip to Coos and came back as quickly as he could.

"There is too much mud in that country to suit a man of my age," said Mr. Conrad. "It takes a young man to wade through it. It's a great country, though, and a coming one, and visited it at perhaps the worst time of the year. For my use, however, the Rogue River valley seems to be about the place I have been looking for."

Said the Mistress to Her Maid:

"You have no idea, Jennie, what a snap it is to do the ironing with an electrical flatiron. It's twice as easy and twice as quick as using the old fashioned stove irons. You need no fire, never have to change your iron, save all the footsteps between board and stove, and there is no soot whatever to soil the clothes."
