WORKING TO SAVE VICTIM.

Children have been rescued by the heroic miners from the Mace slide and the men are working desperately in shifts in an effort to succor those who may possibly be alive beneath the crush of snow and timbers. Miners from all the great producing mines are now on the scene of the disaster and it is believed that if human effort will accomplish anything more of the life-

ALL HONORS DUE TO MEDFORD

References in Roseburg Meeting Point Toward Medford as Leading in Work.

Professor P. J. O'Gara, who addressed the meeting of the horticulturists of Douglas county at Roseburg Friday, was impressed by the frequent reference to the Rogue River valley in general and Medford in particular by several speakers when they had occasion to make comparisons.

"The Medford people do this," "It is the custom in the Rogue River valley to handle this condition as follows": "In the Rogue River valley they do so and so," were remarks frequently made by such speakers as F. K. Newell, president of the state board of horticulture, Commissioners Carrons and Parks and others at the meetings.

"It was somewhat of a surprise to me," said Professor O'Gara, "to see such a universal acknowledgment of the work being done by the horticulturists of the Rogue River valley. I was introduced to the audience as 'Professor O'Gara of Medford,' and don't know but that I am a little proud of the designation as I am greatly so of the city and the country."

"The Douglas county fruit men are going to organize on the same lines as the Rogue River people have done, and have asked for copies of the constitution and bylaws of the Rogue River valley association."

ing will be rescued.
At Burke, where the second slide occurred, a few hours after the one at Mace, five are known to be dead and two badly injured. Such is the chaotic condition in the small mining town, however, that the list is not believed to be complete. The saddest event at this place is the death of the two children of Al Newman, who with his wife and two little ones, without a second's warning were buried by the great sliding mass.

James Rogers, after working desperately for several hours aiding the workers to extricate himself from the snow, was rescued yesterday, but his injuries caused his death a few hours after he was taken from the snow.

At Caronate Hill, where the third slide occurred, two are dead and half a dozen men are injured. It is not known how many more are beneath the wreckage. The Carbonate hill slide was not so great in extent as the others in the Coeur d'Alene district, but its force was as great and it swept everything before it.

MURPHY SECURES DECISION OVER MORAN

Draw Would Have Suited Crowd Better However as Fight Was Most Evenly Waged.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 1.—Though Harlem Tommy Murphy was awarded the decision over Owen Moran after 20 rounds of fighting at Dreamland last night the consensus of opinion today is that Referee Eddie Smith erred in declaring the Englishman the loser.

About ten per cent of the spectators believed the decision to be a good one, but the remain 90 per cent favored Moran or a draw. Moran led in nearly every one of the first 14 rounds, and where he did not lead he broke even. He was the aggressor throughout the opening rounds, Murphy contenting himself with backing up against the ropes and sliding around the ring.

He did not wake up until the 15th round, and from then until the finish he made things interesting. He showed surprising speed and strength and never dodged the slugging in mid-ring with his lighter opponent.

The 19th was his best round, a right swing to the head staggering Moran. Murphy tried to follow his advantage, but the Englishman recovered quickly and came back with right and left.

They were close together and fighting like bulldogs at the end.

In the final round Murphy again slowed Moran with a right to the head, but Owen came back. The balance of the round was made up of fierce rallies, with Murphy having a slight advantage.

they would let me, I realized that this moving around stunt wasn't what it's said to be. I will go back now, and when I get through with this I am coming back to Medford, and I expect to see you boys sooner than you think."

During his 18 months' residence here Jack Roache has been strictly "on the level." He has attended to business and the many friends he has made here were very much surprised at his arrest, and will be glad to hear of his getting out of his trouble honorably.

Roache was accused of using his position as a policeman to his own advantage. After being arrested there he was released on $3000 bond, which he jumped. He later got into trouble in Portland, but squared this up.

ELKS PLAY TO A CROWDED HOUSE

The Elks Peerless Minstrels, given under the auspices of the Elks, was in every way a success. The house was crowded to its capacity, and the local comedian did not crack his joke in vain.

G. T. Wilson.

The Elks Peerless Minstrels, given under the auspices of the Elks, was in every way a success. The house was crowded to its capacity, and the local comedian did not crack his joke in vain. The ballad singer was rewarded by liberal applause, and the farce at the end of the performance was a decided hit. Mr. Wilson understands his business when it comes to putting on a show, and he possesses a beautiful tenor voice. He has won the esteem of all with whom he has come in contact during his stay in Medford. Wilson is a gentleman and a good singer, and best of all he has bought property near our town and can be added to the list of musical talent for which Medford is famous.

From every indication the house will be packed tonight, and the performance will be changed from last night so as to make it thoroughly interesting to those who witnessed the first performance.

Every one did their part so well that it would be but just to go down the line and give each performer special mention, but this would make an article so long that it would be out of proportion to the notices of this kind. Suffice it to say, that every performer did his part with

Tonight the general admission will be only 50 cents.

PREFERS JAIL TO LIFE WITH MOTHER-IN-LAW

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 1.—Mrs. Mary Allee Anaya, who is under arrest here charged with deserting her husband and children at Santa Cruz, Cal., said today that she prefers jail to a home shared by her mother-in-law.

When Mrs. Anaya was taken into custody she did not deny the charge and offered no excuse for leaving her family except that she could not get along with her mother-in-law. When asked if she was not anxious to see her three small children, she said: "No; they are too much like my husband, and he resembles his mother a good deal. I would willingly choose jail in preference to a home shared by her."

THE HOME-BUILDER'S OPPORTUNITY.

Quite a number of our leading citizens, alive to the beauty and desirability for residences purposes of Siskiyou Heights addition, are now planning with their architects the building of fine houses, and in order to facilitate the efforts of all who desire to emulate this good example, the Oregon Orchards Syndicate will place at the disposal of all so inclined a large collection of plans of artistic and comfortable houses of the best kind, description and price.

The best architects in Medford and the northwest will be interested in producing the most artistic effects, diversified plans and harmonious combinations for the benefit of the residents of Siskiyou Heights addition.
