express itself in terms of hearty appreciation and loyalty. When in the east and in England the bishop took with him attractive leaflets, which circulated widely, giving interesting facts about Oregon to prospective settlers, but he confined his addresses to religious and educational problems of Oregon.

Bishop Scadding said it was his practice to go into the colonists cars when he went about the diocese, and he was impressed with the splendid type of settlers coming into Oregon, and stated that it was his desire and effort to have the Episcopal church keep pace with the commercial and material growth of the country.

"Stalwart sturdy settlers," he continued "are coming into Oregon in large numbers, and whether they settle in Jackson county or Multnomah the interests of all must be considered alike. I desire to stand for and aid in the upbuilding of a united Oregon. It must not be 'Portland for Portland, Willamette for valley for Willamette valley, and Jackson and Coos counties for San Francisco,' as it has been sometime in the past. It was once thought that Portland wanted everything, and the popular feeling was 'Portland against the rest of the state,' but that feeling is fast passing away. The Portland commercial organizations are doing much to break down this narrow local spirit, and the Portland daily papers have wider and larger vision and both in editorials, and the space they give to news from every corner of the state, are leading the way to a more united and greater Oregon. I desire as one who is learning to love Oregon more and more to enter a protest against a tendency in nearly all our towns to overstate our climate, soil, resources, opportunities. It is not necessary to be so picturesque in our statements to eastern friends, and prospective settlers, that we give false impressions. Apart from the had morals of such statements it is bad business to make them, for they lead to disappointment on the part of those who come, and have a harmful reflex action on the country. We have so much here in Jackson county that is good, that we can afford to keep to the truth, and make honest conservative statements. I am in receipt of hundreds of letters asking me as to the truthfulness of statements sent out in attractive booklets about Oregon, and the reliability of our commercial organizations, and real estate promoters, and I try to be absolutely correct in my replies.

"I am much pleased with the growth of our church in this town and county and appreciate the work the clergy and laity are doing, and the splendid response many, not members

DEPLORES AWE HELD FOR TITLES

Lady Laurier, Wife of Canadian Premier, Has Some Decided Opinions on Various Forms of American Life.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 3.—Lady Laurier, wife of the Canadian premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, holds some pretty decided opinions today on certain phases of American social life. Chiefly Lady Laurier deprecates the awe exhibited by Americans for the European nobility and the Americans' love of title.

"Titles are of far greater value over here than where people are used to them. Americans give unqualified homage to royalty, while in European countries their value is not disproportionate to their station. What is the ideal of America? When you are successful the first thing you buy is a title. There is a very great market for them here.

"The titled Europeans need them—require them in fact—but the Americans have no use for titles. They have not been very successful in possession if we believe what we hear of the international marriages.

"For myself, I do not believe in such marriages. I think Americans should marry at home and Europeans likewise. To the European a title stands for breeding, culture, station. To an American it cannot mean this, since it is bought."

of the church, are making in their generous contributions to the new church building. The Episcopal church is broad, comprehensive, truly Catholic in her message of all men as God's children. While standing firmly on the fundamental facts of her faith she has a wider vision and takes a larger view of many problems affecting the whole human society socially and religiously than she did 25 years ago. This church has a message to men today, and none need it more than those who are absorbed in commercial pursuits. Believe it, there are ideals in all this orchard buying and selling, and in most forms of commercialism, and it is for every true man to find them and live by them. They are the pillars by which business will be supported when its present methods shall have passed away."

FRISCO MAY LOSE JEFF-JACK FIGHT

Promoters Are Disinclined to Pay $7000 for July Permit in Big City—A Matter of Dollars and Cents to Be Considered.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3.—There are indications today that San Francisco may not be the scene of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. Tex Rickard, the financial backer of the big scrap, and Jack Gleason, his partner, are disinclined to pay $7000 for a permit to stage the fight here in July. According to stories floating around in the sporting circles, it is stated this sum was asked by "Jimmy" Griffin, the holder of the July permit, and that he was "turned down" by Rickard and Gleason.

At present the promoters do not seem over anxious to choose San Francisco as the site for the championship battle.

"It is simply a proposition of dollars and cents," said Rickard today. "Salt Lake is offering a bonus of $25,000 for the fight and Los Angeles men have made us a proposition involving $150,000 to bring off the scrap there. Now, why should the fight be held where you have got to pay for everything?"

REBELS LOOSE 800 IN FIERCE BATTLE

Government Troops in Nicaragua Practically Put End to Revolution by One Fierce Onslaught—Many Are Killed and Wounded.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 3.—(Via wireless to Colon)—The total loss of the provisional army under General Chamorro who left eight hundred dead and hundreds wounded on the field of battle near Tisma, is reported here today in official reports from the scene of conflict.

This indicates that the insurgent movement against Managua has resulted disastrously for the insurrectionists and the forces of President Madriz have saved the capital from capture.

Dispatches say that Chamorro escaped with only a few natives and Americans, the remainder of his army being cut to pieces.

The government forces are reported to have been strengthened at a critical time by the addition of five hundred fresh Honduran troops. These turned the tide of battle against the provisionals who fled in panic, leaving their dead and wounded.

The plight of the wounded was pitiful, many being left on the field suffering from horrible wounds and with no chance of medical attention.

The dispatches indicate that practically the entire provisional army of Estrada was engaged in the fighting at Tisma and at Tipitata river. The strength of the provisional army is reported broken and the followers of Madriz regard the revolution as nearing its end.

It is a pleasure to watch the toast become crisp and brown, and then remove it from the G. E. Radiant Toaster at the precise moment it is done produces crisp, delicious toast, on the dining room table. It makes toast by radiant heat—the correct way. The center of the bread becomes heated before the outside is browned over, thus allowing the necessary chemical changes to take place, without which toast is soggy in the middle and hard on the outside.

The General Electric Radiant Toaster lightens breakfast tasks and quickly pays for itself by saving time and bread. Come and see a demonstration of this electrical convenience.
