INDIAN FIGHTER HEEDS LAST CALL

John R. Satterfield, Indian War Veteran, Dies at His Home at Rock Point—Came to Oregon in 1852 Across the Plains.

"I am smothering to death," were the words scrawled upon a piece of paper lying at the side of John R. Satterfield, who was found dead in bed in his house at Rock Point, two miles and a half south of Gold Hill, by Mrs. Lee Cook, a near neighbor. He was old and feeble, and the Cook family had been looking to his welfare for some time. They did not see the old gentleman out as usual, so they entered his house to investigate. He was in bed, apparently asleep, but the sleep was that of death.

Coroner Kellogg brought the body to Gold Hill. No inquest was held, as it was plain that death was due to old age, with perhaps dropsy, from which the deceased was a sufferer, contributing. Interment was made at Rock Point Thursday, a number of old friends, some of whom served with Satterfield in the Indian war, accompanying the remains to the cemetery.

John R. Satterfield was a native of Alabama, and had lived till July 4 would have been 82 years old, as he was born in 1828. He crossed the plains with an ox team in 1852 and settled at Spencer Butte, in Lane county, near Eugene, where he lived until 1855, when he started for Southern Oregon. He was accompanied by a man named Bailey, who brought a drove of fat hogs, intending to sell them to the miners. But his enterprise was not to be rewarded, for at Cow creek hill the two men were attacked by Indians. Bailey was killed and his hogs driven off by the savages. Satterfield's gun was shot to pieces while he was in the act of leveling it at a red warrior, but he succeeded in getting away and reaching the mining camps. He spent the rest of his life in Southern Oregon, and in fact, never was out of the state after he entered it in 1852. He served through the Indian war of 1855-6, but owing to the conditions under which he enlisted, never received pay or pension for his services. He offered himself for enrollment at Smith's ranch, near Cow Creek canyon, and just as his name was being taken news came of an Indian attack. The entire camp rushed off to the assistance of the people threatened, and in the confusion either Satterfield's name was not recorded or the record was lost. He served through the war, thinking he had been regularly enlisted, and it was not until years later, when he applied for a pension, that he found that so far as the government record was concerned, he had never been a soldier. He failed to obtain a pension, although at one time he was offered admission to the Roseburg soldiers' home, which he did not care to accept.

For many years he had a blacksmith shop on Rogue river a mile north of the present town of Gold Hill, but for the last 25 years had lived at Rock Point. He never married, and has no relatives in this part of the state, although it is said that some nephews and a niece live in Lane county.

NUN VISITED WITH TEDDY IN AFRICA

NEW YORK, March 8.—Mother Paul, a nun, who has just returned from East Africa, told an interesting story today of her meeting with Colonel Roosevelt in Uganda shortly before Christmas. She quoted the former president as follows: "I try to be decent, and I do detest religious intolerance. If a man is straight, what does it matter what religion he has?"

The nun told how Roosevelt expressed great delight at a dish of American grown tomatoes and described his visit to the mission school. "The bishop, attended by the priests and Prince Joseph, with a great throng of our people, turned out to greet Colonel Roosevelt," said she. "We had two bands and one of them walked 65 miles to be there. 'I feel that he was sincere when he said he wished Mrs. Roosevelt could be there to see this model school in the heart of Africa. The children sang 'The Star Spangled Banner.' Perhaps it was the tears in my own eyes which made me think they were in his.'"

ROADS CAN FIX OWN RATES ACROSS CONTINENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8.—The United States supreme court has upheld the contention of several transcontinental railroads that the interstate commerce commission had no right to force them to make joint through passenger rates to the west. The case was brought up by the Northern Pacific, the Chicago & Northwestern, the Union Pacific, the Oregon Short Line and other lines.
