

KING EDWARD FAILING FAST

Much Interest is Being Shown by Public in Reports That Edward is Suffering From Severe Chills at Biarritz.

LONDON, England, March 16.—Increasing interest is being shown by the public here in the reports from Biarritz regarding King Edward's health since he went there recently. At first it was reported that the king suffered only a slight cold, but now it is understood that he has had several chills. The reports say that he has failed to respond to the treatment which is usually successful.

The king's advanced age causes apprehension as the result of the reports.

A year ago, when he went to Biarritz there were many rumors of serious illness, but last autumn and much of the time this winter he appeared to be greatly improved.

MAUD POWELL IS MOST PLEASING

Charming Entertainment is Given by Leading American Violinist—Splendid Playing Brightens the Evening.

The recital of Miss Maud Powell at the opera house last evening was an event extraordinary. There are but few violinists who live in the rare class to which Miss Powell belongs. There are more kings reigning in Europe than there are artists of Miss Powell's ability. The violin is the most delicate of all instruments and comes nearer speaking the subtle language of the soul than any other instrument.

There are living today only four violinists with which Miss Powell might be compared—Micha Elman, Paul Krieger, Ysaye and Kubelik. Joachim and Sarasate, the two violinists of the past decade, are but a sweet memory. Each of the above-named artists had their peculiar points of greatness—Joachain for breadth and grandeur of tone, Sarasate for grace and beauty, Kubelik for technique, Micha Elman for passion and fire. But I think it can be said with modesty that Miss Powell comes nearer combining the great points of these artists than any other violinist that the writer has ever heard, with the possible exception of Micha Elman, and even he lacks the education and refinement to cover a really wide field of excellence. It might be said of Micha Elman that in some of the heavy concertos, especially those of Russian and Polish composers, that he stands alone. But we very much doubt his being able to play, for instance, the "Traumerei" with the delicate finish equal to that of Miss Powell.

The program of last evening was perhaps not as wisely chosen as it might have been. While it was a feast for the student of music and those thoroughly familiar with the classics, it was a little heavy for even a Medford audience, which we consider pretty well to the forefront when it comes to appreciate good music.

Miss Powell is wonderfully pleased with our valley and hopes that at some time in the future when she has leisure to make an examination of our resources to make some investments. She has expressed her willingness and pleasure to become an honorary member of the Ladies' Greater Medford club. She spoke in the highest terms of the work that they are doing in beautifying the city and in looking to the literary and artistic side of the town while the men are chasing the nimble nickel.

After the concert a reception was given by Mrs. Ed Gore and Mrs. E. M. Andrews at the residence of Mrs.

"AS THE SUN WENT DOWN" IS OFFERING TONIGHT

One of the season's best offerings will be "As the Sun Went Down," by George D. Baker, which will be presented by Arthur C. Aiston's company at the Medford theater tonight. The play has been greeted by enormous audiences wherever produced so far this season, and the stamp of approval has been placed on this beautiful story of the western country.

Mr. Aiston, who has in the past given us "Friends," "Tennessee's Pardner," "At the Old Cross Roads" and other first-class attractions, has outdone himself in this, his latest effort. The success of the play so far has really been phenomenal.

The cast, which is headed by Estha Williams, well known in this city for her great performance of Parepa in "At the Old Cross Roads," is one of unusual merit and includes such well-known people as Edwin Walter, W. A. Whitecar, Arthur E. Chatterdon, Phil Connor, Arthur W. Bentley, R. F. Sullivan, William Sexton, Jenny Dunbar, Flora Byam, Margaret Millar and several others of equal note. The names of the cast alone is an assurance that the play can receive only an excellent presentation.

A complete production is carried by the company in their own special baggage car. The scenery has been painted by the Lee-Lash Scenic company of New York City, their best artists being employed to do the work, under the personal direction of W. F. Hamilton, formerly of the firm of Moses & Hamilton.
