PAID IN MIDDLE AGE FOR INJURY IN CHILDHOOD

OAKLAND, Cal., March 19.—Dora Helms, when a child, was kicked by a horse—it was nearly 40 years ago—and not until now has she been able to obtain a final settlement for damages.

In 1871 the girl was kicked and her face permanently marred. Henry Dahlmann, owner of the horse, took the matter much to heart and promised reparation. In 1884 he took a deed to property in San Leandro, worth $2000, and wrote across the bottom, "I hereby consign this property to Mrs. Helms," referring to the mother of the girl.

In 1907 Dahlmann died, and his executor, D. Pestdorf, began suit to quiet title to the property, holding that no proper deed had been given transferring it.

The case was heard before Judge Ogden, who decided that "consign" is a word of grant, and that the property had been legally transferred.

Records and papers, yellow with age, were submitted in evidence during the hearing of the case. Most of the persons who knew anything about the transaction have died and the girl who was kicked is past middle age.

FURTHER EXPOSURES ARE PROMISED IN PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 19.—Following a hurried recalling of the grand jury this afternoon, it was announced on good authority that Councilman John F. Klein, under prison sentence of three and one-half years for grafting, had confessed grafts and implicated 60 former councilmen.

Klein's alleged confession was made to Detective Robert Wilson of the Voters' league. It is reported that Klein furnished the detective with a list of men who he implicated in municipal graft.

The list is said to have shown the amount of money each man received. Some of the councilmen sold themselves for as small a sum as $1.83, according to the alleged memorandum.

Four other confessions are reported to have been obtained, but the prosecuting officials have declined to make public any of the names.

The grand jury has been called together, but will not convene until Monday.

Men Named For New Customs Court; World's First Regular "Air Liner."

William H. Hunt, one of the men nominated by President Taft for the new customs court, was formerly governor of Porto Rico and has been judge of the federal district court in Montana since 1904. James F. Smith, another of the men named, was a brigadier general of volunteers in the Philippine war and filled various offices before becoming governor general of the islands. He retired from that office several months ago.

Plans have been made for the inauguration on May 15 of the first regular air navigation service in the world. The "line" is from Munich, Bavaria, alternately to Starnberg and Oberammergau. The latter is the scene of the famous Passion play. A balloon of the Parseval type, accommodating twelve passengers besides the crew, will be used.

WIDOWERS' CLUB ANGRY SPINSTERS IN GREENWICH

GREENWICH, Conn., March 19.—Greenwich, which boasts that it has a larger number of clubs per capita than any other town in the state, having up to last week 56, has just added one more to make "57 varieties."

The new one is the Widowers' Social club. The founder is Arthur H. Dorland, democratic candidate for representative in the state legislature last year. It is composed entirely of widowers. One of the bylaws provides that any member who remarries shall give a first class dinner for all the other members, so it would seem that in these days of high prices it would work to retard remarriage.

The club already has several members, but the feminine population does not look upon it with approval. The spinsters especially, who are noted for their energy, activity and perseverance, seem to take it as an affront.

Mr. Dorland is regarded as the handsomest man in town. He is still young, tall and well built, has a fine sympathetic baritone voice, writes poetry, and despite that fact is well to do. He denies that he started the club for his personal protection, and says that if he wishes to marry again he will not hesitate at the price of a dinner.

$500,000 For a Painting. NEW YORK, March 19.—The record high price to be paid for a painting is held today by Otto Kahn, a banker, who yesterday purchased the celebrated portrait of Franz Hals, the celebrated Dutch painter, and his family, which was painted by Hals.

Kahn paid $500,000 for the painting. He secured the portrait from the Duveen brothers after he had outbid J. P. Morgan, who offered $400,000 for the oil.

The painting is the former property of Colonel Ward of Westerham, and was in possession of the Ward family since 1759.

The oil, which is 79 inches wide and 112 inches long, depicts five full length figures, a wide landscape and a dog.

Requisition for Murderer. SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 19.—A requisition for Rosario Sais, wanted in Orange county for the murder of Jose Machado, as charged, arrived at Governor Gillett's office today.

Sais was accused of firing three shots with his rifle into a shack where Machado stood in a sheep-shearing camp. He then fled to Lower California, where he is said to be under arrest.

TOM JOHNSON OF CLEVELAND DYING

Erstwhile Mayor Is in New York and Is Reported to Be Hovering Near Borderland—Physicians Silent.

NEW YORK, March 19.—It is reported that Tom Johnson, who won national fame by his fight for 3-cent car fares when he was mayor of Cleveland, is so ill that his life is despaired of.

At the Hotel Prince George, where Johnson was reported to be, the hotel clerk said that "Mr. and Mrs. Johnson" left late last night.

When asked if he would have a note sent to Johnson's apartments, he showed every sign of anger and reiterated his first declaration.

Thomas Gaunt, the doctor who attended Johnson, refused to talk regarding the reported serious condition of Johnson.

UNCLE JOE CANNON DOWN AND OUT

The scene was dramatic when Cannon faced the uproarious house and packed galleries. He stood pale and resolute on the marble rostrum under the great flag.

When ruling on the Dalzell motion the speaker said: "I am planting myself upon the law made for the house by Speaker Randall in bygone days. I am appealing from the passions of this day to the just reasoning of that day. The chair sustains the point of order and holds that the resolution is not now in order."

Cannon precedent occurred December 13, 1878. Referring to it, Cannon said: "This dential question arose in the house long ago. Mills of Texas attempted to change the rules, contending that a motion to amend the rules at any time is always in order. The house and Speaker Randall did not sustain that contention."

At the conclusion of the speaker's remarks Gaines made a motion to adjourn, but it was defeated by a large majority.

Then Norris made his appeal and Dalzell moved that the motion of appeal be laid on the table. Dalzell was defeated in the vote that followed and then the Norris resolution was put and carried.

After Cannon's decision was overruled, Olmstead took the chair and ordered the clerk to read the Norris resolution.

Norris then arose and asked Dalzell if he would agree that the debate on the resolution be closed within three hours, the period be divided equally between the two factions. Dalzell replied that this would be perfectly satisfactory.

Rodeburg of Illinois objected to having the debate limited to three hours' duration and no agreement was reached.

Norris then took the floor and offered as a substitute for his resolution the substance of Martin's amended resolution, upon which the morning's conference had been based.

Substitutes Resolution. Martin's measure provided for the increase of the present committee from five members to ten and eliminating the speaker from membership.

Norris said that he had protected his former resolution in the Martin substitute, but that there seemed to be less objection to Martin's resolution than to his own. Therefore, he said he was willing to offer the substitute.

Martin's resolution further provides that the substituted new rule recreating the rules committee shall go into effect within ten days after its adoption.

Champ Clark, Democratic minority leader of the house, was given the first opportunity to speak, Norris yielding to him.

FISHERMEN MASHED BY AUTOMOBILE

SEATTLE, Wash., March 19.—Nels Olson of Tacoma and Elias Kjarstad of Seattle, both fishermen, are in the city hospital here today, the cigar stand in front of the Portland bar is a wreck and C. E. McKelvy is out on bail for reckless driving.

Skidding over the asphalt pavement late last night, McKelvy's car crashed into the cigar stand, pinning the two fishermen against the doorway of the saloon and painfully injuring both. The owner of the cigar stand cleared the showcases in one leap and escaped injury.

CARDWELL-NUNAN CASE TAKES NEW TURN

Judge Crews Files Suit in Federal Court on Grounds That Some of arties Are Not Residents of State.

Judge W. E. Crews, representing the heirs of the late James A. Cardwell in the litigation instituted to recover part of the Cardwell lands near Jacksonville, has put a new kink in the course of events by filing suit for his clients in the federal court at Portland on the ground that most of them are not residents of the state of Oregon.

The case filed in the circuit court here entitled Medora Berry et al. vs. J. Nunan et al., will be withdrawn and the main issues made up in the federal court. However, Judge Crews intends filing suit to recover certain property in the town of Jacksonville, lying outside the land above-mentioned, but which it is claimed was transferred without proper authority.

VERDICT IN MAYBRAY CASE EXPECTED MONDAY

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., March 19.—It is predicted today that the jury in the case of John C. Maybray, the alleged leader of the Maybray gang of swindlers, and 17 of his alleged assistants, will bring in a verdict Monday.

It was announced that the case would convene this afternoon when Judge McPherson would instruct the jury.

The arguments on the present defense and of the prosecution were not completed until after 10 o'clock last night.

One thing particularly noticeable in District Attorney Temple's argument was that the defense had to introduce evidence for the defense of but one of the 118 defendants on trial for alleged swindling.

Temple asserted that Maybray and his assistants in the alleged swindles had perpetrated the most monumental fraud of its kind that the government has ever had to deal with.

VISITOR IS TAKEN INTO CAMP TO TUNE OF $1500

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 19.—As the result of an automobile ride about the city with a party of acquaintances, Ed G. Nelson, a visitor from Pennsylvania, is minus $1500 today.

Nelson complained to Captain of Detectives Wall that he had hired an automobile Thursday and in company with a woman named Ray Allen and two men unknown to him, had visited the beach resorts and from there had sped to the Barbary coast.

Late Thursday night he became separated from his party at the corner of Kearney street and Montgomery avenue. He awoke in a saloon last night to find his wallet, which had contained $1500 in currency, missing.

Captain Wall declared it is very probable that knockout drops were administered to Nelson by the party with whom he had spent the day. Detectives are now looking for the Allen woman and her companions. Nelson claims that a purse containing $268 in gold and currency was overlooked by the parties who had stripped him of his $1500. He claims to be a capitalist on a business trip to the coast.
