

HOW'S "JEFFERSON" FOR NEW STATE NAME?

C. K. Klum, Pioneer, Sounds Warning Against Adoption of "Wild, Romantic Name of Doubtful Origin."

To the Editor: In your paper of the 16th inst. I find a criticism of what I had said of the word "Siskiyou," with the name of my old friend, O. C. Applegate, mentioned as the authority, though not signed.

He is mentioned as having extensive information on Indian lore and historical traditions; disputes my statement that Siskiyou Krikan means a "bobtail horse" in the Chinook or Jargon Indian tongue, but does not give the words for bob-tailed horse in the Chinook. Had he done so the dispute would have been settled. But the reason for not giving it is there is none to give, and the only way to express it would be to take your knife out, raise a horse's tail and make the motion of cutting it off.

What is said of the old Frenchman construing "rock" and "stone" in the French language to sound like Siskiyou is too far fetched, as two intelligent Frenchmen of Astoria have told me it cannot be done.

Mr. Applegate has considerable knowledge of the Siskiyou, so has the writer, who had crossed it many times before J. C. ever saw the mountains, could speak the Chinook fairly well much earlier than he. "Siskiyou" sounds pretty, but "a rose would smell as sweet by any other name."

Society is always under obligation to its predecessors; those who had acted wisely and made the path smooth for their successors.

We have had men who exhibited a wisdom and prescience for our welfare that places us under a debt of gratitude, and their names should be given to our new states.

Jefferson, in accepting Bonaparte's offer for the sale of the "Louisiana Purchase" without any constitutional authority, as he admits, for doing it, placed us under such obligation. Acting without loss of time, he at once organized and sent off the Lewis and Clark exploring expedition to cinch and bind the bargain. And the men selected to lead the expedition did their work with the heroic determination of Jefferson. Greatest exploration in America.

Our history is so full of excellent men that it would take time to mention them. The name "Lincoln" is nearest and dearest to the American heart.

His growth from the lowest ranks of labor to the front rank in statesmanship brought him in touch with all.

Such a name as his given to a movement for a new state would secure votes in California, Oregon and congress for it that could not be moved to its support by any wild, romantic name of doubtful origin, as "Siskiyou."

ELABORATE MUSICAL PROGRAM AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

The choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church has been preparing for some time to present most elaborate musical services both morning and evening next Sunday to fittingly commemorate the resurrection and ascension of our Lord Jesus Christ. Most exacting work has been required in this preparation. The music has been selected with great care and will consist of excerpts from Gounod's "The Redemption," Warren's "Magdalene," etc. At the evening service the hymns, anthems and solo work will be so interwoven as to portray in song the principal incidents of Christ's last hours on earth and his ascension. All friends, strangers and those without any church affiliations are most cordially invited and will be especially welcome to worship with this church.

Old Veteran Dead.

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 25.—Preparations are being made today for the burial of George Cross, who came to California with General Fremont in 1846. He died last night at a local sanitarium.

Cross resided on a farm near this city for many years. He was born at Ogdensburg, N. Y., 85 years ago.

MAY AVERT TARIFF WAR WITH CANADA

Ambassador Bryce Secures Another Conference on Mooted Question—May Allow Canada Minimum Rates

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The good offices of Ambassador Bryce today in securing another conference on the Canadian tariff question gave new hope for the prevention of a tariff war with the dominion.

W. S. Fielding, minister of finance of Canada, has consented to come here for a final conference with President Taft.

It is thought that the president will be able to come to some agreement whereby Canada may be allowed minimum tariff rates. Representations have been made to the president by American growers and producers along the Canadian border that trade war would mean tremendous loss to them as well as to the people of the United States in general.
