

"Red Mill" March 30 th

Oakland likes "The Red Mill," The Enquirer of the 19th says: "The 'Red Mill' is a great show. 'The mills of the gods grind slowly,' but the libretto mill of Henry Blossom must have been grinding dangerously near the hot-box limit when he turned out the snappy book of 'The Red Mill.' The music by that past master of harmony, Victor Herbert, is, in the main, very good, although not as near classic as many of his former operas, notably 'The Serenade' and 'Wang,' but is in musical merit far beyond the majority of the misnamed 'musical comedies' of recent date.

Several songs are of the catchy type, of which "In Old New York," in which is introduced six little Dutch "Kiddies" attired in the quaint costume of Holland, "Good-a-Bye, John," an Italian ditty which is musical and full of good harmony motifs; "The Isle of Our Dreams," are the best, or, at least, the most applauded. Contrary to all accepted musical comedy books, Blossom actually has a plot running through his libretto and the plot finally works out, as it should, of course. The red mill, according to the legend, is haunted, and any maiden left in it for a period of time mysteriously disappears. Two Americans, stranded in Holland and having no means of support except their wits, turn the reputed magical qualities of the red mill into good, hard coin.

Frank Woods as Con Kidder and Bert Swor, with the equally euphonious title of Kid Conner, the two Americans, were the chief funmakers and their bright, up-to-date slang contrasted strongly with the precise speech of the burgomaster and the governor. The dancing of little Vernice Martyn, who was cast for the part of Tina, the innkeeper's daughter, was one of the features of the show. The Franz of Alvin Laughlin was laughable and reminiscent of the work of Ferris Hartman, while Otto Koerner as the burgomaster was a good second.

Harry R. McClain, who acceptably played the part of the governor, had a splendid song with Georgia Harvey (Bertha) entitled, "Because You're You," that was encored several times and was the hit of the show.

The scenery and the costumes in the second act were an artistic triumph, for the pastel-shaded gowns of the women, the delicately tinted uniforms of the men and the Holland Delft back drop and slides made an ensemble of scene that reflected great credit upon the designer and one which will be long remembered by Macedonough theatergoers.

"The Red Mill" is well worth seeing and hearing, and when contrasted with some of the recent Broadway importations is in a class by itself in book and score.

PENROLL LOOKS GOOD TO JENNINGS

Jackson County Southpaw Makes Good in Big Brush—Wouldn't McCredie Like to Have Him Now?

The following from the Detroit News of March 17 indicates that Pernoll is making good in the practice games:

Hughie Jennings is today talking about a young man named Henry Hudson Pernoll.

The Tigers' leader is saying many pleasant things about him.

Henry Hudson Pernoll is a pitcher. Frank Navin dug deep into his jeans to secure Pernoll's services from the Aberdeen club, in the Northwestern league. Some thought Navin foolish for paying such a price, but today it looks as though the Solomon of baseball owners has struck rich again.

The Tigers need a good left-hander. The first flash showed Pernoll to be the proper party for the Detroit club. Eleven men faced him in three innings, two of them reached first as a result of being hit by pitched balls.

The box score does not give Pernoll the credit due him. Awkward batters marred his record as far as figures go. Carter, grabbing a bat in the middle, reached across the plate and a good strike grazed his sleeve, giving him a pass.

Sheffield was not hit, the ball striking the end of his bat and fouling off. The umpire, standing behind Casey, thought the ball struck the batter and gave him a base.

Pernoll fanned four men, and three of the five batters who touched the ball were thrown out by him.

The graduate of Aberdeen is an easy fielder. Colgrove smashed the ball toward third base. Pernoll was on his way when the bat touched the ball. He grabbed it with his gloved hand and made a perfect "peg," getting the runner by five feet on what appeared an impossible chance.

He showed excellent control. Most of the players were nervous in this first tryout of the year, but not Pernoll. He sped them up as though he had been doing that for six or seven months.

He has worked a full nine innings against this same team since, and held them to four hits and one run. You will remember that the San Antonio team won the championship of the Texas league last season and are players of ability. Jesse Garrett of the Portland team is from there and Bill Burns of the Chicago team is another graduate of the Texas league.

EILERS PIANO HOUSE DOES A GOOD BUSINESS

Nineteen pianos have been disposed of up to Thursday night. The grand display of high-grade pianos makes, at popular sale prices was magnet too strong to resist.

Seven pianos sold on Thursday and most of them the better grades. Realizing that they could buy high-grade pianos for the same price ordinarily asked for cheaper makes, the people have taken advantage of the opportunity and bought.

ELECTRIC PARK

Adjoins the county seat, Jacksonville; 20 minutes' ride by train or auto from Medford. This beautiful wooded tract contains 650 acres of land, commanding a magnificent view of Medford and the valley. It is proposed to incorporate a company, capitalized at $65,000, with 650 shares of stock at $100 per share. After incorporating, it is proposed to plat and subdivide the grounds into acre tracts, plant it to fruit, best adapted to the soil, and sell it at an average price of $500 per acre, on easy terms. Each share of stock represents one acre, and for a short time stock will be sold for $100 per share, $10 cash and $5 per month for 18 months. This stock is not for sale as a whole at $100 per share, nor at the rate of $100 per acre. The company proposes to realize much more out of it for the stockholders. Over fifty of Medford's live booster business men have already invested. Two hundred more booster investors are wanted to purchase one share only each.

The combined boosting of this Electric Park bunch will make a populous suburb to Medford, make hundreds of beautiful homes, make an hourly service on Barnum's railroad, and make its stockholders a handsome profit. For further information inquire at Office, 209 West Main Street.
