ERICKSON TALKS TO SUPERVISORS

Local Forest Supervisor Takes a Prominent Part in Convention of Foresters Now Under Way in City of Portland.

PORTLAND, Oregon, March 25.—Thursday's session of the forest supervisors' annual meeting, which is being held here, was devoted to the reading of a paper by Forest Supervisor M. L. Erickson, of the Crater National Forest, on the methods to be followed in making timber reconnoissance and estimates on the east side of the Cascade mountains in Oregon and Washington. He also dwelt to some extent on the method of marking timber for cutting and the disposal of brush and refuse on timber sale areas.

Supervisor Erickson recommended a plan for carefully mapping all burned timber areas, open glades, prairies, blocks of merchantable timber and every physical forest composition, stating that the purpose of reconnoissance was to furnish the supervisor with all possible information for the proper administration of his forest and economic disposition of timber on the forest so as to insure a permanent supply.

SPOKANE RABBI STIRS UP ROW

Brands Public School Course Absolute Failure—Says Training of Will-Power Is Needed to Eradicate Social Evil.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 25.—Dr. David Levine, rabbi of Congregational Emmanuel, stirred up a veritable hornet's nest in Spokane when he branded the public school course in moral hygiene an absolute failure. He said the theory in sociology is that the social evil can be eradicated by knowledge, a modern instance of the old Socratic dictum that knowledge and virtue are one, adding:

"This doctrine has come down through the centuries with a momentum but little short of irresistible—due, no doubt, to the magnificent moral career of Socrates, in whose life the doctrine was so luminously illustrated and seemingly vindicated. We should bear in mind, however, that this teaching was in reality but a little more than an unconscious autobiographical disclosure, but not a principle of universal validity. It assumed a will like his own—one that would serve only his highest interests.

"The weakness of the theory was demonstrated in the career of Socrates' disciple, Alcibiades. Handsome and brilliant, this young Athenian was the philosopher's darling. To him Socrates imparted instruction lovingly and lavishly. And still Alcibiades became one of the most depraved specimens of citizenship that Athens ever produced. And why? Because Alcibiades, despite all his knowledge and ability, lacked a disciplined will."

Dr. Levine says that the Society for Social and Moral Hygiene would confer an unutterable blessing upon Spokane by the introduction of a system of will training in the schools and in homes, instead of pandering to the child's craving for the mysterious and further appealing, in the old, reprehensible fashion, to his fear or to his pride. Such training, he believes, would result in a marked diminution of all moral ills.
