ELOPERS MAY WED IN 18 MONTHS

Father of Young Girl Who Twice Eloped With Youthful Lover Promises That Couple May Wed If They Will Wait 18 Months.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 31.—John R. Seifert, father of pretty Gertrude Seifert, 15, who has twice eloped with Thomas Foreman, 17, but has each time been brought back to her parents, left today with his family for Chicago. He will go from Chicago direct to New York and from New York will sail for Europe, where he will stay two years, according to plans outlined here.

Seifert gave his word last night that his daughter and Foreman may be married in 18 months if they still wish to be at the end of that time. Seifert's departure was rather hurried, according to friends. He had planned to take a month's tour through America before sailing, it is said, and the change of plans are the result of the recent attempted elopement of his daughter and her youthful lover.

CIRCUIT COURT GRINDING.

court Thursday, the jury being taken to Ashland to view the premises. Evidence is being heard today.

Following this case will be heard the case of C. E. J. Kenney vs. T. J. Kenney, a bankrupt. Kenney claims that there is $2200 due him as salary while working in T. J. Kenney's store. The claim was filed with William Ulrich as assignee and was taken into court for adjudication.

W. D. Moore, who was indicted for carrying a concealed weapon, has been arraigned and a plea of not guilty entered. This case has grown out of a long standing feud which has been waged on Evans creek between Moore and his brother. Recently Mr. Moore straddled a six-shooter on his hip as he stated that he believed himself to be in danger from bodily injury. This case will soon be heard in the circuit court.

Davis Claim Up Soon.
Another phase of the case of Edgar Hafer et al. vs. The Medford & Crater Lake, et al., will be heard next Saturday before Judge Calkins, when the claim of A. A. Davis, an unpaid creditor, is to be considered. All of the paid-up stockholders of the road have been summoned into court on that day. It was in order to hear this claim before passing finally upon the application of Receiver J. F. Reddy for his receivership fee that Judge Calkins recently declined to enter a final order in Reddy's petition. A score of witnesses have been summoned and the case promises to be one of the most important heard during this term of court.

Judge Calkins directed the jury which heard the case of H. B. Holmes who was charged with selling butter in the city of Ashland contrary to the laws of the state to return a verdict of not guilty. This case came up on an appeal from the justice's court in Ashland.

PROBATE MATTERS.

The appraisers of the estate of J. W. Harrold, have returned a report showing property valued at $1000 and certain property in Texas the value of which is unknown.

The guardian of Gilberta Rosenstock has been granted permission in the probate court to purchase a piano for the young lady out of the funds of the estate as of $200.

A new case was filed Wednesday in the circuit court in which George Loftis seeks to recover $260 on a promissory note issued by H. P. Larson.

BASE BALL BATTER

The baseball season has opened and Medford will play Jacksonville at the Medford ball park Sunday. The Rogue River Valley league promises to put up fast ball this summer. The schedule calls for 20 games.

Medford and Jacksonville are tied for first place, and the game Sunday ought to be a good one, as the winning team in this game will lead the league.

In the Grants Pass game the Medford boys were the more dangerous at all times, excepting one inning they had two or more men die on bases. Grants Pass made three double plays.

Manager Hall says he is glad Jacksonville has a good team this year—the better they are, the more interesting the games.

Young & Hall offer $20 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the parties breaking into the grandstand and stealing baseball articles. People climbing over the fence to get inside the ball park during a game will be arrested and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Anle, Isaacs and Blackington make a strong outfield.

Wilkinson will play first base Sunday.

George Cooper, Medford's left-hand pitcher two years ago, has returned to Medford.

The game at Grants Pass last Sunday was a gruelling contest. After the fifth inning it was anybody's game, and the last six innings the spectators were kept in a high pitch of excitement. And some spectacular play would always come up to prevent the winning run from crossing the plate until the eleventh inning, when Medford scored a man from second on Isaacs' right-field hit.

Manager Hall says he will make the Jacksonville busser from Applegate look like 30 cents next Sunday. He does not think he is a second Pernoil.

Young Henselman on third base is a fast man, both in fielding and on the bases, and with more experience will develop into the best third-base man Medford ever had.

The Medford team averages good for the early season and is the best to start off with that Medford has ever had.

RED MILL GROUND SOME GOOD FLOUR

Considerable Per Cent of Middlings, However, Is Found—Victor Herbert's Music Good.

"The Red Mill" ground out its grist of mirth and melody with some good flour and a considerable per cent of middlings. When Sullivan, Auber and Planquett were giving us their comic operas our managers were deficient in stage accessories, but later, when the musical comedy craze struck the country the book and music usually had so little merit that chorus girls, scenery and stage effects were absolutely essential to the success of the production. It seems that these attractions have been carried to the limit and the light are once more crying out for light operas with meritorious music and singers that can sing.

"The Red Mill" is strong in some respects. It has a good plot, attractive scenery and unique costumes, and Victor Herbert has written some very good music. He is an author that is capable of good things, but of late years has been so engulfed in a maelstrom of ragtime that it is a wonder than any originality is left. The comedy of last night's opera is very good, although of the lighter sort that will not stand more than once or twice hearing. It is to Gilbert's comedy what "Ten Nights in a Barroom" is to "Hamlet."
