BIG SALE OF SEATS ON FIRST DAY

The sale of seats for the Lambardi Opera company opened with a rush, $700 worth of seats being sold the first hour. There are plenty of good seats left, especially in the $2 and $1 sections.

Manager Hazelrigg has reserved the entire gallery at $1 each so that patrons who feel they cannot afford the high-priced seats may yet have a chance to hear the great orchestra and be sure of a good seat.

The man who is not sure that advertising will help him sell it is trying to sell something that you ought to be very wary about buying.

Don't take the trouble and expense of moving until you have had "want ad help" in looking about.
