

MEDFORD WINS VERY SLOW GAME

Neither Team Plays in Usual Form—Errors Numerous and Costly—Feature Is Wendt's Batting—Colvig Pitched First One Over.

The league season opened at Medford Sunday, when Medford and Jacksonville met for the first time. The band was supposed to be there, but it wasn't, except as individuals.

The game opened at 2:45 with Judge Colvig and Mayor Canon as the battery for Medford.

Judge Colvig made three essays before he could get a ball near enough to the plate so that "Curley" Wilson could smash it. Mayor Canon stood behind the plate and watched the balls go by. He had become so much in the habit of having his police force chase the "bad ones" that he couldn't see the necessity of chasing them himself.

It was a slow and almost featureless game that the big crowd of fans saw at the ball grounds Sunday.

The boys were trying hard enough, but they seemed to have lead in their shoes. There was no ginger in the game.

Jacksonville was never dangerous at any time, but was always held safe by Coleman. Coffman was wild and when he did put one over somebody mapped it out. Wilkinson was walked three times.

The feature was Wendt's batting. Out of five times up he hit safely five times, all clean hits, with the exception of one, which was of the scratch order.

Grants Pass Wins. Grants Pass won from Central Point Sunday by a score of 16 to 6, outplaying the Central Pointers at all stages.

DASHES MEAT HOOK INTO SLEEPING MAN'S BRAIN

VALLEJO, Cal., April 4.—Accused of dashing a meat hook into the brain of a man and swinging the body around as a butcher handles meat, John Adams, a cement worker, is in jail here today.

The name of the murdered man is S. W. Whitehall. Whitehall was foreman of the cement works and lived near Adams at Suisun.

Adams, although charged with murder, is suspected of being insane. In a statement to the sheriff today he said: "I dreamed that Whitehall was attacking me. I thought I had to defend my life, so I seized the first thing I could find to protect myself."

The room in which the murder of which Adams is accused is committed was a shambly. The victim's body had been dragged about until the hook had torn loose from the skull, taking with it portions of the skull and some of the dead man's brains. Whitehall was asleep when attacked.

Died. In Medford, at the family residence, 122 Cottage street, Sunday, April 3, 1910, Mrs. Clara McDonald, wife of Angus McDonald, aged 58 years, 4 months and 9 days. The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. C. H. Moxie officiating.

At her home in Medford, Saturday, April 2, Minnie E. Leatherman, aged 31 years, 5 months and 16 days. The remains were shipped to Wilbur, Or., for interment Sunday.

DOG RUNS AMUCK ON SOUTH GRAPE

Strange Dog, Foaming at Mouth Terrorizes Inhabitants in West Medford and Is Dispatched by a Bullet—Owner Is Unknown.

A huge dog, evidently with a strain of collie in him, ran amuck on South Grape street Sunday afternoon, terrorizing the residents of that section until he was dispatched by one of the inhabitants. A number of people who were on the street sought safety in flight, and it is said that more than one young lady climbed garden fences with great dexterity to escape the mad animal.

The dog appeared suddenly upon the street as a number of young folks were returning from the ball game. He was fairly "yelping his head off" and was foaming at the mouth. One of the residents rushed into his house and when his rifle spoke the career of the canine was over.

The dog was a stranger and no one appears to know its owner.

TEDDY REFUSES RESTRICTED AUDIENCE

restrict his freedom while at Rome. In effect, the restriction implied in Monsignor Kennedy's final message to Roosevelt was that the colonel could not be received by his holiness if he contemplated a prior address to the Methodists here.

Although it is believed that Roosevelt had made no engagement to address the Methodist college, he deemed it a curb upon his liberty should he consent to the restriction.

In the course of a message Monsignor Kennedy referred to a similar incident involving Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice-president of the United States. Fairbanks had agreed to address the Methodist college and also had accepted an invitation to visit the vatican.

Meets the King.

King Victor Emmanuel today granted a two-hour interview to former President Roosevelt. The length of the audience caused general surprise, as it was the longest ever granted to any visitor at Rome, except upon political occasions.

The nature of the conversation between the king and former President Roosevelt was not divulged, but it is believed that the "vatican" incident was discussed.

Kermit Roosevelt also was granted an audience by the king.

Teddy Is Praised.

Following the visit of Roosevelt and Kermit to the Quirinal, King Emmanuel said: "They were a most interesting pair. I have always looked upon Theodore Roosevelt as one of the greatest men in the world. Today's meeting has only strengthened that impression."

After leaving the palace, Roosevelt was driven to the Pantheon, where he placed wreaths on the tombs of Kings Emmanuel, Victor and Humbert.

A great throng lined the course of the Roosevelt party to the Pantheon and another large crowd witnessed the simple ceremony at the tombs.

After returning to the hotel the colonel was occupied for two hours in reading his mail.

JEFFRIES IN FRISCO ON WAY TO TRAINING QUARTERS

OAKLAND, Cal., April 4.—James J. Jeffries, Mrs. Jeffries and party arrived here this morning from Los Angeles, en route to Rowdennan, where Jeffries will take up active training for the fight with Jack Johnson, July 4.

Upon arrival at Oakland, Jeffries debarked from the train at the Sixteenth-street station, thereby giving the slip to a number of newspaper men who had gathered at the Oakland depot to greet him. Jeffries was met at the Sixteenth-street station by an old friend, "Dick" Adams. The Jeffries party entered Adams' automobile and were whirled away. It was expected that Jeffries would "cross the bay" later in the day and leave for Rowdennan from San Francisco this afternoon.
