

WOMEN, LIBERTY AND COCKTAILS A BAD MIX

Rev. Cadman Goes for Those Who Loll in Hotels Drinking or See Risque Plays.

POUGHKEEPSIE, April 8.—The Rev. Parkes E. Cadman, pastor of the Central Congregational church of Brooklyn, took a slam at the cocktail habit among New York women in a speech before the New York Methodist Episcopal conference today.

"We hear much about the liberty of women in our day," he said. "We rejoice that in this country she has more liberty than she could have anywhere else, and it will bless her if she has enough good sense to make proper use of it. But if spending time in the dazzling hotels of New York, drinking cocktails, seeing plays fished up from Paris sewers—I say if that be the way she chooses to use her liberty better that she never had liberty at all."

Gedstola A. W. erate Mayu Cori Tetaoinhe Taking up the political situation Mr. Cadman said:

"I am sure that decent men can discern little in sight of which to be proud. There is no surer sign of decadence of our democracy than this constant cry for a strong man somewhere. Be a strong man where you are."

"It is not in the White House that the strong man is needed who has backbone instead of wishbone. All this cry that the state be saved, the nation be conserved, the government be made secure by some imperial figure is certain evidence of decay. Get up, for God's sake, and play your own game!"

"NOW, VICTOR DO STOP INSURGING"

WASHINGTON, April 8.—"Victor, I am glad to see that you are not smoking today."

Thus was the Kansas Insurgent representative, Victor Murdock, accosted by a trim little old lady with a black satin sun-shade, as he was leaving the house office building in great haste just before noon today in order to reach the floor in time for the opening. It was Mrs. Myra McHenry, of Wichita, the congressman's home, and she wanted to talk to him about lots of things. Mr. Murdock had to forego the opening of the house, for Mrs. McHenry, who was at one time Mrs. Carrie Nation's right bower in the Kansas anti-whiskey fight, is an insistent conversationalist.

"I am trying to stop smoking, Mrs. McHenry," said the congressman. "I find that I was doing a little too much of it."

"Oh, Victor I am so glad," she answered. "Now I want you to quit insurging too, but, if you must insurge, don't insurge all the time; be moderate about it, be temperate. I know your mother well, Victor, and she would be better pleased if you wouldn't insurge so much. Really, I don't believe she would like it all if she knew how you were going on."

Mr. Murdock bowed and hastened to the house.

"Mrs. McHenry is almost as much of a regular as Uncle Joe Cannon, he said."

BRIDLE COUPLE FIGHT ABOUT A POODLE

ATLANTA, April 8.—The refusal of J. J. McCourt, a bridegroom of a few months, to carry his wife's perfectly clean poodle dog under his arm while walking in the street caused a fight between the couple in public which resulted in their arrest. McCourt is a native of New York. His wife hails from Washington. They were married a few months ago and came to Atlanta.

Mrs. McCourt is a handsome, young woman and she wears pretty clothes. Her husband is nice looking, too, and they are happy to have shown all signs of being happily married up to the ill-fated hour when the poodle dog came between them. At the police station became reconciled and were released. Meanwhile the poodle has disappeared and Mr. and Mrs. McCourt are offering a reward for the return of the dog.

Itching Eczema Washed Away.

Is it worth 25 cents to you to stop that awful, agonizing itch? Surely you will spend 25 cents on your druggists' recommendation, to cool and heal and soothe that terrible itching eruption?

By arrangement with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago we are able to make a special offer of a 25-cent bottle of their oil of wintergreen compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription. Call or write or telephone to the Medford Pharmacy.

We absolutely know that the itch is stopped at once by D. D. D. Prescription, and the cures all seem to be permanent.
