

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Rardon's New York chocolates are making friends very day.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Schiffer of Denver, Colo., are registered at the Moore.

Maek Adams left Thursday evening for Portland on a short business trip.

Attended the opening at Meeker's Saturday at 2 p. m.

Montgomery's hair-dressing parlors now open. 50*

A closed pouch mail service between Ashland and Medford has been inaugurated on the Southern Pacific motor car.

The first mail under the new car was received at the Ashland postoffice at 9:30 Thursday and the first pouch dispatched from there for Medford at 1:30 the same afternoon.

Rardon's new iceless fountain is dispensing all the latest drinks, ices and cream.

Miss Ina Cochran is visiting friends at the Opp mine near Jacksonville.

Meeker treats you all Saturday at 2 p. m. and evening.

John H. Carkin, attorney at law, over Jackson County Bank.

Jack Porter, a bookkeeper in the Benton County National bank, leaves in a day or two for Medford, where he will join his fortunes with that of a real estate company.

Jack came from that section originally, attended O. A. C. and has found Corvallis worth his while up to this time.

He has interests here that will probably bring him back frequently—Corvallis Times.

Died—At the family home on West Eleventh street, Friday morning, April 8, the 6-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Perkins, of whooping cough.

The funeral will take place Saturday.

Rardon's Bakery uses Kansas hard wheat flour exclusively for bread—"that's the reason."

Lead the Pantorium clean it. J. W. Berrian, formerly in charge of the government fish hatchery at Elk creek, returned to Medford from Brownsville, Or., where he has been for the past two years.

"Jackson county looks good to me," he says, "and the temptation must be strong to induce me to leave it again."

New hair-dressing parlors now open at Montgomery's. 50*

County Judge J. R. Neil was at Phoenix Friday looking over the site of the proposed bridge across Bear creek at that point.

F. B. Waite, the Douglas county capitalist, is a business visitor in Medford today, and in company with Howard S. Dudley went south to look over their holdings near Ashland.

We clean quilts, blankets and portieres at the Pantorium.

A. L. Loomis of Fargo, N. D., is in Medford looking after business interests.

Peach trees for sale at ten cents each. H. B. Patterson, Nash hotel.

C. L. Rennes went to Butte Falls Friday in the matter of the disturbance at the ball game there last week.

The Commercial club needs more rooms to rent. The demand is far overreaching the supply and they would kindly ask the people who have rooms to rent to call the club rooms, Main 631, at once, as people are waiting for them.

Please your order in the wagon will be O. B. Main 2441.

Dr. B. F. Miller of Flint, Mich., is among those looking for good investments in Rogue river property.

For artistic photographs go to Lesmeister's. Children's pictures a specialty; Central Point. 10*

Miss Cora Adams of Tacoma, who has been visiting her brothers, W. R. and E. S. Adams, of the Coker Hotel, left Friday morning on their return to Tacoma.

Phonies cleaned, dyed and curled at the Pantorium.

Fred J. Blakesley of Roseburg is in Medford looking after his mining interests.

George Kohlhaugen of Roseburg shipped a carload of fine beef to that city from Medford this week.

Mr. Kohlhaugen has been having his beef cattle fed in the Applegate section this winter and finds it pays to drive his stock from Douglas county here, feed them and then ship the fat stock back by rail.

Now, what do you think of that? Have your accounts booked after business hours and save the expense of a regular bookkeeper. P. O. Box 301.

Mrs. R. C. Minear and son, M. I. Minear, were at Grants Pass Friday on business.

E. C. Ashbury of Gold Hill was in Medford Thursday.

Miss Ina Goodale has accepted a position as bookkeeper at Hutchason & Lumsden's.

You are invited to visit our new location on South Central avenue, W. H. Meeker & Co.

The Winter Nellis pear orchard on the Snowy Butte property is a mass of whiteness this week and one of the prettiest sights in the valley.

Volume II, No. 1, of the Rogue Magazine is out and shows improvement. When the first number was issued a year ago, Brown was given six months in which to suspend. He has doubled the limit and is still in the game. The last number is a very creditable one.

Rardon's assortment of cakes, pies, cookies, etc., is complete in every detail.

Mrs. Roderick Clark of Central Point was called to Portland Wednesday evening, her sister's young child being burned to death there yesterday.

Father Van Clarenbeck returned Friday morning from Portland, where he has been ill with typhoid fever for the past several weeks. He had started on a vacation and was taken ill when he reached Portland, and ever since has been in St. Vincent's hospital. His many friends and parishioners in Medford will be glad to learn that Father Van has recovered and will soon be able to resume his parochial duties.

George H. Durham of Grants Pass is in Medford on business today.

R. G. Smith was in Medford Friday on business before the circuit court at Jacksonville.

In the Pacific Telephone Magazine, published for distribution among the employees of the company is an article of Medford by Mrs. Lucille Rood Conrad, together with an illustration of Main street on an ordinary busy day. The article is concisely written and gives the greatest amount of information in the fewest words. It is a good piece of advertising, as it reaches a class which the ordinary schemes would not attract. Every artisan reads his trade journal and believes what he reads.

ALBANIAN TROOPS CHECKED BY TURKS

Heavy Losses Sustained Near Push-tina, According to Advices Received in Belgrade.

BELGRADE, Serbia, April 8.—A large force of rebellious Albanian troops were checked with heavy losses near Prishtina, according to advices received here today. The loyalist Turkish troops also sustained loss, but are believed to have inflicted the greater damage. Both sides are reported to have been reinforced and returned to the conflict.

It is believed that only the restoration of Abdul Hamid to the throne of Turkey will pacify the Albanians. They have continuously the de-thronement of the present sultan and the release of Abdul from his incarceration at Salonika and his restoration to power.

To the Editor: The papers are full of the fuss that Roosevelt kicked up in Rome on account of his failing to call upon one body of holy men before he did the other. It is hard to see what difference it would make whom he called upon first.

Rome is supposed to be the city where Christianity first took solid root. Paul and Peter walked its streets. These apostles had looked upon the face of Christ; they had walked and talked with Him; they, perhaps, heard Him utter the words, "Love one another." In this city the believers in Christ forgave those who put them to death. They worshipped by night in the sand-pits outside the city, in the secret places of the catacombs. They won the respect of the world by their meekness and spirit of forgiveness. Before the power of this unselfish religion of love and brotherhood Greek mythology became a myth, the scepter of authority dropped from the hands of the gods of Olympia.

Two thousand years have passed since the religion of the Man of Sor-row was first preached to the world. Millions and millions have been spent to carry the message of peace to the uttermost parts of the earth, and here in this day of enlightenment, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and ten, two different sects, both repeating almost identically the same apostolic creed, both carrying the message of love to a benighted world, right on the ground where Peter and Paul came fresh from the Master and preached to the few that would listen, right in this historic city, two creeds are crouched, snarling at each other like beasts of prey, and were it not for the civil law, would be at each other's throats.

This makes us inquire what progress has the religion of Jesus Christ made in 2000 years. Well, we might say in answer, its pure principles have permeated the world. The honesty and candor of thinking mankind

GAYNOR WOULD HAVE CHURCHES PAY TAXES

New York's Mayor Buses Himself by Looking into City Taxes and Assessments.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Being satisfied that much progress in New York is being undervalued, Mayor Gaynor today began to "wake up" the tax assessors.

For some time the mayor has busied himself by looking into city taxes and assessments. As a result he suggested that churches and other religious institutions should be compelled to pay their share of taxes for local improvements.

WILL START CHICKEN FARM ON COLEMAN CREEK

C. H. Hoxie has purchased from Gus Lawrence 122 1-2 acres on Coleman creek, southwest of Medford for a consideration of $15000 or thereabouts. The land is partially agricultural and partially small timber, and Mr. Hoxie purposes going into the chicken business on a large scale. He will establish a home there and will be joined by his mother later on.
