MEDFORD, OREGON.
 Metropolis of Southern Oregon and Northern California and fastest-growing city in Oregon.
 Population, April 1910, 8600.
 Banner fruit city of Oregon—Rogue free apples won sweepstakes prize and title of "Apple Kings of the World" at National Apple Show, Spokane, 1909.
 Rogue River pears brought highest prices in all markets of the world during the past five years.
 Write Commercial Club for pamphlets.

Who says the supreme court is friendly to Medford?

Anyhow, that Wasson canyon water beats Bear creek.

Aldrich is to retire—so is Hale of Maine. One by one the old guard of stand-patters are sitting down.

Ashland the terminal of the Crater Lake highway? Sure, it will be, and so will Central Point and Gold Hill and other Rogue river towns.

That fountain by the Medford National bank awaiting the statue of Mike Hanley to commemorate the water system, can now have a hall relief of the supreme court as well as those of A. E. Reames and Judge Hanna.

Why should fifty thousand residents of southern Oregon lose recreation and revenue from tourist sportsmen to further fatten the hog monopoly at the mouth of the Rogue?

That Crater Lake is a local affair and that the rights of a rancher are paramount to those of a city, are pearls of wisdom dropped from the Solomons of Oregon's supreme court.

Frost has injured the fruit crop from Ohio to Iowa. Snow has fallen in Kansas and Colorado. Through smudging, much of the crop in the Grand valley was saved. So far no damage has resulted from frost in the Rogue and orchardists are prepared for it when it comes.

Leave this at home for the census man:

First name, initial and last name.
 State, territory or foreign country where born.

Age at last birthday.
 If foreign born, give name of mother tongue, the year of arriving in United States, whether an alien, whether the first papers have been taken out or whether fully naturalized.

Give state, territory or foreign country where parents were born.

Trade or profession, nature of business or establishment where working.

Whether an employer, worker or working on own account.

Whether out of work April 15, 1910, and number of weeks, if any, out of work in 1909. "Out of work" does not mean vacations or strikes, but inability to find employment.

If over 50 years, whether a survivor of the Union or confederate army or navy.

Single, married, widowed or divorced.

If married, whether first, second or subsequent marriage, and how many years of present marriage.

Whether able to speak English; whether able to read or write English or any other language.

Whether white, black, mulatto, Chinese, Japanese or Indian.

If owner of the house lived in, whether it is free or mortgaged.

Whether blind in both eyes, or deaf and dumb.

A COMMUNITY OF INTEREST PROPOSITION.

AT THE meeting of the Ashland Commercial club to consider the Crater Lake highway project the self-apparent fact was clearly brought out that Ashland will be a terminus and starting point for the proposed highway, and that through its becoming a tourist resort, that city will reap more benefit from the road and secure a larger share of money spending sightseers than Medford. The same holds good for every city in the Rogue River valley. The road cannot be constructed without benefiting every town. They will all be starting points for Crater Lake. Tourists cannot come into the valley without seeing every part of it. They cannot spend money in one section without every section reaping the benefit.

The Crater Lake highway is a community of interest proposition. It will directly benefit every town in southern Oregon and it will cement together the various localities to work for the common good. Indirectly it will benefit every city in the state. It is impossible to direct 50,000 sightseers through the state annually without some portion catching the fancy of some of the tourists, leading to investment and settlement by the most desirable class of citizens.

It is impossible for any one section of the state to benefit much without other sections being benefited also to a greater or lesser degree. Civilization has made every part of the country dependent upon the rest of the country. We cannot begin to produce everything we consume, and we cannot begin to consume everything we produce. The exchange of our surplus for the surplus produced by other localities constitutes commerce, and the more of a surplus we can profitably produce, and the greater the surplus of others' production we can consume, the greater the prosperity.

HELPING THE HOUSEWIFE.

The conservation of kitchen resources with the object of teaching the housewife what is best to eat, the best way to use it, and how to buy it, is the object of a meat cookbook issued by the department of agriculture containing the results of exhaustive experiments with a queer device called the calorimeter.

Economy in cooking is a neglected science with the average American housewife, as compared with her European cousin. American consuls abroad have commented upon the difference in the standards of living between the various nations. Although the American secures a larger wage than the German, the latter is a better fed man. Americans put more into the kitchen, but the German takes more out of it, and the German housewife is pronounced unequalled as a conservator of kitchen resources.

The calorimeter is used to determine the value of food and its relation to the health, growth and energy of the body. Food consumption is studied by an analysis on the theory that the human body is self-regulated, and that where as in the case of a furnace, all the fuel is converted into ash, gas and heat, in the body a part of the food fuel goes toward building up the tissues.

All human energy is transformed into heat given off from the body. Every movement causes a slight escape of heat. To measure the heat is to know the amount of energy expended. The apparatus used is as large as a room and as delicate as a ship's chronometer. The subject is placed in a heat proof chamber, so as to remain unaffected by temperature changes from without. There are two outer walls separated by an air space through which are run alternately tubs for the circulation of cold water and wires for electric currents. The man in the calorimeter is fed upon the diet to be analyzed. To measure the heat in the chamber determines the actual amount of energy-giving nourishment there is in a particular food. Tests are made with a man at exercise and at rest.

By analysis the constituents of the ash from the food and the energy supplied by it are learned. The gas or breath is analyzed and the quantity assimilated ascertained.

It is by experiment with various foods, and the same food variously prepared, that the calorimeter registers its most valuable information to the housewife. This information translated from technical terms and reduced to plain English constitutes the meat cook book of the department, supplying the information for conservation of kitchen resources.

CHIEF BIGGY'S WIDOW ASKS FOR A PENSION

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 19.—An endeavor on the part of the police commissioners here to learn whether Chief of Police Biggy was on departmental or private business at the time he was lost overboard from the police launch Patrol, threatens today to reopen an inquiry into the circumstances attending his death. The matter came before the commissioners when Mrs. Biggy, widow of the chief, applied to them for a pension for herself and 12-year-old daughter, on the ground that Biggy met death while on active duty.

SEATTLE TEACHERS TO HAVE SALARIES RAISED

SEATTLE, Wash., April 19.—Superintendent of Schools Frank B. Cooper will today begin the preparation of a new schedule of salaries for teachers in the Seattle public schools on the basis of an average 10 per cent increase. The increase was voted by the school board last night, following a fight made by the teachers themselves through the newspapers. Superintendent Cooper, who recently returned from an eastern trip, recommended the raise, saying that Seattle was not paying as much for school teachers as other cities of a like size.

PERRY RECEIVES GOLD AND BRONZE MEDALS

Awards Were Made at the Alaska-Yukon Exposition—Medals and Diplomas Just Received.

J. A. Perry received today a gold medal for the best exhibit of Spitzbergen and Newtown apples made at the Alaska-Yukon exposition at Seattle last year.

This medal was awarded on the apples sent by Mr. Perry, contributed from different orchards in the valley, some of the fruit having been purchased by Mr. Perry personally. The medal was won from the fact that new fruit was placed on exhibition each day, commencing with the crop of 1908, and winding up with that of 1909.

During the latter part of the fair the apples of the two years were on exhibition side by side, showing the keeping quality of Rogue River fruit.

The bronze medal came from an individual exhibit made by Mr. Perry of a plate of fine King apples, picked from his orchard, just before the close of the exposition and shown more as an addition to the exhibit than in the hope of winning a prize.

M'CREIDIE TEAM AT HOME IN FIRST PLACE

"Come in; the Water is Fine," Say the Ducklings—Bleachers Love Beavers, But "Oh, You Clarice."

The Beavers open on their home grounds today, going against Oakland.

There should be no doubt about McCredie having designs on the pennant, for he is going after it with a vengeance. When the Ducks were here they performed like a winning aggregation and they played bang-up baseball both at Los Angeles and Sacramento. So much so that the Ducks went home in first place, thanks to the services of the Seals. McCredie has won 11 out of 17 games on the road, which is a remarkable record. Most managers would be satisfied with a team that achieved such a feat, but manifestly McCredie is not, for he has signed another infielder. He has come to terms with St. Louis for Hetling, who has a fine record. Hetling played with Kansas City last year and did such good work that St. Louis drafted him. In 1908 he led the Western association in stolen bases and at the close of the season was picked up by Comiskey, who turned him over to Kansas City later.

Aside from being fast on the bases, Portland's new infielder can hit. Just where McCredie will play him is not indicated by the dispatches. It may be that he is wanted to take Netzel's place at third. Netzel may not be playing to suit McCredie. Until Casey rounds to again the new comer may be placed on second. McCredie has another new infielder by the name of Peckinbaugh, whom he got from Cleveland last week, but less is known about him. He has also added a couple of pitchers, Wright and Gregg, to his staff since he left San Francisco. Everything would indicate that the Ducks will be hard to beat when they hit home this week. They are never easy marks on their own field, but with all this new talent at hand the task will be most difficult.

Browning has started off like a young discovery for Detroit. Jennings sent Dang Long's 1909 star in against Cleveland Saturday and he won his game in handy manner. Five scattering bingles represented the number Lajole's stickers made off Browning and Detroit won its first game of the season in consequence. It would not be surprising if Browning turned out a very successful pitcher in the American league.

After the Philadelphia Athletics had finished the series here last fall they pronounced him the hardest nut they had to crack. Browning was a finished thrower when he left the Seals. He knew how to pitch. This may sound like a platitude, but it is not. Only a small percentage of the pitchers who are young in the minor league really know how to pitch. Besides "having everything," Browning fielded his position to perfection. It was useless they assert to try to bunt him out of the box. His career with Detroit this season will be keenly watched on this coast.

JOHNSON STARTS WEST THURSDAY

Will Rest in Salt Lake and Los Angeles—Active Training When Ocean Beach Is Reached.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Jack Johnson will start for the Pacific coast Thursday next, according to a statement today by Manager Little.

Johnson will go to Salt Lake, where he will stop for a day. His next resting place will be Los Angeles, where he will appear in an exhibition bout at a flat entertainment being arranged by Promoter Tom McCarey of that city.

The date of Johnson's arrival in San Francisco has not been yet set. Little stated that active training would begin the moment he could get his fighter into quarters at Ocean Beach.

Move only to improve—which can, usually, be done if you get some help from the want ads.

ONE TERM ENOUGH? WELL—PERHAPS NOT

Taft Makes Statement That Four Years is Enough for Him, But Later Does Not Reiterate Remark.

WASHINGTON, B. C. April 19.—President Taft is not reiterating his Saturday statement that one term in the White House is enough for him. As the White House interprets his remarks, they were not made seriously, but in fact merely as a jesting reply to a speech previously made at the banquet of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, which the president attended.

Taft was not eliminating himself as a possible candidate for re-election, is the general belief here. He was simply joking about the amount of work attached to the office and stating in a whimsical way that there is enough work to do to look after the first term to put considerations of re-election out of his mind.
