

CAMPBELL BUYS $29,000 WATER BONDS

Bids Par and Accrued Interest—Much Routine Business Transacted by City Council.

At its regular meeting on Tuesday evening the city council transacted much routine business and disposed of city work.

Manager Cooley of the Medford Lumber company was granted permission to have a railroad spur built into the yards of the company.

James Campbell having bid par and accrued interest for $29,000 water bonds, the council accepted the bid and ordered the bonds issued to Mr. Campbell.

The plat of the Oak Grove subdivision was referred to the street and road committee.

John Harrington was granted a saloon license for a period of six months.

City improvement bonds in an amount of $5250 were ordered issued. This provides for the laying of sewers on several streets.

Petitions to grade South Newtown and Knight streets were granted.

Cuthbert & Co. were granted permission to erect a tent on the corner of Sixth and Central avenue for temporary warehouse purposes.

Elifert, Merriek and Wortman voted aye, Demmer and Welsh no.

The plat of the Conroy and Clancy addition to the city of Medford was accepted.

A plat of the Phipps property, on the east side, prepared by C. E. Woolverton, was referred to street and road committee.

An ordinance was passed instructing the city recorder to charge a fee of $1 for certifying to assessments and a fee of $1 for changing any assessment on the bond lien docket.

REPUDIATES TARIFF BILL.

Payne-Aldrich tariff measure. High Cost of Living.

In the smaller towns the "high cost of living" was the central issue of the campaign. For this, the tariff bill was held responsible, and Havens, running on a platform of tariff revision, carried the towns by a large plurality.

Rochester, itself a manufacturing community, whose clothing factories are among its principal business voted against the tariff according to the politicians, when it voted against Aldridge. The wool schedule had its effect on this result, it is asserted.

The principal support of Aldridge in Rochester came from the financiers interested in this business, it is declared, from a close analysis of the vote in the various wards. These men held that the re-opening of the tariff would mean a renewal of unsettled business conditions, such as prevailed during the recent tariff tinkering.

Democratic Landslide.
But for the most part Havens carried every sort of ward. The districts where the laboring element resides voted for him and even in the best residence districts the vote changed so that one such ward switched from a republican plurality of 1690 to democratic plurality of 590.

Such changes, say the politicians, mean the smashing of party lines in a way that has seldom been seen in the eastern states. The independent voter, who followed men and ideas and not party lines, did the work, say leaders on both sides.

In many ways the politicians here say the Havens victory parallels the Foss victory in Massachusetts. The campaign was similar to that in Massachusetts, where Eugene Foss defeated W. R. Buchanan, republican, by an overwhelming plurality in a republican district.

The tariff was the center of the fight in both districts.

Havens today is being talked of as the possible candidate of his party for governor of New York. It was in this connection that the fact was reviewed that he had been a warm supporter of Governor Hughes.

He is the only democrat today being mentioned for this place.

HALE NO D-D COWARD, SAYS YOUR UNCLE JOE

WASHINGTON, April 20—"Hale is no d-d coward." That is the answer Uncle Joe G. Cannon gave today when he was asked if he thought Hale had feared an attack of political palpitation. Cannon had a conference with Taft at the White House.

Just after he left he was asked for his views about the general retirement of the "old guard."

"I don't think I'll be lonesome yet awhile," he declared. "I'm good for 25 years yet," he concluded.

JOHN D. WILL NOT WELCOME T. R. BACK

NEW YORK, April 19—John D. Rockefeller will probably not be on the reception committee to welcome Theodore Roosevelt home. The magnate said, "You know I'm not popular with the mighty hunter. There is no telling how fierce he is now after having killed wild animals in Africa."

Rockefeller said incidentally, that he will not go abroad this summer, dryly remarking that the cost of living is too high.

"Cut It Out," "Fade Away," "Skiddoo" Are All in the Discard—"Check It With Your Hat" Latest

NEW YORK, April 20.—"Cut It Out," "fade away," "roll your hoop" and "skiddoo" are all in the discard. The very flithest thing in the way of slang expression of incredulity, disapproval or remonstrance on Broadway today is, "Aw, check it with your hat."

The expression is a catch line used by Miss Mabel Harrison in "Lulu's Husbands," a clever farce by Thompson Buchanan adapted from the French.

Both the slang line and the show are declared hits today.
