FROST HURTS FRUIT CROPS IN EAST

Good Crop, However, Is Promised in California—Georgia Peaches Are Touched Up by Cold Snap.

Following is a summary of crop conditions in the United States:

There can be no doubt that the frosts in Georgia lately have hurt the peach crop some. Unquestionably some of the blossoms have been killed. But they will still have peaches enough. A large per cent of the blossoms has not been damaged in the least.

In Arkansas the peaches in the valleys have been killed. The orchards of medium and high elevation are yet all right. As most of the orchards in Arkansas are on the higher grounds, a good average crop is expected. The apples are yet all right on all elevations, and as the trees have had a year's rest, a bumper crop is expected in Arkansas the coming season.

In Maryland, all the growers who have reported so far state that the buds have not been damaged to any noticeable extent by the hard winter, and that the prospects are promising for a very large yield. The orchards in all sections of Maryland have been inspected to ascertain if any harm has been done the buds, but none has been discovered.

Kansas has comparatively few commercial peach orchards, but she has considerable land in apple trees. Everything seems to be in a favorable condition in Kansas for apples. Those who are in close touch with conditions say the fruit buds are in the best of shape. Several of the large growers are getting their fire-pots ready so as to insure against damage by frost, which is feared most about April 20. They know enough about the smudge pot, and its worth to take great stock in it. There are thousands of them in place in the orchards so they can be used.

In California conditions at present indicate that there will be a bumper crop in all lines of fruit this season. The outlook is bright, the trees are fairly loaded with blossoms and the weather conditions up to the present have been almost ideal. The time is practically past in the Sacramento valley when the late frost can do any great damage to the fruit crop. Favorable reports are being received by the fruit distributors and fruit shipping concerns in Sacramento from all sections of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, and also from the fruit districts of the foothills.

CENTRAL POINT NEWSLETTER

Mrs. Brownell and Miss Payne went to Medford on Friday to do some summer shopping.

R. M. Hanford went to Jacksonville yesterday to attend to legal business.

Today (Saturday) Mrs. Evans sold her entire household effects at auction. She sold her home a couple of weeks ago, it will be remembered, to J. B. Stevens of Tolo.

W. A. Cowley, recently of Concord, N. H., is soon to begin the erection of a home for his family in Central Point.

L. A. Rose of Grants Pass was shaking hands with friends on the streets of our town yesterday.

The Central Point hotel is to have a chef from Ashland today, and the dining-room department will soon be in successful operation.

William Hammett of Ashland, who has recently located with a very complete plumber's establishment in Central Point, is a shrewd young business man and bound to succeed. He says that he does not expect to get rich in the next few months, but he realizes that the man who anticipates future needs and is on the ground when the need begins to be felt, is the one who will get the business. And when Central Point is a good, big, healthy town, with a constant demand for modern improvements in Mr. Hammett's line, the ground will be his "to have and to hold," there is no doubt.

Last Wednesday Frank Madden of Chicago, Ill., became the owner of two fine orchards adjoining one another and lying about two and one-half miles west of the town. One of these belonged to W. C. Leever, mayor of Central Point and leading hardware dealer, and the other one to F. M. Symcox. The total amount paid for the two properties aggregated $36,500. Mr. Leever was paid $14,500 for his orchard and Mr. Symcox received $22,000 for his property. Mr. Madden is well pleased with his purchase and expects soon to build a home on the orchard tract purchased from Mr. Leever.

The catalogue and premium list of the flower show to be held in June is now being distributed. It is in the shape of a neat little folder giving full information to prospective exhibitors. Any desired information not found in this folder will be cheerfully furnished upon application to Mrs. W. E. Kahler, secretary of the carnival committee.

Hon. B. F. Mulkey will deliver an address in the Christian church on Sunday evening, April 24. Whatever Mr. Mulkey says in public is worth listening to, and we opine that even standing room in the church will be at a premium on that evening.

Mrs. Belle Pleasants made a trip to Ashland today (Saturday) to visit a married daughter, returning on the evening train.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jeffers will spend the summer on their ranch, near Butte Falls.

Miss Pearl Ross is now manager of the local telephone office, the position having been made vacant by the marriage of Miss Lee Williams.

Isaac Williams has solved the problem of enjoying camp life and still retaining the comforts and conveniences of home. He has erected a commodious tent near the house, has a tight raised floor in it and will use it for a sleeping room for himself and wife during the warm weather. This improved method of getting back to nature is becoming more popular every year.

Malthoid Roofing

Most roofing guarantees are a joke.

Experience teaches the longer a roofing is guaranteed to last, the poorer it is.

Manufacturers inexperienced in making roofings—without knowledge as to their dependability—without responsibility as to their own financial standing, will very often guarantee their roofing for any number of years simply to get the order.

The roofing generally fails and so does the firm that makes it and they never live to make good their guarantee.

Malthoid Roofing is made to make good and while its manufacturers guarantee it, their guarantee is unnecessary because the roofing in itself is sufficient to do all that is claimed for it.

For twenty-six years, the makers of Malthoid Roofing have made and guaranteed their roofing and not one single purchaser can ever say that this Company has failed to make good a guarantee.

You can depend upon the responsibility of the makers of Malthoid Roofing, and you will never have to bother about guarantees if you use Malthoid Roofing.
