THE FINANCIAL WORLD.

New York Market Weak.

NEW YORK, April 27.—Stocks opened promising today, but at the close the whole market seemed permeated with weakness. Following the declaration of a dividend yesterday, United States Steel sold rapidly during the forenoon. Over 18,000 shares were disposed of at 84 1/2 and 85. Supporting stocks followed the upward trend. Chesapeake & Ohio moved up 13-8 points; New York Central, the same; Kansas & Texas, 13-8; Union Pacific, Central Leather. Brooklyn Rapid Transit, American Car, American Smelting each jumped one point over yesterday's close.

Despite the morning's aeronautics, the market began to drop steadily and at the close many stocks sold below the close yesterday. Amalgamated Copper, Interborough Metropolitan preferred sold a point under last night; Louisville & Nashville rose 1 1/2; Southern Pacific, 1 1/4; American Locomotive, 1 3/8, and Reading 1. Points For Mothers

According to new theories concerning parental government, parents are supposed to respect the opinions of their children, at least to treat the budding ideas with due consideration. As an example of the justice of this decision one has only to recall to mind how the opinions of two generations differ, often because of changing customs and conditions. The elders fall to realize that the younger must be heard tolerantly, and so the parents, instead of extending the courtesy of listening politely to the younger folk, deliver their ultimatum as though there were no appeal and then are astonished because of confidence and understanding grow less between them and their children. Those parents who as their sons and daughters develop can encourage an expression of opinion so they know the lines upon which young minds are working and with gentle argument and reason can control and mold it exercise an influence as strong as that held during childhood. But it is only by tolerance and gentleness that this can be accomplished, and growing joys and girls are too old and experienced for an assertion of direct authority to influence.

Mothers are not infrequently grief stricken that their daughters are the girls grow older keep them from their thoughts and ambitions, giving confidence to others. In most cases this is the mother's own responsibility, because she tries to exert authority or pressure when others give only sympathy. To sympathize is not to agree; it is to understand the other side. Mothers should bear this in mind and meet their daughters on a common mental basis even when trying to make the younger see that her attitude is mistaken. Confidence between mother and daughter is to be maintained at all costs on the part of the former, and a test of her success as a parent is the ability to strike the right note of sympathy with such gentleness and understanding as to influence the girl to a right way of thinking even when the latter is inclined to differ. It is not by failure to agree that sons and daughters are alienated, but by a total lack of toleration from the elders.

When the Nose Bleeds.

Nosebleed is common among children, and while it seldom reaches an alarming state, nevertheless children are often greatly frightened by it. In treating this complaint try applying a cold cloth at the base of the brain. Stand back of the child and press your hands firmly on the large arteries that run along the edges of the cheek bones. Do not stop the nostrils with cloth or cotton, but allow the blood to flow until naturally checked. Often adults are afflicted with excessive nosebleeds. This is often caused by a severe cold in the head or by exposure to the sun. Worry will often cause it, and in many diseases, such as fever, the nose will bleed. When black blood flows from the nostrils the congestion is probably due to cold and trouble, and sometimes it is not best to check the flow at once. Drowsy headaches are often relieved by nosebleed. But be careful with children and do not show you are alarmed. By being calm yourself you can quiet the fears of the little one who screams at the sight of blood.

Rules of Sleep.

Those who think most, who do most brain work, require most sleep, and time "saved" from necessary sleep is infallibly destructive to mind, body and estate. Give yourself, your children, your servants, give all that are under you, the fullest amount of sleep they will take by compelling them to go to bed at some regular early hour and to rise in the morning the moment they awake, and within a fortnight nature, with almost the regularity of the rising sun, will enforce the bonds of sleep the moment enough repose has been secured for the wants of the system.

This is the only safe and sufficient rule, and as to the question how much sleep any one requires each must be a rule for himself. Great nature will never fall to write it out to the observer under the regulations just given.

AMUNDSEN TO TRY FOR NORTH POLE

Will Allow His Vessel to Be Frozen in Ice and Will Wait Seven Years for It to Drift to Neighborhood of Big Nail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 27.—Captain Roal Amundsen, the man who first succeeded in making a voyage through the northwest passage, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, is planning a seven-year expedition in the Arctic, during which he will try to reach the north pole, according to letters from Amundsen just received by Norwegian Consul Lund in San Francisco.

In his letters which outline the scheme, Amundsen says he intends to sail from San Francisco early next year for the north pole in the Fram, and that he is planning to allow the vessel to freeze into the ice and drift for seven years.

He believes the currents will carry him near the pole and that finally the sturdy craft will be released from the icebergs on the eastern coast of Greenland.

HARRINGTON IS LOSER IN APPEAL

Supreme Court Denies Petition of John Harrington in Damage Suit Brought Against W. E. Phipps, Mrs. Snyder and Judge Neil.

In an opinion written by Chief Justice Moore the appeal of John Harrington from the circuit court of this county in the case of Harrington vs. W. E. Phipps et al., for damages, is denied. This ends a long-drawn-out legal battle.

The case was started in the county court nearly two years ago, Mrs. Snyder, widow of a former partner of Harrington, bringing suit for an accounting. Harrington was later confined in the county jail several weeks for contempt of court. It was for this confinement that Harrington brought suit against W. E. Phipps, attorney for Mrs. Snyder. Mrs. Snyder and County Judge Neil for $20,000 damages. The suit was lost in the circuit court and an appeal was taken, which has just been denied.

Even the "not advertised bargains" are mostly found in the stores that do advertise a lot of bargains.

PAVERS MAKING THE DIRT FLY

Tearing Up Queen Anne Avenue and Making Ready to Lay Pavement—East Side Found Too Hard to Plow Until Engine Arrives.

The Clark-Henery Construction company is making the dirt fly on Queen Anne avenue on the East Side, placing it in readiness for paving. The work was to start on East Main, but the work was to start too hard to plow until the traction engine arrives to draw the plow, so work was commenced on Queen Anne avenue.

The Clark-Henery company have a plow which operates much in the way of a header working in a grain field. A huge lever turns the dirt over onto a canvas elevator, which carries it up and lets it fall into the wagons. No shoveling is done. Work is progressing rapidly with the excavation.

"Defeated by trivialities," said a man of talent whose life had been a failure—and that mistake showed how he had made all the others. Nothing is trivial that either defeats or conquers. It is not trivial to use the right or wrong stationery any more than it is trivial to use the right or wrong words; to state your case clearly or to blunder. The standard paper for business stationery OLD HAMPSHIRE BOND "Look for the water-mark" is not generally used by men who make blunders; nor by men who forget that instant prejudice, or favorable impulse, is an important consideration. That it pays always to use OLD HAMPSHIRE BOND for commercial stationery is the testimony of prudent business men. Prove this for yourself—let us give you the OLD HAMPSHIRE BOND Book of Specimens, or better still, write us for a copy. It contains suggestive specimens of letterheads and other business forms, printed, lithographed and engraved on the white and fourteen colors of OLD HAMPSHIRE BOND. Made by HAMPSHIRE PAPER COMPANY, the only paper makers in the world making bond paper exclusively. A complete line of Old Hampshire Bonds, all colors, carried by us.
