PARLIAMENT TO REFORM LOWER ENGLISH COURTS

Shocked by Brutality of Typical English Country Justice, Parliament is to Take Up Matter and Reform Appointment of Lower Justices, Who Have Heretofore Abused Power.

LONDON, April 28.—Shocked by the brutality of the typical English country justice of the peace, as illustrated by the recent sentencing of 12-year-old Charles Bulbeck of Haywardsheath to an official flogging and to six years in a reformatory for the mischievous, but boyish, theft of a 19-cent lump of coal, parliament is about to take up the question of abolishing the system of the administration of so-called justice by lay magistrates of the "country gentleman" class.

The matter will come up through the submission of a report to parliament by a commission which happened at the time of the Bulbeck case to be looking into the conduct of the lower courts of England. The commission will recommend that candidates for appointment to justiceships shall undergo a proper examination, that all classes of the community shall be represented on the bench and that politics shall not enter into the matter of appointments.

The whole purpose of the recommendations to shut out the old-fashioned Tory landlords which punish more severely for poaching and petty thefts than murderous assaults and who, while often releasing dangerous criminals, almost daily exceed their legal powers in the vindictiveness of their sentences against offenders, who have, they think, trespassed against the upper classes.

THE FINANCIAL WORLD.

New York Market.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Declines marked the opening of the stock market today. United States Steel declined to one-half lower than yesterday's close. Northern Pacific, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and St. Louis, Toledo and Ohio declined more than a point.

Shortly after the opening buying by shorts caused a rally, which did not hold long, and the market took another downward turn. Many of the stocks actively traded in declined as much as a point. Before noon the market was steady with prices a trifle above the lower marks of the morning. The selling of United States Steel, of which fully 8000 shares changed hands during the morning, discouraged the speculators. There was a revival of crop shortage anxiety and the banks renewed the four per cent rate on call loans, due to the shortage in gold caused by recent heavy exports. Illinois Central lost 2 1-2, Northern Pacific 2 1-2, Union Pacific, Amalgamated Copper, National Lead and American Smelting 2 before the noon hour. Bonds were heavy.

CODLING MOTH NOW IN ACTION

Chief Inspector Meyers Gives Out Some Valuable Information Concerning the Different Broods of the Moth—86 Per Cent Out April 25.

J. W. Meyers, chief inspector of fruit for Jackson county, has the following to say to the fruitgrowers: "It will be interesting to the fruitgrowers to know that fully 80 per cent of the first brood of codling moth had emerged from their cocoons on the 25th of April. On that date a careful count showed that about 10 per cent were still in the pupal state and the remaining 10 per cent had not yet pupated. It has also been noted that on the same date eggs were being deposited, which means that in from eight to ten days from the date given the larvae will appear and begin their destructive work, unless killed by eating arsenate of lead, which had been previously sprayed upon the foliage and into the calyx cups of the blossoms. The matter of spraying at this time has no reference to or connection with the appearance of the moth, since for apples the spray should be applied before the calyx closes.

Pears always remain open at the calyx end, so that the matter of timely spraying for pears is not so important as it is for apples. However, this does not mean that pears should not be sprayed on time.

"The important thing for the growers to remember is the date when the eggs of the first brood appeared, namely, about April 25. If to this date about 50 days be added, we will have the date upon which we may expect to see the eggs of the second brood of the codling moth. This varies somewhat, but it will be definitely determined and due notice given the growers. It must be understood that the broods of codling moth overlap each other, more or less, since, as was shown above, all the moths do not emerge from their cocoons on the same date, or even approximately so."

BUZZARD GROUP GOOD OUTLOOK

Development Work Being Carried on Rapidly at Pearl Mining Company Camp—Portland Parties Are Interested.

Mark Applegate, who is in charge of the operations at the Buzzard mine, was in Medford several days this week securing supplies for the mine.

He left Thursday morning for the mine with several men, who will be employed in running the new cross-cut, and sinking a winz.

Two carloads of ore were shipped from this mine to the Selby smelter last year which produced $410 to the ton.

There is a considerable quantity of ore on the dump now and the parties who have the property leased, A. A. Dekum and associates, of Portland, will commence shipping ore in a short time. The mine is a low-grade proposition, but there is an immense body of ore which carries values from $1 up, with frequent veins of rock which assays highly in gold, silver and galena.

Indeed, the best looking rock which has come out of the mine shows more galena than anything else.

The mine has been worked for the past ten years on a development plan. No attempt has been made to exploit the many rich seams uncovered, but the idea has been to develop the possibilities of the mountain of ore included in the Buzzard group.

LANGFORD PUT TO BAD BY KETCHELL

Slashing Affray From Start to Finish—Ketchell Wins by Rushing Sam and Punishing His Ribs and Stomach.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 28.—Sam Langford wants to arrange to meet Stanley Ketchel for another fight, following Langford's defeat last night in a six-round contest before the National Athletic club.

It was a slashing affray from the first round to the last, when Ketchel won the verdict by rushing Sam and punishing his ribs and stomach.

Up to the last round it was anybody's fight. Sam gave as much as he took and made a splendid showing. In the fourth round he had Ketchel on the defensive. The fifth and the last round, however, went against the "Tar Baby."

FINE WATER SYSTEM FOR JACKSONVILLE

Central Point and County Seat Both Plan Splendid Supply of Water for Their Residents.

On Monday next work upon the construction of the Central Point water system will be commenced. The contractors are all ready to start work and will rush it until completed. Central Point is planning to have one of the finest water systems of any city of its size in Oregon.

Jacksonville has also caught the water system fever. For some time Engineer Osgood, of the engineering firm of Osgood & Cummings, has been busy preparing plans and estimates on a gravity system for the county seat. Mr. Osgood announces that it will not be long before bids will be called for. The estimated cost of the Jacksonville water system is $25,000. The present council is made up of progressive citizens who have resolved to bring Jacksonville to the front as a residence district, and it is doubtful if a more beautiful or well-adapted location than this can be found in the Rogue River valley.
