

TURKS FEAR AN UPRISING NEAR CONSTANTINOPLE

Outcome of Recent Heavy Battle Has Not Been Learned—Government Is Alarmed by Action of Austria in Dispatching Vessels to Albanian Coast.

BELGRADE, Servia, April 30.—The Turks are strengthening the garrisons in and around Constantinople in anticipation of a local uprising, as a result of the revolt of the Albanians, according to today's dispatches.

The revolutionists are receiving reinforcements and funds from the people from Sandjak and Novibazar and nearly the entire population is in sympathy with the insurgents.

Declines to Fight.
Niazi Bey, among the most prominent of Turkish military leaders, has refused to take command of a division of the loyalist army, which is to be sent against the Albanians.

Bey told the government war office officials that the course taken by the Young Turks is unjustifiable, and on this account he cannot fight against the rebels.

Niazi's prominence makes his attitude a serious obstacle for the government to overcome in its determination to suppress the revolution.

No News of Battle.
The outcome of the battle of Katchinik Pass has not been learned. There has been fighting in the pass for three days and nights. According to the reports, hundreds on both sides have been slaughtered in hand-to-hand conflicts.

The rebels have captured the towns of Hgilan, Djakov and Ipek, and it is believed are still holding Prirand, one of the most important towns in the province.

Austria Raises Fears.
Government officials at Constantinople are greatly alarmed on account of the action of the Austrian government in sending a cruiser and torpedo-boat to the Albanian coast. The war vessels were dispatched ostensibly to protect Austrian interests in the revolting district, but the government fears that Austria intends to grab Albania as she did Bosnia and Herzegovina.

For several months some of Austria's representatives have been accused of undue activity in stirring up trouble in Albania and for several years diplomats have whispered that Austria was desirous of getting possession of a slice of Turkish territory which would give Austria a more extended seaboard.

Butte creek, or from the Bradshaw drop, of the Fish Lake Ditch company, sufficient to irrigate a large area. The new location is also at the foot of the first heavy grade, and if we should use a 'helper engine' it would be housed and stationed at this point. 'Helper engines' are at best expensive of operation, and every mile saved must be carefully considered. The change in location of our station at Eagle Point will save us four miles on every trip.

"Osgood & Cummings, the eminent civil engineers of Medford, were consulted regarding all the points of advantage and disadvantage of the change in locations, and after a very careful study of the situation reported in favor of the new location for the reasons above stated. "I then began buying land for the establishment of the new town of Eagle Point. Osgood & Cummings will begin next week to survey and plat it. All those who may wish to move from the old to the new town of Eagle Point will be given lots free of cost. We will also give free lots for churches and schools, and all who, for old times' sake or other reasons, prefer to remain should not feel they have been abandoned, because I will run my electric road to the old town, if engineering problems will permit. I have never engaged in destructive business methods and do not propose to begin at this late day, but in order to obtain the enormous amounts of money necessary for my enterprises I long ago learned that to be successful I must do the greatest good for the greatest number, and this is what is being done relative to Eagle Point's new depot."

HENLEY AND GARRETT OPPOSING TWIRLERS

"Slivers" Henley, who really got his start as a ball player in the Rogue River valley, and Jesse Garrett were the opposing twirlers at Portland yesterday afternoon. With the series standing two and two, Mohler sent in his premier box artist to try and cop the majority of the series. The lineup of each team was as follows:

Portland—Speas, lf.; Oison, ss.; Helling, 3b.; Ryan, cf.; McCredie, rf.; Fisher, c.; Rapps, lb.; Ort, 2b.; Garrett, p.
San Francisco—Shaw, 3b.; Mohler, 2b.; Melchoir, rf.; Tennat, lb.; Vitt, lf.; Bodie, cf.; Berry, c.; McArdle, ss.; Henley, p.

Henley had the jinks on Portland, however, and the Seals finished with 3, while the best the Beavers could do was to get one across the pan.

Today the game to decide which team will take the series will be played. McCredie has the best of it from the fact that San Francisco's premier pitcher, Henley, will not be
