

MASSAGE PART OF HIS "RELIGION"

Young Society Woman Complains of Pandit's Methods in Expounding Theosophical Teachings—Tells Her Story to the Police.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 13.—The police are securing evidence against Sakarhiram Pandit, "with a hypnotic eye," whose Oriental religious practices have been denounced by many of his women students and by Chief Steward, who himself is a theosophist.

It was learned today that a young society woman of the north side was the first to make complaint to the police in connection with Pandit's alleged teachings.

The woman in her statement to the authorities declared that Pandit, after chanting weirdly for ten minutes, had her under his influence and then began a "massage treatment" which the Hindu averred was a part of his yogi religion.

The society woman said he placed his hand on her shoulder and she "felt herself swaying."

"Let us commune with Yogi," Pandit is alleged to have told her, as he took her into another room.

The woman wrote to Annie Besant, high priestess of the Theosophical society, and indignantly asked if "massage" was a part of religion.

TO BUILD ROAD TO CAVES.

the caves but for the hard journey. Located fifty-five miles south of Grants Pass and with the last twenty-two miles of the distance covered only by a narrow, rough and tortuous, mountain trail, the trip to the marble halls is anything but pleasant, and can only be made by the aid of pack animals. The government, through its appropriations for such purposes, will construct a road to the caves from the main highway at Williams valley, and will provide suitable shelter at the caves. Being situated in the heart of the forest and well up on the Siskiyou, the entrance to the caves is an ideal spot for camping, with an abundance of big game close at hand.

"Oregon's Marble Halls," with their endless caverns of white limestone, will no doubt be visited by a far greater number of people this summer than ever before. In conjunction with the forest service officials, the Grants Pass Commercial Club is giving its assistance toward popularizing the wonderful caves and making them easier of access.

MANAGER OF SISSON TEAM WANTS POST-SEASON GAME

George Cooper, the veteran south-paw, who pitched one of the greatest games ever seen in Southern Oregon against Pernold three years ago, was here this week trying to work up a game between the Sisson and Medford teams at the first open date.

"I have a pitcher that has me backed off the boards," said George—and anyone who ever saw Cooper throw the ball will know that means something. "That kid has more things on the ball than anybody I ever saw, and within the next two years he will be throwing rings around the Wagners, Cobbs and all the big swatters. He studies the game. He works by rule. He figures this way: If that ball can be made to break three inches quicker, a drop three inches further on, it will fool the batter. Then he goes out and works until he gets the ball to do just as he wants it to do. He's a wonder and I will show you people some ball playing when I bring my team up here."

WRECK NEAR DUNSMUIR DELAYS NORTHBOUND TRAINS

A freight wreck south of Dunsmuir Thursday morning delayed all northbound trains, and as a consequence trains 14 and 16 were annulled and went through this morning as sections of No. 12. The last section went through at 6 o'clock.

No. 11, southbound Shasta Limited, was also half an hour late, owing to the congestion of traffic, when the delayed trains began coming through.

Damrosch to Be Here Monday

This season Walter Damrosch will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his appearance as an orchestral conductor in New York. When the death of his father, the late Dr. Leopold Damrosch, who was greatly beloved in the profession as well as by the public, suddenly forced upon him serious responsibilities, Walter Damrosch was in his twenty-third year.

His record is certainly an astonishing one. He was, it will be remembered, for a dozen years or more, a conductor of opera then he had his own company for four years, with which he brought out a number of the German music dramas all over the country. He has put his symphony society on a permanent basis for some time, which means that its members draw yearly salaries and meet constantly for rehearsals. It can also be placed to Mr. Damrosch's credit that his was the first orchestra of standing to be placed in such a position of permanency.

It can be said of Mr. Damrosch that he has never at any time endeavored to appeal either for public support or public applause by meretricious means. The press agent has not known him or his work. Indeed, if anything, Mr. Damrosch has gone to the extreme of conservatism in the other direction, and so, perhaps, has made enemies where he might have had friends, had he been more unbending and a little more inclined to conciliate people who wanted to take an interest in his, his work and his success.

If he had any particular bane it was the notoriety-seeking "society woman," who had no real interest in music, but was ever ready to take up a conductor, or a soloist, or a composer, for the reflected glory that it might bring upon her. His unwillingness to be exploited in this direction is much to his credit. It shows that with him music is an art, also a serious profession, and has a right to be treated as such. Seats on sale Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

OLIVER DELIVERS STRONG SERMON

Attracts Many to Tabernacle by His Personality and Platform Methods.

A soul-winning discourse by Dr. Oliver at the tabernacle. The text was Matt. vi 21: "Where thy treasure is, there will thy heart be also."

The Personality of Man. Dr. Oliver is 6 feet 4 inches in height, slender, athletic, graceful and vigorous in action. He has a keen and well-informed mind, a good voice and pleasant expression. He is eloquent, persuasive, pathetic and humorous.

He has a very extensive vocabulary, is a master at denunciation and is fearless. With his eye flashing with the glow of thought, his index finger pointing directly at you, he utters the mandate of the highest with telling effect. This is the man who speaks nightly at the tabernacle to interested audiences. Eight hundred people heard the message last night.

The Message. Dr. Oliver said in part: "A man's treasure is summed up in that thing which he loves most. Many are busy with the muck rake with faces to the ground and fail to see the golden crown just overhead. Many are piling up material things and leaving God out of the account. Nothing on earth is permanent, all will pass away. How did you get what you have? Some men lie and defraud and take every mean advantage of their fellowmen for gain. Take warning, neighbor, there is a God in the heavens and His power is absolute, and He will demand of you an account of the deeds done in the body. Neighbor, hear me—better go through this world without a copper penny and at last stand in the New Jerusalem, than to own the whole world and go to hell. I despise the system that makes social leadership depend on dollars and cents. Let social leadership depend on character. Toil is honorable. Christ labored in the carpenter shop and God commended his faithfulness. God bless the honest man of toil. The business that succeeds by fraud has the curse of Almighty God upon it. Hear me, men: All man's works will be destroyed except his character; just what he himself is will endure. May God Almighty search our hearts tonight. We like to do things. God says lay up for yourselves treasure. Happiest Time for a Young Man."

"The happiest time in the life of a young man is when he leads his bride into the home he has provided and says to her, 'I made this for you.' There is a joy in doing things. Men and women, you are building for eternity tonight; build upon enduring foundations. Faith and Works. "An Irishman and a Scotchman were in dispute in a boat on the lake as to the value of faith and works, when the Irishman illustrated his views in the following way: He called one oar faith and the other works. 'Now,' he said, 'if I take faith alone the boat will go nowhere, and so if I take works alone, but when I take both faith and works together, then the boat goes forward to the desired haven.' 'Pat, you are right,' said the Scotchman. 'Come faith and works together in Medford and the churches will move forward. Neighbor, hear me; Where is your treasure tonight?'"

The Colonel of Virginia. "A Southern gentleman took his young bride to Virginia on a plantation. They had a happy home. One only child was born to them, which grew to young womanhood, a counterpart of the mother's beauty at the same age. One day a young man from the mountains came into the home and loved the daughter. He asked her to go with him to his home on the hills as his wife. In due time he proudly took his happy bride to the prepared mountain home. "The colonel sat one evening, sad, on his broad veranda, as the birds were singing their evening song, and the negroes were coming in from the fields, and his good wife said to him: "Colonel, what makes you so sad?" "Mother," he said, "the house never seemed so large as since Mary went away. Let us sell all and build a home on the mountain near our child, Mary."

"His treasure was in the mountain. Is your treasure with God on the hills of Zion? Have you laid it up there?"

The subject tonight is "Neighborhood Gossipers," and the special message, "Forgiveness." A score or more confessed Christ yesterday.

ELKS ARE BACK FROM ROSEBURG

Antlered Herd Returns From Northern Trip, Giving Evidence of a Splendid Time—Daniels is Presented With Handsome Jewel.

The Medford Elks returned from a jaunt to Roseburg Friday morning and from appearances they had the time of their lives. Roseburg treated them in a splendid manner.

A large number of candidates were put over the road in Roseburg and general jollification was the order of the day. There was a touch of the sadder side of life also present when all of the boys attended, in a body, the funeral of Mrs. Adeo Vial, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Blakeley, who was drowned in the Umpqua recently.

T. E. Daniels, past exalted ruler of the local lodge, returned the proud possessor of a magnificent jeweled emblem presented by the members of Medford lodge No. 1168. The presentation speech was made by the district deputy grand exalted ruler. It was given Mr. Daniels in token of his many efforts on behalf of the local lodge.
