A MOTHER'S ECSTASY.
MRS. ALICE MCCLURE GETCHELL.
 With all my soul's enthusiasm, I love you, child;
 You teach me how to live and make dark hours bright.
 Let me feel your arms around me, my darling, my baby,
 While we go and give father his love-kiss, good-night.
 What can even he know of the bonds that unite us,
 The warm lips on my flesh, drawing life for their own?
 I have tasted of Heav'n in rapture, transported,
 And a new little soul, from my own, I have grown.
