monarchs—King George of Greece, King Alfonso of Spain, King Manuel of Portugal, King Haakon of Norway, King Frederick of Denmark, King Albert of Belgium and King Ferdinand of Bulgaria.

Grouped behind them, riding three abreast, was a display of lesser royalty such as the world never has seen before. Nearly 70 scions of the ruling houses of Europe were in line.

A long line of carriages followed, the first containing the queen mother Alexandra and her sister and the Dowager Czarina of Russia, the Princesses Louise and Victoria. In the next carriage rode Queen Mary, Queen Maud of Norway, the Duke of Cornwall and his sister, Princess Mary. In the succeeding four carriages rode the princesses of the British royal family. Then followed the diplomats of foreign nations.

The first carriage consumed Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, former president of the United States and special minister of his country at the funeral of King Edward. Foreign Minister Pinchon of France and Said Khan of Persia accompanied Roosevelt.

Every phase of English official life was represented in the pageant. Officers of headquarters' staff, comprising the war lords of the British army, numbering its famous generals and strategists, were in line. At the head of the column marched the Royal Life Guards, the pick of military Britain.

In glittering array marched the advance guard. Knights, marshals, footguards, drummers, Royal Scots, Fusiliers, the Irish Guards, Royal Dragoons and detachments of practically every military corps in England with bands and gorgeous uniforms.

Officers and men from the home fleet of the royal navy, natty blue-jackets and marines, were in line.

In the column marched military detachments from nearly every European country—the Slav, the Teuton, the Frank, the Latin—in their variegated uniforms, presented a brilliant spectacle.

The Windsor station was gorgeously decorated. Its iron columns supporting the glass roof were covered with Marquettes, while palms were everywhere.

As the royal train drew in all stood at attention. The bands swung into the Chopin funeral march, the great bell of Windsor Castle tolled and the royal salute, fired by the Royal Horse artillery, boomed out from the castle grounds.

The procession formed, then it moved toward the castle grounds up the long walk to the foot of round tower, through horseshoe cloister to the steps at the west end of St. George's chapel, where the body will rest.

At the chapel door waiting gentlemen-at-arms, in splendid uniforms of scarlet, tunics, burnished helmets and waving white plumes, stood at attention, while the honorary pallbearers formed a line and the bearer party, lifting the casket, weighing nearly half a ton, bore it up the steps.

Within the chapel were nearly 50,000 floral tributes. The archbishops of Canterbury and York and the bishop of Winchester stood at the doors of the chapel, with other clergy, ready to receive the body of the king.

As the royal party moved forward the guards stood with reversed arms and the choir chanted a hymn. The queen mother and the other ladies of the funeral procession were seated in the prince consort's chapel.

The archbishops led the procession up the aisle. A psalm was read, followed by the singing of a liturgy beginning, "Man that is born of woman—". The liturgy was set to Wesley's music.

THREE PINES, ORE.

I have been commissioned to sell a large number of 5 and 10-Acre Tracts adjoining the townsite, giving special inducements to practical wood workers. These tracts are located one mile south of the famous Triplet Cherry Orchard, two miles west of the S. E. Brune Apple Orchard, one-half mile north of the tract now being improved by Wm. Rolfe, foreman of the Burrel Orchard at Medford, and commence within one-quarter of a mile of the depot. The district is free from frost, as can be proven by every fruit tree within the district, where smudging is unknown.

$60 to $150 Per Acre

10 PER CENT CASH, 3 PER CENT PER MONTH LUMBER FOR BUILDING SOLD ON EASY TERMS
This is a sub-division of an improved ranch; all the higher-priced tracts having valuable improvements—one with a considerable bearing orchard—nearly all partly cleared. Think of it! The best of Fruit land, adjoining a steady job at good wages and right near rail transportation, on such easy terms. $30 cash and $10 per month will handle five acres, and if there should be no work in the mills and you put in your time improving the property your payments will be extended. This will be put in the contracts of experienced mill workers. No chance to lose. You can make more money with your idle time than you can make with a steady job. The increase in value will be more than your wages. This is the One Opportunity

This Land Will All Be Under Irrigation

as soon as the project now being arranged at Grants Pass and Merlin is completed—it lies well below the water line. The prices have been placed at the lowest possible figure, so as to place them within the reach of men who will work in the mills, and such men will be given the preference, and in order to accommodate them the sale will not commence until Monday, May 23d, but a Special Excursion, with reduced rates from all points north of Ashland, will be run on Sunday, May 22d, when reservations may be made. Tracts not sold June 1 will be raised 10 per cent
