

POPULAR COUPLE ARE MARRIED

A. E. Whitman and Miss Nina Bakeman United Thursday Evening — Both Well Known in Medford.

Last evening Arthur E. Whitman of the Eagle pharmacy and Miss Nina Bakeman were married. Rev. Holmes of the Baptist church performed the ceremony.

Mr. Whitman has been in the drug business in Medford for the past several years and has during that time made friends with all who have come in contact with him, either in a business or a social way.

His bride is equally popular among her friends, and has the social graces and accomplishments necessary to hold and even increase that popularity.

Mr. Whitman being a member of the B. P. O. E. and his wedding occurring on the date of the regular meeting, was captured immediately after the ceremony by some of his brother lodge members and taken through the "third degree," but was finally returned to his family intact.

THOUGHT HE HAD FOUND A "LIVE ONE"

Night Policeman Kincaid thought he had saved his prisoner some money in arresting him, when he came across a big purse in searching an old man he had picked up on the street, helplessly inebriated.

The long sack was carefully unrolled, some papers of little value abstracted therefrom, and away down in the southeast corner a nickel was sequestered. That was the entire amount of the coin of the realm found upon the man. The man was told to "git."

RAILROAD CAMPS IN GOOD CONDITION

Dr. R. C. Conroy returned Thursday evening from a visit to the various construction camps of the Pacific & Eastern railway.

"I was surprised," said Dr. Conroy, "at the condition of those camps. Every one of them is located on high ground, the water supply is of the very best and the sanitary conditions are exceptionally good. An army corps, with high-salaried surgeons could do no better. The camps are kept clean and the men are fed the best the market affords. The men are all well housed and it is their own fault if they are not comfortable. There is but very little sickness in the camps, most of it being minor complaints, and there isn't a case of fever of any kind on the works."

TAIL YET TO BE PASSED.

With Prof. George Ellery Hale, director of the Carnegie observatory, Prof. Chretien made observations of the wanderer at 3 o'clock this morning. When the coming of dawn prevented further work Prof. Chretien, after perusing his notes for half an hour, said:
"The comet's position has changed little since yesterday. The observations I made today, however, were more satisfactory, and tonight I expect to learn something definitely."
"I am convinced of one thing. We assuredly will pass through the tail of the comet. My reasons for this belief I prefer not to make public now."
"Astronomers throughout the world who say we have not entered the tail are correct. Neither are we in the tail now. This morning the trailer was distinctly visible. Had we been in it, this would have been impossible."
"At 3 o'clock the tail appeared to be more dense than at any time since we began making observations. It was longer, but less clearly defined. It is impossible to state the hour we will enter its gaseous mass."

THE OLIVER MEETINGS

The Singing.

The chorus organized by Professor Maltby is a great success. No better chorus leader has ever visited Southern Oregon than is Professor Maltby. The churches whose members have embraced the opportunity to sing under his instructions and directions will reap the fruits of it in the music of the churches after the meetings are over. They will have the training and inspiration. Those who have not put their life into the song service have lost for themselves and for those whom they might help. Miss Williams is ever faithful, never missing a service from the piano, in the use of which she is most proficient. Mrs. Oliver and others are her competent helps, and the splendid assistance rendered by other musical instruments, all combine to make the chorus a great part of the service. People are highly pleased with music.

Dr. Oliver.

The more you see and know of the evangelist the more you admire and love him. He is a fine scholar, a man of wide travel and experience, and he has only one mastering desire, and that is to be used in the salvation of men. All are delighted with his sermons of wonderful power. His manner and delivery are pleasing, and his presence is dignified. His thought is as clear as a diamond, backed up by a splendid manhood of integrity.
On the platform he has not his superior. Hear him tonight on, "The Day of Judgment."

BALLINGER VOTE 7 TO 5.

"acquittal of Secretary Ballinger." Senator Root will cast his vote, in spite of the protest of the minority of the committee, although he left Washington yesterday.
Representative Madison of Kansas is expected to write the minority opinion, but it is probable that Fletcher, Purell, James and Graham, Democrats, will submit a drastic opinion against Ballinger.

Splendid SOLOS

At the opening of today's session Attorney Vertrees added to the record papers, including an agreement between Field Agent Louis R. Glavis and a Seattle land speculator named Barr.
Vertrees argued that these showed that Glavis had a pecuniary interest in securing lands from the government through knowledge obtained while he was in the government's employ.
He also introduced the testimony in the Cunningham cases and contended that it showed that Glavis and Special Agent Jones deceived the Cunningham claimants in securing affidavits from them and that Ballinger's affidavit is true.
