

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED

Charles W. Isaacs and Miss Lettie B. Stancliff Are Married—Will Make Their Home in This City.

Charles W. Isaacs and Lettie B. Stancliff were united in marriage by Rev. W. F. Shields at the Presbyterian manse at 9:30 p. m. Saturday. These young people are popular and well known in this city and community and they begin their new life, taking with them the good wishes of all. They expect to make their home in this city.

HILL'S SPEECH.

out many facts which he had gathered during the single day he had spent in the valley. Two or three times when Mr. Hill would have concluded his remarks, he was induced to continue them by the business men gathered with him at the banquet.

Richest Valley.

Mr. Hill opened his remarks with describing the manner in which he came over the mountain from Central Oregon and down into what he had come to consider "the richest valley in the world." He stated that conditions in the valley of the Rogue were those which appealed to the railroad builder and stated further that he thought he could see the time coming when the Pacific & Eastern would be a part of a great system.

"However," stated Mr. Hill, "we are not looking for any particular portion of Oregon in which to build our road. We want to be in every section of this great state wherever anything good is to be found, and that is in nearly every section. Oregon as a whole appeals to me."

S. P. Needs Help.

"I find here that the Southern Pacific company has more business than it can take care of, so I guess we will have to come down and help them out."

Mr. Hill also dwelt at some length upon the advantages to be derived from the construction of the Crater Lake road, stating that it would bring hundreds of thousands of dollars into Southern Oregon from tourists, many of whom would come to make their home here. "For," he stated, "no one can ever visit this valley without being wonderfully impressed and carry away with them a recollection which will never be forgotten."

Mr. Hill told of the wonderful success the Great Northern has had in colonizing Montana and dwelt upon the methods used. He stated that he would return later to Medford to get an exhibit of Rogue River valley products to place in a demonstration car and send throughout the east.

NORWAY EXTENDS THE SUFFRAGE FOR WOMEN

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, May 21.—By a great majority the odelsthing has voted to grant municipal suffrage to all women over 25 years of age. Heretofore only those women could vote who paid certain income taxes—in $100 worth of property in towns and $75 in the country.

The new legislation will become effective at the next election and will increase the present women electors from 270,000 to 500,000.

The odelsthing shapes legislation in Norway. It is only one branch of the storting, but it controls both bodies.

In Norway the national assembly, the storting, divides itself for law-making purposes. Three-quarters of the members sit in the odelsthing, the other quarter in the lagthing. When the two houses disagree on any measure the storting sits as one body and naturally the odelsthing has its way.

PUSH CART CARRIES FOUR TO THEIR DEATH

Small Car Dashes Down Hill With Party and Hurls Them Into Freight, Instantly Killing Them.

TACOMA, Wash., May 21.—Coroner Shaver will hear an inquest Monday morning to fix the responsibility for the accident which caused the instant death of four men killed at the Pacific Coast Power company's plant near Sumner last night, when a small push cart in which they were riding broke away, dashed down a steep incline and crashed into a freight car at the bottom.

So terrific was the impact that the small car was shattered and the four men were hurled into the wreckage with such force that their bodies were frightfully mutilated. The cable that held the car in check in some manner became unhooked near the top of the hill. This was instantly discovered by other workmen and a signal was given, but all were helpless to prevent the impending tragedy.

WATER QUESTION SETTLED.

would come back here and take a hand himself. He arrived Thursday evening with Louis W. Hill and remained over Saturday in order to meet with the mayor. As a result the question has been definitely settled. Mr. Hanley recently purchased the place from M. F. Hanley.

The condemnation proceedings would have been set for trial in the circuit court next Wednesday had it not been settled out of court. Yesterday afternoon Judge Calkins overruled Attorney Reames' amended motion whereby he sought to gain a hearing in the equity court on a contract between Hanley and the city before proceeding with the condemnation suit. However, the matter has not been settled and within a few weeks Medford will have a pure mountain water supply which will be unequalled in the state.

Judge Calkins, in passing upon Reames' motion, said:

"There is no question if the proceedings to condemn are irregular or illegal, or the exercise of the right unnecessary, equity will step in and stay them; but the very nature of this case takes it out of the ordinary rule permitting the filing of a cross bill, and equity will not interfere unless the right to exercise eminent domain is either being

SWIFTWATER BILL IN TROUBLE AGAIN

Charged With Non-Support of Children—Made Much Money in Klondike and Financed Big Schemes.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 21.—"Swiftwater Bill" Gates, whose financial vicissitudes and marital adventures have been the cause for wonder since the early Klondike days, faces trouble again.

Mrs. Lola Bebe, mother of Vera Bebe, has sworn to a complaint charging him with non-support of his two children by her daughter. The mother died a year ago after being divorced from Gates.

"Swiftwater Bill" returned to Seattle several days ago and had been living so quietly that his presence was not discovered until the filing of the complaint today.

He was washing dishes in an Alaska mining camp in 1896 when Mrs. Bebe first met him. He located the famous El Dorado 13 mine in the Klondike, where he panned out $200,000. That was the start of his career. Three months ago he was reported in London financing a mining scheme in Nevada.

wrongfully asserted or wrongfully exercised. See Fifteenth Cyc., page 835.

"A previous seizure or an entry upon the property will not defeat the right to institute proceedings to condemn the same, whether such entry was with or without the consent of the owner. Nor will the right to institute proceedings be barred by the fact that the owner has brought an action to recover the damages caused by such entry, or ejection or forcible entry and detainer, or obtained a judgment therein, or by the fact that he obtained an injunction against an illegal appropriation or occupation of the property. A former proceeding which has not been completed, and in which the damages assessed have not been paid, will not bar a second proceeding to condemn the same land. And the fact that the corporation has once acquired a right of way will not preclude it from acquiring a more extended way by means of condemnation proceedings."

The woman who is not a "bargain-hunter" nowadays is—er—eccentric.

WESTERLUND ADDS TO HIS PROPERTIES

Buys Pigeon Place, Consisting of 160 Acres—Makes Total Holdings of Company Over 3003 Acres.

J. A. Westerlund, president of the Western Oregon Orchards company, has purchased the C. R. Pigeon place of 160 acres of fine fruit land for $6000. This tract joins the company's large holdings on the east. This makes their orchard probably one of the largest on the coast, namely, 3003 acres, of which 1250 acres are already planted to pears and apples. The oldest and first-planted trees will this year bear their first crop.

Mr. Westerlund intends to plant about 80 acres of the Pigeon tract next winter to apples and pears. A fine automobile road has just been completed through the Westerlund orchard, which makes it one of the scenic places for touring motorists who desire to get a beautiful view of the valley.

well, enlivening the evening by flashes of wit and his humorous allusions to the various persons who were at the board.

Mr. Reames called first upon President Colvig of the Commercial club, who spent a few moments in calling attention to Medford's resources and future; District Attorney Mulkey, the next speaker, dwelt upon Oregon's great need of railroads and spoke of the railroad man's power.

Professor O'Gara made one of the most excellent addresses of the evening and drove in facts regarding the Rogue valley as a fruit section in a telling manner, stating that nowhere did nature aid in the growing of fruit as in the Rogue River valley. His remarks were well received and made a great impression upon his hearers.

William Hanley, who accompanied Mr. Hill throughout Central Oregon, spoke of Medford as being his "true home," and told interesting stories of the time Medford was only a bunch of chaparral. He was warmly applauded. Several other speakers were heard, among them being Colonel E. Hofer of Salem and Porter J. Neff.

Music during the evening was furnished by Misses Crawford and Crowell, while Mrs. Ed Andrews rendered a number of solos in a most
