THOMSON BREAKS HIS LONG SILENCE

Declares Efforts to Make Sensation Out of Perkins-Ballinger Letter is Absurd.

OLYMPIA, Wash., May 24.—"The effort to make a sensation out of the Perkins-Ballinger correspondence relating to me is absurd," declared City Engineer Thompson of Seattle here today. Thor. p. on had refused to be interviewed by Seattle newspapermen, but he broke his silence today.

"The facts are that, discussing his proposed trip with a friend of mine at a New York bank, Mr. Perkins asked what engineer he knew in the northwest who could be depended upon to give an honest, fair value on properties. My friend said: 'Why not get Thompson of Seattle? He is as cold-blooded as a fish, knows values and will give you the straight truth if you can get him to go with you.' Perkins then asked what friends I had in the east through whom he could be acquainted with me and who would be likely to induce me to take the trip. Ballinger was suggested. Perkins invited Ballinger to meet him the next time the secretary was in New York and I received the letter as a result. I would have been willing to take the trip but for the conversation congress at Spokane. I knew that Pardee of California was going to be in Spokane to attack Ballinger on behalf of the Pinchot crowd, and I wanted to be there."

FIRST BLOOD SHED IN BIG MINERS' STRIKE

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 24.—First blood of the state constabulary in the strike of the miners of the bituminous coal districts of Western Pennsylvania was recorded today.

The troopers shot three men, killing one and probably fatally injuring the other two. The quick action of the constabulary quelled riots in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania Coal company's mines.

The strikers in this section number 1200 and it is feared that they may attempt to avenge the attack of the constabulary.

ECLIPSE, LIGHTNING, COMET.

huge star, larger than any ordinarily disclosed to the view of the naked eye, formed its head, while stretching away across the face of the heavens was the tail of a long, fan-like illumined mass. It was truly beautiful.

Back and ever back rolled the clouds, until finally the moon appeared. But over its face was spread the tail of the comet forcing it into a partial eclipse. It was readily seen that the mass between it and the earth was not the usual solid body which so often eclipses the moon. It was a vaporous substance which turned the silver of the moon into the deepest orange, approaching at times a burnt sienna. Further back rolled the clouds, until the entire face of the heavens was clear. Then for more than an hour the great comet and the moon held the attention of a vast audience. Rarely, indeed, is man treated to such a wonderful display of nature's marvels. Wisdom, strength, beauty—all were portrayed to the greatest degree.

A Rare Performance.

Then the moon brought the performance to an end. Slowly, almost imperceptibly, as if reluctant to detract from the marvel of the heavens, it passed on and out again into its full lustre, and with its advent into the open sky the comet was robbed of its brightness. Gradually the tail faded from view until finally there remained only the fiery ball, which was its head.

Never again, probably, will such a treat be offered to those who last evening viewed the marvel of the heavens. It was a rare performance, and it is not billed for a second appearance during the lifetime of those who were fortunate enough to view it. Nature proved herself a master and gave a performance far beyond the powers of man to even attempt, much less duplicate.

PROSPECT WOULD HAVE AUTOS TARRY

Tent City is Planned, for at Present Only Thing Residents There Can Do Is to Set on a Fence and Chant an "Auto Psalm."

"Lives of auto men remind us, We can animate the scene, And departing, leave behind us, groans, and smell of gasoline.

"Let us, then, be up and doing, At a mile-a-minute rate, Still advancing, still pursuing, Learn to slaughter—not to wait."
—Song of a Prospect Bard.

The little town of Prospect, nestled high in the mountains on the road to Crater Lake, is rejoicing greatly over the activities of Benjamin F. Heidel, highway engineer, bureau of good roads, who with a crew of 13 men is engaged in surveying a section of the Crater Lake road near Prospect. Prospect is an accepted stopping place on the road and, owing to nearby scenic attractions, chief among which is the Mill Creek falls, many tourists daily here, but not enough so a new tent city and hotel is being planned.

George A. Crane of Prospect states that the building of the road is very pleasing to the residents of that neighborhood and that already there is talk of a large tent city to accommodate the traveling public this summer.

"However, at present," states Mr. Crane, "all we can do is to sit on the fence and see the huge autos speed by and chant our 'auto psalm.' We need a new hotel and we will have it by the time the Crater road is built, possibly before."

Some pieces of property advertised today will double in value in a year! Can you pick out the ads?

HOLY ROLLERS PRAY WHILE CHILD EXPIRES

PORTLAND, Or., May 24.—Praying on bended knees, a score of believers in the Apostolic faith, a sect known locally as the "Holy Rollers" knelt about the bedside of little Juanita May Nelson, the 2-year-old daughter of Mrs. Eliza Nelson, 31 Grand avenue, where the child slowly strangled to death with diphtheria.

Today Health Officer Wheeler placed the house under strict quarantine, as a son of Mrs. Nelson, aged 16 years, is stricken with the same disease.

THE OLIVER MEETINGS

Considering the impending storm, a fair audience assembled at the tabernacle last night.

Professor Maltbie sang, "Beyond the smiling and the Weeping"; at the close of the song he was called back and repeated the last verse.

Dr. Oliver spoke from Genesis, xxviii:12, and his theme was "The Vision of Jacob's Ladder." He used this passage as a type of "The Life of Christ, or the Gateway to Heaven." The first rung on this ladder that reaches from the depth of sin to the heights of favor with God is conviction. No one will change his course until convinced that he is wrong and that there is a better way, but almost every one who is away from God realizes this and will acknowledge it when pressed for an answer.

When asked why you do not yield to the claims of Christ, the speaker said: "Many say we are waiting for conviction. If the Lord would strike me with such conviction as he did Saul of Tarsus I would yield. In striking conviction to the hearts of men God uses weapons according to the size of the game in sight. He does not use a 13-inch gun to bring down a canary bird. If the average sinner of Medford should be struck with the conviction that was required to bring down the great Saul of Tarsus he would have to be gathered up with blotting paper.

"The second rung in this ladder is repentance—a turning from danger toward safety and better things. There is no salvation for a sinner until he confesses and forsakes his sins. The prophet declares: "Let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous thoughts and let him return unto the Lord and he will have mercy upon him and to our God, and he will abundantly pardon.

"The third step toward eternal life is faith in God. No one is able to save himself. If this had been possible the Son of God would never have been sent into this world to suffer and die for the sins of men.

BRONCHIAL TUBES ALL STUFFED UP

"While a resident of Washington, D. C., I suffered continually and intensely with a bronchial trouble that was simply terrible to endure. I would have spells that I could hardly breathe, I would choke up, fill up in my throat and bronchial tubes, and the doctoring that I did and the remedies used were of no benefit to me whatever. I heard about Booth's Hyomei being so beneficial in catarrhal and bronchial affections and procured an outfit. I received relief from the first by its use. I continued with it and received a cure. It is about two years since I have suffered at all from my former trouble.—Mrs. R. L. Pannell, 404 North Augusta street, Staunton, Va., March 26, 1909.

Hyomei is guaranteed by Charles Strang to cure catarrh, croup, bronchitis, coughs, colds and sore throat or money back.

A complete Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) outfit costs $1.00 at druggists everywhere. This includes a hard rubber pocket inhaler and bottle of Hyomei; extra bottles Hyomei cost 50 cents. Free sample bottle and booklet from Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

There is no other name given among men whereby we must be saved, but the name of Jesus, who came to save his people from their sins. He that cometh to God must believe that he is and that he is a rewarder to them that seek him."

Although the thunder rolled and the lightning flashed and at times the noise of the storm completely drowned the speaker's voice, yet the meeting closed in usual form, and two young men and one young lady came forward to yield themselves to the service of Christ. Meeting tonight at 7:30.

When asked why you do not yield to the claims of Christ, the speaker said: "Many say we are waiting for conviction.
