JEFFRIES REGAINS HIS OLD FORM AND HANDLES CORBETT EASILY

Only Point Critics Are Still Undecided Upon Is Big Fellow's Ability to Take Heavy Blows—Determined When He Faces Johnson.

(By Max Balthasar.)
ROWARDENAN TRAINING CAMP, Cal., June 11.—Jim Jeffries today has everything he needs to meet successfully the onslaughts of Jack Johnson, if Johnson is going to do any slaughtering. Two weeks ago Jim's eye was bad. His judgment of distance was distressing. He ducked into punches, missed easy leads and could not step in or out with any degree of safety. Today he has that essential known as "time" and with his speed, strength, heart and determination, he is as fit as he was six years ago.

What Can He Stand?
 By this I mean he is fit physically to give battle to another man. What he is able to receive is a question that can't be settled until he faces Johnson and receives some good hard punches. If Jeffries can weather the storm of blows he expects to receive in the early rounds Jack Johnson in all probability will leave the ring a badly beaten man. It depend on Jeffries' ability to withstand the blows.

Two months ago I contended that Jeffries had come back as far as physical condition was concerned. He was trim, his wind was marvellous, his endurance almost unbelievable. Scoffers and disgruntled critics declared the big fellow was gone and was merely posing for the money there was in it. Today the same critics are singing his praises.

Glove Work Is Good.
 As I have said Jeffries' glove work a few weeks ago was slovenly. Today he has "time" and eye. In a three-round go with Corbett, Jeffries handled "Gentleman" Jim as he pleased. Foot, head and fist worked with a precision that baffled Corbett.

Ducking, blocking, countering, leading, everything was in perfect working order.
 With as fast a man as Corbett before him, Jeffries had every chance to prove himself, and the spectators that he had regained his eye. Three rounds more with Choynski accentuated the fact that Jeffries' "time" was perfect. The three rounds were earnest and convincing. There was no pulling of punches. Every time there was an opening there was a slam and a good one. Falling into a crouch, Jeffries faked with his right and then shoved a left to the stomach, swinging it up with practically the same movement as a hook to the jaw. Try as he would, Choynski could not stop the double punch.
 With general form, "eye" and "time" all that Jeffries needs is the power of assimilating punishment. If he can stand a wallop to the midriff or a crack on the chin he is as good as ever. His trainers say he can stand the punishment, but there is a tendency on the part of Missourians to disbelieve this.

TAKING BODIES OF VICTIMS FROM WRECK

French Submarine Pluviose Which Sank on May 26 Drowning 27 Men Is Towed Into Port.

CALAIS, France, June 11.—Removal of the bodies of the victims of the French submarine Pluviose was begun today. The Pluviose was sunk in a collision when the submarine tried to dive under a packet May 26. Twenty-seven men were drowned.
 The hull was towed in the harbor here today. Relatives of the victims of the accident attempted to get to the Pluviose, but were restrained by officers. A big crowd gathered on the shore and watched the rescuers at work. Photographers who endeavored to get pictures of the scene were mobbed.
 The first body was removed at 9:15 a. m. The work of removal was slow on account of the bad condition in which the bodies were found. The receding tides left the hulk of the submarine exposed. The port side was crushed in.

COMPANY IS AFTER PICTURES OF FIGHT

Will Suppress Them in Order to Keep Up Standard Throughout Country—Say Will Injure Picture Business.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 11.—It was reported today that the Clune Amusement company, recently incorporated for $600,000, will try to purchase the moving picture films of the Jeffries-Johnson fight to keep them from being placed before the public. The Clune company operates a string of moving picture theaters on the Pacific coast.
 It was reported that eastern moving picture interests will join them to suppress the pictures, on the ground that their exhibitions will injure the picture business throughout the country.
 S. A. Brackett, manager of one of the Clune companies' local theaters, said today: "The showing of any pictures that are morally not 'up to snuff' has a tendency to decrease the class of patronage we desire. If the films of the Jeffries-Johnson pictures can be purchased outright, they never will be exhibited."
