Jay Davidson was in Medford from Gold Hill Friday.

Mrs. Roy E. Wilson and daughter, Mable, of Roxy Ann, were visiting and shopping in the city Wednesday.

The swellest lot of neckwear that has ever been brought to the city came to the Toggery just recently—such beauty of style, quality and patterns.

The addition of quality and home comforts will be Queen Anne water, sewer and paved streets building constructions. See McCallum, Hotel Nnash.

Frank E. Bybee of Jacksonville was in Medford on business Friday.

You'll find all those little office supplies at the Merrivold Shop. 82*

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Beckman returned from Portland Friday morning, after having visited the rose fair, the Masonic grand lodge and the Pioneer reunion. Mr. Beckman was the first Wells-Fargo messenger between Yreka, Cal., and Jacksonville, in the days when he had to dodge grizzlies, Indians and road agents on nearly every trip.

The Rock Springs, Wyo., lump coal is rolling this way. We can fill your orders now. You should get ready for fall and winter now. See Burbridge, the drayman.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Briggs, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. V. T. McCray, left Friday morning for their home in Hollister, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Briggs have been almost lifelong residents of California, but they are more than enthusiastic over the Rogue River valley. When you can convince a Californian that there is any other place on earth outside of the Golden State, you must show the goods, and the goods have been shown in this case.

Newly furnished sleeping room, cool, quiet easy walking distance, 203 Olson street, corner West Hamilton just two blocks from North Oakdale paving. Phone Main 4474. If Isaac Anderson of Spokane and John Davis of Seattle passed through Medford Friday on their way to San Francisco, via automobiles. Both are old friends of Dr. J. F. Reddy and spent a few hours visiting him here. They left Friday afternoon for Klamath Falls.

This fall and winter you will wish you had ordered some of that fine Rock Springs coal. You won't be able to get it then, so order it now. See W. J. Burbridge, drayman, at depot.

T. O. Kehberg of Shedd, Or., was in Medford Friday, looking after business matters.

You are always waited on promptly and courteously at the Merrivold Shop—it's really a pleasure to shop there. 82*

L. Lawrence and M. Baker of Denver, Colo., are in Medford looking over the valley.

The vote for goddess of liberty at Jacksonville on July 4 is now open. Tickets on sale at Russell's Confectionery store and Nash hotel and Haskin's drug store. Contest closes June 28, 6 p. m.

District Attorney Mulkey was in Medford Friday, having been called here by several cases requiring his attention.

Where in Medford can you get better values than in Queen Anne addition? Did you notice the cut of the new public school to be erected in Queen Anne? Get busy. The present price won't last long. 82*

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 24.—A mass meeting of the women of Los Angeles will be held at the headquarters of Young Women's Christian association next Monday to discuss means of combatting the white slave traffic in this city. A call for the meeting, signed by a dozen prominent women, was issued today.

WICKERSHAM TO DEFENSE OF PACKERS

CHICAGO, Ill., June 24.—Attorney General Wickersham today declared that the government prosecution of several indicted packing companies will continue, despite the ruling of Federal Judge K. M. Landis that the indictments were faulty and did not state proper grounds for proceedings.

Wickersham declined to discuss the report that the laxity with which the indictments were drawn by one of his assistants was the outgrowth of differences between himself and Judge Landis when the investigation was first begun. Wickersham intimated that the packers were prosecuted as individuals instead of under general indictments following a session of the special grand jury here.

BASEBALL NOTES

The "kid battery," Burgess and Hill, with Rudie Shultz playing second and young Rader, another 16-year-old youngster, showed some of the old players how the game should be played.

The team was switched around somewhat—Henselman at third, Isaacs in center (he's a fixture there) and Blackington in right, being the only ones to retain their former positions. Strain played first and played it well, but had few hard chances.

Miles took left field and made one star running catch, although some crab did remark that "a good left-fielder would have caught that one back by the fence."

Four hits were made off Burgess, but he walked ten of the visitors. He had gilt-edged support, however, and no errors were made behind him. Four double plays enlivened the game. In the first for Columbia Park, Fraser walked, but was doubled at second on Cavaney's bunt to Coleman, who threw him out to Schultz, and Rudie whipping the ball to Strain in time to catch the batter. In the second Waymire walked and Whir sent a high fly to Blackington, and before Waymire could get back Blackie had shot the ball to first. In fact, Waymire thought the hit was a safe one and was on third before he discovered that he was out.

In Medford's half of the fourth, Blackington was on third when the squeeze play was tried, but didn't. Hill laid it down all right, but Blackie was caught at home and Hill nipped at the first bag.

In the fifth Shultz hit, but was doubled at second on Burgess' infield bouncer, second to short, and Burgess was thrown out at first.

The final score was 13 to 3. Grants Pass and Medford will play at Medford, June 26, for the last time under the present schedule. The game will be a warm one from start to finish, believe me, as the "ex-champs" are after Medford's scalp again.

The present "champions," Jacksonville, will play Central Point, which is the only team in the league which hasn't won a "championship" this season on the Central Point grounds.

Say, did you see that picture of the Jacksonville champions of Rogue River valley in the Oregonian? Guess Manager Ulrich is there as a press agent.

The way these Rogue River valley championships are tangled up, there's going to be some trouble unraveling them.

WICKERSHAM WANTS RAILROADS CONTROLLED

CHICAGO, Ill., June 24.—Federal regulation and control of railroad stock and bond issues was advocated by Attorney General Wickersham in an address before the Illinois Bar association. He argued that congress is constitutionally empowered to exercise such control.

Notice to the Public.

M'GRAW'S FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY

Man Who Slowly Forged Himself to Top Closes His Career—Was Second Governor of Washington.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 24.—The funeral of John H. McGraw, second governor of the state of Washington, will be held from the McGraw home at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At the request of the dead man, the funeral will be limited to members of the family and intimate friends. The body will be cremated.

Governor McGraw died at 7 o'clock last night after a long, hard fight against death.

McGraw left home when 14 years of age, after a quarrel with his stepfather. He became a country store, then its proprietor. In the panic of 1873 he failed and came west, driving a horse car in San Francisco for some time. He drifted to Seattle and in turn became a hotel clerk, hotel proprietor, policeman, city marshal, chief of police, ward boss, sheriff, bank president, governor and finally a prominent retired business man.

He was born in Penobscot county, Maine, in 1850.

Married.

BITER WAR TO SAVE CHARLTON

as mementos of his first few weeks of happiness with her beside the Italian lake. Yet he calmly discussed the details of his attack on his wife, of her death and of his attempts to hide the body.

The new found attorneys for the defense have intimated that they have set up an insanity plea to clear Charlton of responsibility.

In the meantime alienists for the state will examine Charlton to test the young man's sanity.

Has Tuberculosis. Attorneys familiar with Italian laws assert that Charlton, if extradited, cannot be convicted of any crime but that of manslaughter. The penalty for that crime in Italy is six years' imprisonment. This, in the case of Charlton, would be tantamount to death sentence as the youth is a victim of tuberculosis in an advanced stage.

Those who are closely watching developments see in this activity a bitter strife between Captain Scott and Judge Charlton, who is in the bureau of insular affairs at the war department, the former fighting to place Charlton before the Italian courts; the latter to save his son. Both are invoking the functions of the Italian and American governments.

Charlton slept soundly last night and appeared to take little interest in the trend of his case.

BILL TO HELP COAST SHIPPERS

and carrying through provisions which the railroads wanted, have been retained. Interstate Commerce Commissioner as Franklin K. Lane of California, for instance, who has been very active in his scrutiny of the transcontinental lines and of their rate-making methods, will now find it easier than heretofore in prosecuting that work.

It will not be necessary hereafter for shippers on the Pacific Coast to originate complaints against rates before the interstate commerce commission can begin an investigation thereof. However, it may be as necessary hereafter for the shippers to do so. For it is to be borne in mind that the new law imposes numerous additional tasks upon the interstate commerce commission and it will be physically impossible for the commissioners to get around to an investigation of all unjust and unreasonable railroad rates before shippers have filed complaint.

There is an opinion that the administration of the law will not be satisfactory to the country until the interstate commerce commission has been enlarged and has been given additional facilities for attending to the extensive and very responsible duties placed upon its members. That is supposed to be a weakness of the law upon which the railroads are relying for no small amount of immunity during the next few years.

Commissioner Lane does not place great stress upon the provision allowing the commission to originate complaints. He has always held that the commission could find a way to investigate a rate, if it was determined to do so. Much has been said about the importance of putting the burden of proof upon the railroads rather than upon the shipper. Mr. Lane is inclined to the belief that that is more of a theoretical than a practical advantage.

The Pacific Coast shippers will have the privilege hereafter of determining the route which their goods shall take. Much is claimed for that, but whether it will work out to be an advantage remains to be demonstrated.

The Intermountain and Pacific Coast states have not been affected particularly by the parleys of railroad officials here in recent days with President Taft over increases in freight rates. That is chiefly because few notices of schedules to increase freight rates west of Missouri river points have been filed with the commission. But the investigations which the commerce commission will enter upon shortly in determining whether increased freight rates in the east and the middle west are just and reasonable will in the end have great bearing upon the transcontinental situation and may determine whether there will be an attempt to raise rates to California and Pacific coast points.

An impression prevails at the commission that railroad rates in the far west are comparatively higher for the service rendered than this side of the Mississippi river. It may be that an acknowledgment of this situation by the transcontinental roads has prevented them from hurrying to file new and higher schedules.
