

FANS PUZZLE OVER OUTCOME OF BATTLE; WILL IT GO ONE, FIVE, TEN OR OVER THIRTY ROUNDS?

BY MAX BALTHASAR.
MOANA SPRINGS TRAINING CAMP, Reno, Nev., June 29.—"I think Jeffries will rush in and clean up in two or three rounds."
"No, he won't; he'll feel out the black fellow for seven or eight rounds, taking a good beating in the meantime, and as soon as he finds the negro is becoming discouraged because his punches are doing no damage, then he'll sail in and finish things up."
"Why should he sail in and finish things up?"
"Why should he wait? Why should he hold back and let the negro cut him to pieces? All Jeffries has to do is to stick out his chin, let Johnson drive his hardest and when the champion sees that the wickedest blow he has in stock cannot down his opponent, Johnson will be pie."
"Nothing like that. Johnson is too clever. He can stall around for an almost unlimited number of rounds and it will simply resolve itself into a question of endurance. If Jeffries is there as good as he looks when he works there will be nothing to it. I figure that under these conditions Johnson will last about 30 rounds."
And so on ad infinitum.

Gather a bunch of fans of the Jeffries persuasion and that's the sort of talk you will hear. Jeffries will win in one round, six rounds, fifteen rounds, twenty rounds or thirty rounds. Never has opinion as to the duration of a big fight been so varying with the ultimate result so certainly fixed in the minds of the judges. Even in Jeffries' camp the picking of rounds is as widely at variance as the selection of the winning number on the roulette tables that one may discover with a little effort and the aid of the cappers.

Work is Puzzling.
To those with a merely superficial knowledge of what a boxer should do, the work of the big fellows is quite a puzzle. Jeffries is loafing too much, they think, unmindful of the vast amount of labor he has gone through. On the other hand, they think Johnson is digging in too hard, forgetting that he has not applied himself until within the past few weeks.

Putting into the low-down, the many unusual training phases of this contest are enough to put the sternest conditioning mathematicians to the bad. Jeffries passes the word that he is going to work his head off. Instead he lays around and chats in the morning and winds up the day with a little joust with the trout. Johnson, with a program of foaming, tears into his work like a colored brother trying to depopulate the entire chicken world. It's a funny game from any angle, and many dopsters will be surprised when the battle ends Monday.

Strange Contrasts Shown.
In other ways the fighters show strange contrasts from day to day. One day Johnson shows speed and confidence. The next he appears to be halfhearted in temperament as well as in his work. Jeffries never loses confidence. In fact, he seems to gain it, his off days developing a greater spirit of determination and doggedness than when he is feeling good.

But it is the manner in which Jeffries puts aside his work that causes the greatest comment. For instance, on Monday after Jim had pulled off his early morning boxing stunt it was given out officially by Manager Berger that his work for the balance of the training spell would consist of boxing in the morning and short "heart" sprints in the evening. Not only did he entirely reverse the program, but after switching the "heart" sprints to the morning, he cut out the expected boxing in the afternoon and contented himself with a nap, a private talk with Governor Dickerson and a rubdown after dinner. It is utterly useless to accept a program or even guess what the big fellow will do from now until Friday, when he is expected to cut out all work and hurl himself into the nerve-racking drying-out process, but he may box and he may sprint, and he may loaf. They are making books here on what he intends to do, and you can write your own ticket.

Tomorrow the real betting will begin. Last night 10 to 6 was the prevailing price. Some guess it will go to 10 to 7, and others look for 2 to 1. Whichever way the coin is laid here is expected to make the price throughout the United States, although England may continue to make Jeffries the short-end.

Will Jeff Go Right In?
There is a tip out that Jeffries will put forth his best endeavor, as a matter of pride, to end the battle within 17 rounds. Johnson some time ago predicted that he would finish the white man within 18 rounds, and just to go him one better, Jim wants things to be wound up in his own favor within 17 rounds. The quicker the finer is still his slogan, and if he can wind the negro up in a round he'll do it.

Jeffries is sporting a mural decoration of the left eye, a memento of Monday's boxing session. The guilty person is not known, each of the four sparring partners claiming the honor, with Berger having a good lead in the lists. Disquieting rumors regarding a number of minor physical ailments suffered by Jeffries have been circulated about Reno. His trainers admit that he has had a slight attack of stomach trouble, and this accounts for his failure to do much work yesterday. Corbett, one of Jeffries' principal trainers, has experienced the same trouble. The water here is blamed for their slight attacks of indigestion.

Another report says Jeffries' right elbow is inflamed and a minor operation may be necessary at once. Dr. W. S. Porter of Oakland attended Jeffries when he hurt his knee while training for the Monroe fight at Harbin Springs. Dr. Porter also recently performed an operation on Mrs. Jeffries. Dr. Porter had a consultation with Jeffries today. It is reported that he will tap the big fellow's arm today.

Betting took a spurt late last night and the odds opened half a point, going to 10 to 6½ that Jeffries wins. The point betting on the rounds was money even that Jeffries would not win inside of 15 rounds.

TRAINERS ENDEAVOR TO KEEP JACK IN PLEASSED HUMOR

BY TIP WRIGHT.
RICK'S TRAINING CAMP, Reno, Nev., June 29.—Every effort is being made to keep Champion Jack Johnson in a pleasant frame of mind, to prevent him from worrying over his little affair with Jeffries on July 4, and to keep him from developing a case of nerves. All is merriment at Johnson's camp. Today's baseball game, at which the big black will act as umpire, is intended to keep him from getting fretful. Mock trials at night, where Johnson's police court speeding experiences make him feel perfectly at home, fill in the evenings, and with music and banter the days are passing in a way that would make a casual visitor think that preparation for a fight was the last thing in the mind of anybody about Rick's resort.
But there is a lot of earnestness under it all, and the negro and his trainers are really working hard to be ready for the battle.
Opinion is divided over Johnson's condition. His followers say he is in better shape than ever before. Others do not fancy his style of work and complain that he shows speed only at intervals. There is considerable truth in this charge. Johnson cuts loose only when stung by one of his sparring partners. At other times he is content to block and stop the punches.

Johnson will go through his stunts this evening for the moving-picture men. He will spar, skip the rope, punch the bag, do some shadow boxing, run past the picture machine as though he were hitting it up on the road and possibly wrestle a bit. The champion can be depended on to put up a good show. He is always accommodating when publicity is at stake, and naturally he wants to appear at his best in the pictures. Even in the fight Johnson can be depended upon to remember that the picture machine is stirring in the corner, and as long as he can he will be graceful and picturesque.

AUDRAY DAVIS, THE "OREGON SONG BIRD" WILL BE HERE SOON

Audray Davis, the Oregon song-bird, arrived in Medford yesterday in her large touring car on her way to her Summer Lake ranch, where she owns several thousand head of cattle and 200 head of blooded horses. She has been prevailed upon to sing a few selections at the Savoy theater tonight by Ed Andrews and other friends. Mr. Andrews says: she is one of the greatest singers he ever heard for her age. Miss Davis was born in Roseburg 18 years ago and is a typical western girl, tall, graceful and slender, can ride a broncho like a cowboy and an expert with a shotgun. At her Summer Lake ranch last season she killed 48 ducks in two hours and forty-five minutes. Miss Davis will resume her journey tomorrow, moving via Klamath Falls and Lakeview.

Lovers of music should not fail to hear Miss Davis sing tonight at the Savoy, as she is considered to have one of the most wonderful voices of the age, and has made a great hit wherever she has appeared.

WALK WITH EASE

Dr. Manns, the chiropodist and foot specialist, has arrived in town and is prepared to remove corns, bunions, ingrowing toenails. I have the only bunio cure in the world without a surgical operation.
Little Essay of Human Interest About Corns.

Corns were discovered by Lord Cornwallis at Cornwall in 1738. Corns are composed of fireballs, red pepper, toothache, rheumatism, volcanos, nerve stress, heartburn and insomnia all piled up and jammed together with a pile driver. A corn is a second cousin to the appendicitis. There are too many of such things. They should be cut out, but Dr. Manns don't cut them out—he removes them without blood or pain—no bad results. Corns are an abomination and a burning shame. They will drive a woman to the chiropodist and a man to dring. They will drive a man crazy if he has any other troubles; they will drive a four-horse team if they are sore and irritated.

Free consultation. All work guaranteed. Room 4, Palace Hotel.
Roseburg, Ore., June 3, 1910.—I heartily endorse Dr. Manns. He has removed corns from my feet and thereby not only cured the corns but cured my rheumatism, from which I have suffered for a long time. Dr. Manns' work was highly satisfactory.
