THE POOL IN THE WOOD.

Have you found the pool in the wood, my sweet, The little lone pool like a silver shell;

In the blossom'd heart of the woodland dell, Where the wind strikes soft on each pale, bluebell,

Have you found the pool in the wood, my sweet?

Shall I take you there, to the wood, my sweet, Down the cool green way where the fern is high,

And the birch gleams white 'gainst the blue of the sky, And the wood-doves coo in the trees, and sigh;

Shall I take you there to the pool, my sweet?

Look down to the pool in the wood, my sweet, And the face of a maiden's mirror'd there,

Like a rose from the heart of the Summer fair, With water-weed pink in her gleaming hair—

Like a mirror of silver-shen set at your feet, Is the pool in the wood as you smile, my sweet,

—From the Pall Mall Gazette.

A CURE FOR RESTLESSNESS.

Why they call Bill Meyer "shiftless" Was a question for the wise, For he "shifted" without ceasing, In each business enterprise.

He was first a traveling salesman, Then a patent lawyer's clerk, When he tired of patent cases For a bank he went to work.

Teacher, preacher, writer, speaker— He was each and all of these, But for some mysterious reason Every calling ceased to please.

Till at last the Weather Bureau Made a place for him, and then, As the weather did the changing, Why, he never changed again.

—Judge.

Tongue Slip.

Representative Washburn, toast-master at the prorogation dinner of the legislature, told a story of a pastor, who, coming to a new parish, got his words slightly twisted in his announcement. Said he: "I have come here to heal the dead, cast out the sick and raise the devil."

Another ministerial friend of Washburn's, speaking to a congregation, remarked: "I am sorry to see so many absent faces I used to shake hands with."—Boston Record.

AUTOS HAVE COME TO STAY.

FARMERS of the four states of Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Iowa are said to have spent $15,000,000 this year for automobiles. All of which goes to show that the auto has come to stay.

As a matter of fact, the automobile is no longer a luxury, but a necessity. It is not only useful in business, but also a source of pleasure. It enables its owners to get more out of life, see more of the world, enjoy more fresh air and sunshine, and become broader in character.

Between a new house and an auto, many will choose the auto. Let economists rave, and wise men shake their heads, who will say the choice is not a sensible one, particularly in a country and climate like the Rogue River valley, where autos can be used ten months and more during the year, and all the year around when good roads shall have become the order of the day.

There are approximately 375 to 400 automobiles owned in and around Medford, a greater number, per capita, than any place in the world. These represent an approximate investment of from $750,000 to $1,000,000. Part of the motor cars are used for business only, a majority for both business and pleasure, and part for pleasure alone.

The money has been well spent, and each year will see the investment increased, for the auto is a permanent fixture of modern life.

PROTECTING ORCHARDS FROM FROST.

THE United States Department of Agriculture has issued under date of June 22, 1910, Farmers' Bulletin 401, on the protection of orchards in the Pacific Northwest from spring frosts by fires and smudges, by P. J. O'Garra, assistant pathologist.

The booklet describes the work in Medford orchards during the spring of 1909 and is illustrated by photographs showing the work. Another pamphlet, giving the results of the work done during the present year, 1910, is in press and will shortly be issued.

Both bulletins will be published in the Mail Tribune, publication of the first beginning tomorrow. They can be had in pamphlet form upon application to the secretary of agriculture.

JUDGE ORDERS BILLS BE PAID

Many Accounts Against Golden Drift Mining Company Are Ordered Paid by Judge Calkins—Rejoicing Among Business Men.

GRANTS PASS, June 30.—Judge Calkins has issued an order authorizing the issuance of receiver certificates to pay certain bills contracted by the receiver for the Golden Drift Mining company, and at the present time an attorney is drawing up a form for the certificates and as soon as they are passed on by the court they will probably be issued by Receiver Joe Wharton, which will probably be a couple of weeks.

In allowing the claims the court paid practically all the labor bills that were incurred while the dam was being conserved, but there were a few other labor bills not allowed. The total amount of the bills allowed amounts to $4,327.82, and of this amount $805.88 was for labor, $2,694.20 for material and supplies and $837.74 for expenses of the receiver's office.

There were claims to the amount of $826.35 that were not allowed for the reason that the same were apparently charges which should properly be paid by the plaintiffs in the case.

Also claims to the amount of $2,829.47 that were for material furnished prior to the receivership of the Golden Drift Mining Co. and were not properly chargeable to the receiver for conservation of the property.

It is likely that some of the claims that were not allowed at this time may be allowed at some later date, but the claims allowed are ordered by the court to be a first lien on the property.

This order of the court is very gratifying to many of the business men of the city, besides also those who had performed labor, and who have had to wait for their money. There are several business houses that have large sums coming to them, they having accepted orders from former Receiver Sanders for material and supplies, some of the amounts running to $1,000. Since Receiver Wharton has been in charge the expenses of the office have been very light for he has done nothing except to keep a watchman at the dam and provide the necessary supplies.

W. F. Entrop left Wednesday afternoon for New Mexico and Arizona points to remain several months on business.

HARVARD WINS RACE FROM YALE

Scores Two Clean-Cut Victories on the Thames—Predict Easy Victory for Varsity Eight Lat. This Afternoon.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 29.—Harvard scored two clean victories over Yale on the Thames today when the crimson oarsmen defeated their rivals of the blue in the freshman eight-oared and the 'varsity four-oared events. The jubilant followers of Harvard predicted an easy victory for the 'varsity eight in the final water contest this afternoon.

The day was ideal, and considering the fact that Harvard was the preponderant favorite and that her 'varsity crews are veterans, Yale put up a plucky fight.

In the freshman event the Harvard eight flashed over the finish line a winner eight seconds ahead of their rivals.

In the 'varsity' four-oared race Harvard had a clear lead of several boat lengths. So great was the fight that the Yale men put up that Thorne, at the bow oar of the blue craft, collapsed.

The races were witnessed by the greatest throng that ever attended a regatta between the two universities. Thousands of pleasure craft were on the river and many private yachts, including J. Pierpont Morgan's Corsair, were present.

The crews retired early last night. The Yale men were not in the best of shape and Tucker, No. 2, in the Yale 'varsity eight, is sick. His place, it is announced, will be taken by Colburn this afternoon.

ATTORNEY SORE BECAUSE HE IS KEPT FROM JURY ROOM

HONOLULU, June 30.—City Attorney J. W. Cathcart is at odds with the territorial grand jury today, following the jury's refusal to admit Cathcart to their chamber. With a number of deputies the city attorney forced his way in and for several minutes there was a heated altercation. Cathcart claimed that he had a right to be present.

It is believed some of the municipal departments are being investigated by the grand jury.

INDIAN WARS OF SOUTHERN OREGON

(From J. C. Walling's History of Southern Oregon.)

A pleasant incident of the stay at Camp Aiden was the flag presentation. The ladies of Yreka had decided to honor the braves of that locality who had so promptly volunteered in defense of their neighbors across the line, and had prepared flags and sent them through Dr. Gatliff to Camp Aiden. The doctor gave them to General Lane and a ceremony was arranged for the afternoon of September first. The two companies of Rhoades and Goddall, escorted by Terry's Crescent City Guards (an independent organization which volunteered to fight Indians, but performed no service owing to the abrupt close of the war), were marched up, and with appropriate words the General presented the banners.

On the tenth of September the leaders of opposing races met at the appointed place on the side of Table Rock and discussed and agreed upon terms of peace. The occasion was a remarkable one; and brought together many remarkable individuals. Many of those who were eye-witnesses of the "peace talk" still live, and several have attained to honor and distinction. From the pens of two of these we have life-like and intelligible accounts of that meeting which was in some respects the most remarkable occurrence that ever took place in Southern Oregon. Judge M. P. Deady wrote concerning it:

"The scene of this famous 'peace talk' between Joseph Lane and Indian Joseph—two men who had so lately met in mortal combat—was worthy of the pen of Sir Walter Scott and the pencil of Salvator Rosa. It was on a narrow bench of a long, gently-sloping hill lying over against the noted bluff called Table Rock. The ground was thinly covered with majestic pines and rugged oaks, with here and there a crump of green oak brush. About a half a mile above the bright mountain stream that threaded the valley below sat the two chiefs in council. Lane was in fatigue dress, the arm which was wounded at Buena Vista in a sling from a fresh bullet. Indian Joseph, tall grave and self-possessed, wore a long black robe over his ordinary dress. By the side sat Mary, his favorite child and faithful companion, then a handsome young woman, unstained with the vices of civilization. Around these sat on the grass, Captain A. J. Smith now General Smith of St. Louis, who had just arrived from Fort Orford with his company of First Dragoons; Captain Alvor, then engaged in the construction of a military road through the Umpqua canyon and since pay-master of the U. S. A.; Colonel J. E. Ross, of Jacksonville and a few others. A short distance above us on the hillside were some hundreds of dusky warriors in fighting gear, reclining quietly on the ground.

"The day was beautiful. To the east of us rose Table Rock and at its base stood Smith's dragoons, waiting anxiously with hand on horse the issue of this attempt to make peace without their aid. After a proposition was discussed and settled between the two chiefs, the Indians would raise up and communicate the matter to a huge warrior, who reclined at the foot of a tree quite near us. Then the latter rose up and communicated the matter to the host above him, and then he labored it back and forth with many voices. Then the warriors complicated the thought of the multitude on the subject back to the chief; and so the discussion went on until the understanding was finally reached. Then we separated, the Indians going back to their mountain retreat, and the whites to the camp."

J. W. Nesmith, who was present and quite prominent at the treaty, has left some additional particulars of interest. He says:

PICTURES OF FIGHT TO BE RUSHED EAST

RENO, Nev., June 30.—Manufacturing moving pictures on a train speeding eastward as fast as the heavy mountain grades will permit is the stunt that will be pulled off by the owners of the moving picture rights of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. If the arrangements do not miscarry, the picture machines and their operators will be hustled in an automobile from the ringside to a special train, which will have right of way east. The train will carry three shifts of photographers to develop the films and a lot of special equipment. They will print new films from the ones developed as fast as possible.

Films will be dropped off the train as it speeds through the middle west and enough will be retained to supply the demand in Chicago, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City and other eastern cities.

The Pacific coast is not to be overlooked. Big consignments of films will be dropped off as the train rushes eastward and will be picked up by the fast trains of the coast and hurried to San Francisco, where they will be sent to the large cities of the coast.

The demand for the pictures is said to be extraordinary and the picture men expect it to be the largest ever known for a single fight.

INSANE MAN MAKES FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

J. M. Rollins, the man who jumped from a car window, laid his head on the railroad track, climbed a light pole and seized the loaded wires, and otherwise comported himself in a manner not usual to sane and sane communities, was started for the asylum at Salem Wednesday evening. He was conscious of his condition and gave no trouble at all until Grants Pass was reached. Then he had one of his "spells" and it took the attendant, part of the train crew and a Josephine county deputy sheriff to subdue him and put handcuffs on him.

SEAT SALE CLOSSES SATURDAY NIGHT IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 30.—The box office for the sale of tickets to the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno will close here Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, according to Jack Gleason. The tickets will be taken to Reno Saturday and will be on sale all day Sunday at the Nevada metropolises.

CHILE ORDERS LARGEST BATTLESHIP IN WORLD

LONDON, June 30.—Chile has placed an order with Armstrong, Whitworth & Co. for the largest battleship in the world. The vessel will be faster than any other battleship afloat. She will have a tonnage of 32,000; her guns will fire 110-ton shells. The ship will cost $215,000,000.

A DEAD STOMACH.

Of What Use Is It to Anyone? Thousands? yes hundreds of thousands of people throughout America are taking the slow death treatment daily.

They are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their stupid ignorance they think they are putting aside the laws of nature.

This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny. These thousands of people are swallowing daily huge quantities of pepsin and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach.

In other words, they are taking from the stomach the work that nature intended it should do, and are also refusing it the only chance for exercise it has.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets relieve distressed stomach in five minutes; they do more. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the run-down stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach and headache will go.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere and by Charles Strang, who guarantees them. Fifty cents a box.
