CLANTON ASKS FOR HATCHERY

New Master Fish Warden Will Endeavor to Have Legislature Make Appropriation for Benefit of Trout and Game Fish.

SALEM, Or., July 2.—Edward Clanton, the new master fish warden, will use his efforts to obtain from the next legislature an appropriation to be used exclusively for the propagation of trout fry. Trout streams in this state have been suffering severely, says Mr. Clanton, because of the failure of the state to take measures to replenish them as they become fished out.

Several hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in California in recent years in the propagation of trout, and other states are spending money on trout propagation, while this state has done nothing at all. A small appropriation will likely be asked for next winter in order that the work might be started, as the propagation of trout could be carried on in many of the present salmon hatcheries with the addition of troughs and other slight equipment.

Mr. Clanton believes a central hatchery should be eventually established at Klamath Falls or on the upper Deschutes river, where is the natural home of the rainbow trout, and from where the fry could be readily transported to the other streams of the state.

During the first year that trout propagation was taken up in California, the legislature of that state appropriated $250,000 for the establishment of the Sisson hatchery, and from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 fry have been planted in the California streams annually since that time from that hatchery.

Pratt was engaged as acting teller in paying off immigrants. He saw Terry approaching him threateningly and fired at him.

HARROLD WILL PLEAD GUILTY TO MURDER

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., July 1.—Word comes from Lakeview that Ike Harrold has professed willingness to plead guilty to the murder of Walter and Herbert Uewell. The people of that section are deeply stirred by the murder of the Newells, which was of a peculiarly brutal nature, and that they are making threats to lynch Harrold if the case is not disposed of speedily in the courts.

District Attorney Kuykendall and the court reporter, R. M. Richardson, have gone to Lakeview to convene the grand jury, and Judge Noland will leave soon. The indictment of Harrold will be only a matter of form.

The report that Harrold would seek a change of venue and plead self defense aroused public feeling very much when it was first circulated. The theory of self defense would fall, it is asserted, unless Harrold could prove that some one other than he visited the sheep camp and blew the head off one of his victims after he had crawled, wounded, into camp to escape.
