So serious is his case that Mr. Grievie will be unable to return to his duties as rural carrier for some time, and will be taken in a few days to the mountains, where he will spend the summer in the hope of regaining his strength. In seeking a mountain resort Mr. Grievie will travel at night, as his physician, Dr. Pollentz, deems it best. PRIZES FOR FIGURED DESIGNS ON FRUIT

SPOKANE, Wash., July 15.—Displays of portraits and scenic views and lettered and figured designs on fruit will be featured at the third National Apple show in Spokane the week of November 14, when the management will award prizes of $50 and $25 in each contest, open to professional and amateur photographers all over the world. Ren H. Rice, secretary, says no entrance fee will be charged, also that no limit will be placed on the number of entries by each contestant. The exhibits will be grouped in the state armory.

An amateur camera operator, who has made a study of photography on apples, says there is no expense incurred, as no chemicals or water is required. He describes the process as follows:

"The skin of an apple, especially at a certain stage of ripening, bears a strong resemblance to commercial photographic plates and printing paper, for the reason it is sensitive to light. The best result can be obtained by selecting apples of a red variety when they are yet green and encase them in bags of black paper, in which plates and paper are usually packed.

"These bags are left on for ten days to exclude the light and add to the sensitiveness of the surface. At the end of that time the bags are removed and the film negative pasted in position with the white of an egg, which is adhesive and will not show in the print. That all except the image may be green, the apples are again inclosed in the protecting bags, this time an opening a trifle larger than the portrait or view being cut opposite the film. This serves the purpose of a vignetting device over a printing frame and enhances the result. A week should be allowed for printing.

"The fine deep red of the picture upon the delicate green of the ground is striking and the result is superior to that obtained on photographic paper. Only nature could just give the exact tones of the two colors that would harmonize so perfectly."

will buy more goods than a warm one will in hot weather.

A cool customer will buy with less palaver.

He—or she—will be better natured, less cranky and easier to sell to; and you know it.

Moreover, you yourself, and your employes, will be in a better selling mood—if your store is cool and pleasant than if it is sticky and suffocating and savors of a boiler-room in its stiflingness.

The Electric Fan is a blessing and a cheer which you can ill afford to ignore.

Life in the dog days is a question of degrees.

Make your place of business habitable and inviting to the people, and the trend of trade will be in your direction.

It stands to reason—it's logical—it's apparent.

Why not invest a little money in trade-winning coolness?

Electric Fans will create a tempting and delightful breeze, and in every breeze there'll be dollars for you.
